WARM WELCOME — Thousands upon thousands of persons turned out this morning to give President Gerald Ford a tumultuous welcome to Chicago, where he addressed the 75th annual convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. U.S. Ambassador To Cyprus Slain At Embassy Door

NICOSIA (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador Rodger P. Davies was shot to death at the door of his office today by gunmen who stormed the American embassy in Nicosia under cover of a riot by hundreds of Greek Cypriots protesting American failure to stop the Turkish invasion.

Cyprus President Glafkos Clerides said a U.S. Marine guard and a woman embassy employees were also killed by the gunmen armed with automatic weapons and wearing the military-type uniforms of the EOKA-B, the Cypriot guerrilla force which backs the union of Cyprus with Greece.

"The American ambassador has been shot dead," Clerides told a news conference. He called it a "henious crime" and rushed to the embassy in a vain attempt to help.

State Department spokesman Paul Hare said in Washington that Davis, a career foreign service officer, died of gunshot wounds in the chest fired from an automatic weapon.

In Washington, President Ford expressed shock at the shooting.

In Athens, Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis condemned it and said it will only add to Greece's problems over Cyprus. Anti-American demonstrations also have been held in various Greek cities.

In Ankara, Turkish Foreign Minister Turan Gunes said the killing helped to justify Turkey's military offensives on the island.

"Such brutalities can always be expected to come from Greeks," Gunes said. "This murder once more shows to all the world how right Turks were in understanding the military action on Cyprus."

Davies, 53, had arrived in Cyprus only a week before the crisis on the Mediterranean island blew up July 15 following the pro-Greek coup which ousted President Archbishop Makarios.

The attack on the embassy took place under cover of a wild demonstration by more than 700 Greek Cypriots to protest the failure of the United States to halt the Turkish invasion of Cyprus.

U.S. Marine guards fired over the heads of the demonstrators and Greek Cypriot police used tear gas in efforts to hold the mob back from the embassy.

The demonstrators burned an effigy of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, shouting: "Kissinger! Kissinger! Get your Turkish friends to help you now!"

They also set fire to at least five cars in the embassy compound. The cars exploded when the flames reached the fuel tanks, spewing out thick clouds of smoke.

They tore down the American flag and set it on fire, screaming "Burn them down, as they burned Cyprus down!"

Shooting broke out. Automatic weapons were used. At least one hand grenade was thrown. Greek Cypriot policemen hurled tear gas grenades.

But the mob pressed on, chanting anti-American slogans and waving banners reading "Murderers, your mask has fallen!" and "NATO murderers of Cyprus!"

Gunmen opened fire at the embassy building. The demonstrators cheered. The Marine guards inside the embassy fired over the heads of the crowd. At the answering shots, most of the crowd broke and ran.

In the confusion the gunmen stormed the embassy building, killing the Marine guard at the entrance, Davies and a stenographer tentatively identified as Antonietta Varnava, 32.

Clerides, who was holding a news conference when the riot erupted, sped to the embassy. He went into the building wearing a gas mask as protection against the tear gas.

At the same time, embassy staff members put Davies' body on a deck chair and carried it to a Land Rover. As the vehicle started started through the gate, Clerides went to help. He grabbed the back of the vehicle, which went tearing out of the compound with Clerides hanging onto the back.

Police reinforcements rushed up and with tear gas and small arms fire forced the demonstrators away from the building. As they went they set fire to a six-story building alongside the battered embassy.

Witnesses said United Nations armored personnel carriers driven by Canadian troops tried to reach the embassy building, but were pelted by stones and bottles thrown by the mob.

Eventually the UN vehicles reached the rear entrance of the compound and managed to evacuate the rest of the embassy staff.

Ford Seeks To Aid Draft Evaders

CHICAGO (UPI) — President Ford said today he cannot support an unconditional blanket amnesty for "anyone who illegally" escaped military service but said he had asked top Cabinet members to determine how such persons can work their way back into American society.

"As I reject amnesty, so I reject revenge," Ford told the 75th convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He said he has asked the Justice Department to look into the question of amnesty for Vietnam deserters and means to study such cases on an individual basis.

"I requested the attorney general of the United States and the secretary of defense to report to me personally before Sept. 1 on the status of some 50,000 of our countrymen" who have been described as deserters or draft dodgers, Ford said.

"I will then decide how to best decide on the future penalties that will fit the individual cases," Ford said. "I want them to come home if they want to work their way back."

He said "these young Americans should have a second chance" to reenter society in "a new atmosphere of hope, hard work and mutual trust."

President Ford used his speech before the veterans to stress his concern with problems facing the fighting men of previous wars and said he would nominate former Rep. Richard Roudebush to revitalize the much-criticized Veterans Adminstration.

Ford's first out of town trip as President was marred by the news that U.S. Ambassador to Cyprus Rodger Davies was shot to death by anti-American rioters in Nicosia. Ford expressed his shock and said he was "deeply saddened."

When he announced the death at the VFW meeting, it was clear many of the delegates had not previously heard about Davies' death. Ford's words were greeted with moans and groans and shouts of "Oh, no!"

"This tragic incident emphasizes the urgent need for the end to the violence on Cyprus and an immediate return to negotiations for a peaceful settlement," Ford said.

In his speech, Ford promised that "during my administration the door of my office will be open to veterans as it was in the Capitol."

"The veteran is a human being and not just a 'C' number to be processed by a computer system," Ford said. "The government knew your name when you were called to service. This administration is going to see to it that we still know your name and your problems."

Ford's choice of Roudebush, a former Indiana congressman, to head the VA was widely expected and had the backing of most major veterans organizations. Criticism of VA inefficiency from those organizations forced Donald Johnson to resign as head of the agency about two months ago.

Roudebush has been Johnson's deputy at the VA. Earlier he served in the House as a GOP representative from Indiana before failing to win a 1972 bid for the Senate.

Ford said he was "deeply concerned" about continuing high unemployment among former servicemen, especially those who served in Vietnam, and expressed determination to improve various assistance programs, particularly those involving education and medical care for the disabled.

"This adminstration puts a high priority on aiding the men who bore the brunt of battle," he said. "If we can send men thousands of miles from home to fight in rice paddies, certainly we can send them back to school and to better jobs at home."

But the President gave no

Sierra Club May Sue The EPA

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Sierra Club today threatened to take the Environmental Protection Agency to court to prevent contamination of rural air quality.

The club charged that the EPA, in regulations announced last Friday, would allow states to set air quality standards less stringent than federal standards in rural areas where there is now little smog.

"Areas like Sonoma and Humboldt Counties would be allowed to have smog like we have in the Bay Area," said Larry E. Moss, the club's conservation director.

The EPA proposals would let states decide how clean their air should be based on the need for industrial and economic development, according to EPA Director John R. Quarles in announcing the standards last week.

Sirica Turns Down Any Delay In Watergate Coverup Trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today rejected motions for a delay in the Watergate cover-up trial and said it will begin Sept. 9 as scheduled.

"There is no better time to try this case than the present time," Sirica said at the end of a one-hour, 50 minute hearing.

Attorneys for former White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman immediately appealed Sirica's ruling. Ehrlichman's lawyer, Andrew C. Hall, said he would take the case to the Supreme Court if necessary.

In making his ruling, Sirica said the coverup case was not like a rape or murder case "that arouses passion, anger and hatred."

Sirica said he would hold court sessions from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for the first month of the trial, and if it were not moving fast enough to his satisfaction, would hold sessions until later in the evening in order to complete it before Christmas.

Lawyers for the defendants — six aides or associates of former President Nixon — asked that the trial be delayed until next year because of the publicity surrounding Nixon's resignation.

William Hundley, who is representing former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, said during a hearing on the motions to delay the trial that the House Judiciary's Committee's impeachment debate and the "forced resignation" of President Nixon, had created publicity that required a postponement of the trial.

"The publicity already has died down," Sirica said. "You can pick up the Washington Post and can't hardly find a Watergate story."

Sirica asked the group of defense lawyers whether they expected him to be the judge of when the climate would be right for a trial, and they replied yes.

"I think it's right, right now," Sirica said.

"Why?" one of them asked.

"You don't have any (impeachment) debate coming up in the House, you don't have any Senate trial coming up," Sirica said.

Sirica asked that the lawyers what they felt would be a reasonable period of delay and each replied "at least the first of the year."

Four Petalumans Found Dead In Camper Wreckage

I-J Special Report

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. — Four Petaluma residents and a Union City man were found dead yesterday in the wreckage of a pickup-camper 15 miles east of here.

The Arizona Highway Patrol identified the Petaluma victims as Jack V. Almquist, 33; Jack A. Almquist, 9, and Cindy Jean Almquist, 5, and Mary Frances Carpenter, 21, all of 61 Straub Lane. The fifth victim was Larry D. Reid, 38, of Union City.

Patrolmen said the pickup, driven by one of the men, struck a guardrail on Interstate 40, careened into Canyon Padre. Investigators said they had been unable to determine when the accident occurred.

The group left Petaluma Friday at about 9 p.m. to visit Almquist's father in Texas. The two children joined their father for the trip. They are survived by their mother, Muriel Almquist of Santa Rosa.

Almquist was a landscaper and a champion pool player. He had resided in Petaluma for the past eight years.

Loose Cylinder Closes Reactor

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (UPI) — A research reactor at Oak Ridge National Laboratory remained shut down today while technicians puzzled over how to retrieve a cylinder of radioactive U235 from one of the reactor system's three water pumps.

The cylinder, used in preparing radio isotopes for medical purposes, broke loose Friday from a position near the core of the reactor.

It was swept through the cooling system of the reactor by water under pressure to the pumphouse, where radiation detectors sounded an alarm.

No workers were exposed to radiation, but some offices near the pumphouse were evacuated Friday.

Welfare Payers' Refund Is Passed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation providing $6.7 million in refunds to persons who contributed to support their welfare parents under the state's "responsible relatives" program has passed the Senate.

The measure (SB1666) by Sen. Walter W. Stiern, D-Bakersfield, would repay those "children" who followed the law and paid an increased amount between 1971-73.

Three More Cotati Residents File For Open Council Seats

Three more Cotati residents have applied for appointment to the city council, bringing to five the number of persons who have volunteered to fill two seats vacated by Stephen Laughlin and Annette Lombardi after being arrested Aug. 7 on suspicion of removing confiscated marijuana plants from the city police department.

Applicants filing Friday were Frank Dolinsek, Donna Piotrkowski and John Darragh.

Under instructions from City Mgr. Robert A. Switzer, city officials refused to devulge more information about the applicants. Efforts to reach Switzer for an explanation were unsuccessful.

Dolinsek, a local begonia grower, is a former councilman who resigned last fall after he and Darragh, among others, participated in an unsuccessful attempt to recall three young council members, among them Laughlin and Miss Lombardi.

Miss Piotrkowski, a city planning commissioner, is a former College of Marin student body president and McGovern delegate to the 1972 Democratic National Convention, and is generally regarded as an ally of the younger council faction.

Also seeking appointment are Jon Lyons and David Oliva, a sergeant in the San Anselmo Police Department.

The council will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow to determine whether to appoint new members or hold a special election.

While no decision has been reached on possible prosecution of the two former councilmen for destruction of evidence, Sonoma County Dist. Atty. John Hawkes said today he "kind of assumes" they will face criminal charges of some sort.

Hawkes said he has not yet completed his review of the case. A decision may be announced tomorrow, he told the Independent-Journal.

The purloined pot had been confiscated from a home shared by Planning Commissioner Eve Kitchen and five other persons, police said, and the two councilmen were said to have taken a dozen of the plants after a city council meeting.

Miss Lombardi and Laughlin said the incident was a prank. They were going to plant the evidence in the city plaza, they mainted.

Lt. Calley's Bail Bid Is Denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a one word decision, Supreme Court Justice Lewis F. Powell, Jr. today denied bail to former Lt. William L. Calley, Jr., who had sought release from prison while his attorneys appeal his murder conviction through the civilian courts.

The Supreme Court said Powell's decision contained only one word: "Denied."

Calley's case has gone to the top of the military justice system and his conviction has been upheld all along the way. He is now serving a 10-year sentence at the prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., for killing at least 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai in 1968.

JANKO UPHOLSTERY

IN THE AFTERMATH — Fireman hose down the interior of one of the numerous shops and offices badly damaged when a massive explosion tore through an industrial area of Los Angeles late Saturday. Although a full city block was demolished by the blast, only a few injuries were reported.

Factory Blast Not Work Of The 'Alphabet Bomber'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A wave of telephoned bomb threats rippled throughout the city yesterday, one day after police ruled out the possibility that the "alphabet bomber" caused a devastating chemical explosion in an industrial district.

Police evacuated the Delta, Pacific Southwest Airlines and Hughes Air West passenger terminals at the Los Angeles International Airport yesterday after receiving telephone calls of planted bombs.

The evacuation was a precautionary measure, spurred by a bomb explosion at the Pan American passenger terminal at the airport Aug. 6 that killed three persons and wounded 35 others.

The Greyhound bus terminal, where a police bomb squad found a planted bomb in a locker Friday night, was also evacuated during the day after police received a call that another bomb had been planted there.

No bombs were found at the airport or the bus station.

Police said hamburger stands, newspaper offices, sporting arenas and theaters were also targets of bomb hoaxes.

The Saturday explosion at a trucking company injured five persons and caused an estimated $5 million damage. Early speculation was that the "alphabet bomber," a man who telephoned police and took credit for bombing the airport and planting the bomb at the bus station, had struck again. But police later ruled this out.

The bomber identified himself as "Isaac Rasim," self-professed "chief military officer" of "Aliens of America." He has threatened to "spell out in blood across America" the lettered sequence of his organization to press demands for repeal of all immigration laws.

Rasim's first target was the airport, representing the letter "A" in the word "aliens." His second was a locker at the bus terminal for the letter "L" in the word.

Rasim had threatened a bombing yesterday, supposedly to represent the letter "i," but later called a newspaper and said he was postponing it.

The Fire Department ruled out Rasim's connection with the trucking company blast, saying it was caused by enzoyl peroxide, a flammable chemical that may have leaked from plastic containers. But even so, the Police Department sent out 1,000 extra officers to scour the city for a possible bombing.

The explosion occurred as a jittery city of more than 3 million persons was bracing for the threatened bomb blast yesterday by Rasim. Low attendance at some Southern California events yesterday was blamed on the bomb threats.

Rains Flood Four Asian Countries

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Floods spawned by unusually heavy monsoon rains ravaged at least four countries in Asia today. U.S. military helicopters joined in massive relief operations for more than half a million refugees in waterlogged plains north of the Philippine capital of Manila.

Also affected by flooding in a 2,000-mile stretch across east Asia were Bangladesh, adjoining eastern parts of India, and Thailand.

In the Philippines, floods caused by week-long monsoon rains have killed 36 persons, mostly by drowning, and forced evacuation of 563,285 persons in a disaster zone covering 13 provinces and the metropolitan Manila area, Red Cross officials said.

In the Bangladesh capital of Dacca, Prime Minister Sheikh Mujibur Rahman blamed Pakistan for neglecting flood control when his country was Pakistan's eastern wing.

"All of you know that in the past when thousands of people used to die in storms and floods in Bangladesh, Pakistani rulers used to say that this was a natural calamity and there was nothing they could do about it," Mujib said.

"The fact is that in 25 years they had done nothing."

He said his government had mobilized all its resources to bring relief to flooded areas around the Brahmaputra and other rivers. More than 1,300 people are estimated to have been killed in Bangladesh and neighboring areas of India in flooding since July.

In northern Thailand, at least five people were killed by flash floods caused by three days of monsoon rains, authorities reported today.

Farm Belt Drought Is Ended, But Damage Is Already Done

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The long-awaited rains have fallen over the drought parched midlands, rattling through the dried-and-yellowed leaves of what was to be a bumper corn crop but producing little more than mud on the heat-cracked farmland.

The great drought of 1974 appears to have ended with the rainfall, but consumers and farmers may have to live with its effects for years to come.

In many parts of the corn belt, the rains were too late to help the crops —in some cases the rain just made things tougher.

The full effect of the drought, which some experts call the worst since the Dust Bowl days of the 1930s, have yet to come to light. But thus far it is clear that the drought will be felt around the world.

Crop production, livestock feed supplies and farm incomes will be down sharply. Farm production and supermarket items will be in short supply and cost more.

Crop and livestock losses are estimated at more than $10 billion.

The five-state corn belt was savegly scorched, cutting into grains for food and ivestock feed.

The U.S. Agriculture Department's hopes for a bumper crop have been dashed. The USDA reported last week that the corn crop would be five billion bushels less than projected, a drop of 25 per cent. Soybeans were down 16 per cent and livestock feed grains in general dwindled by 15 per cent.

But many state agriculture experts and dirt farmers feel even those figures are wishful.

Ironically, meat prices are likely to fall for a while as hard-hit cattlemen feed their livestock on grass instead of corn and unload the animals at the markets in hopes of breaking even.

But meat from such cattle will "make damn good hamburger and that's about all," according to Illinois Agriculture Director Robert Williams.

"Maybe in a year, we're going to have a red meat shortage that may take us three years to work out of," Williams added.

Experts voiced serious concern as to the drought's possible effects on the nation's economy —and even U.S. foreign policy.

U.S. aid to famine-stricken nations may not be at the levels officials would like, according to Clifton R. Wharton Jr., president of Michigan State University and chairman of Congress' new Food Advisory Panel.

"What will be the adequay of available food stocks to meet famine conditions? There's no question but that we are down. We don't have the reserve we used to," Wharton said.

The dismal crop reports were an "economic bombshell" dropped into the lap of President Ford, said Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.

"The potential to contribute to spiraling inflation is tremendous," Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., agreed.

As for the American consumer, government experts agreed that food prices would remain stable for the rest of this year, but that increases could be expected in 1975.

ABC Receives Nominations

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The American Broadcasting Co. television network was nominated 12 times for Emmy Awards for news and documentary programs and broadcasters for the 1973-74 season, the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences announced today.

There were 40 possible nominations.

ABC previously had received 28 of 64 nominations in the crafts categories as well as religious and children's programming.

ABC's series, "ABC-TV News Close-up," received three nominations, with one each going to "Fire!" "Oil: The Policy Crisis" and "Culture Thieves." Another triple winner was "ABC Evening News with Howard K. Smith and Harry Reasoner." Reasoner was also named for outstanding television news broadcaster.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Bush Said Slipping As VP Pick

NEW YORK (UPI) — Newsweek magazine reported today that GOP National Chairman George Bush, a contender for vice president, had "slipped badly because of alleged irregularities in the financing of his 1970 Senate race in Texas."

Bush

Newsweek, quoting White House sources, said the Nixon administration "funneled about $100,000 from a secret fund called the Townhouse operation' into Bush's losing Senate campaign against Lloyd Bentsen four years ago."

The magazine said there were indications that $40,000 was not properly reported.

According to the magazine both Rockefeller and Bush had their "ardent supporters."

Melvin Laird was cited as the foremost among Rockefeller boosters while Nebraska national committeeman Richard L. Herman was said by Newsweek to have opened up a "campaign style boiler room at the Washington Hilton" to mobilize support for Bush.

Israel Holds Priest As Gunrunner

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Israeli police today held a Catholic archbishop as a suspected gunrunner for Arab guerrillas in the occupied West Bank of Jordan, and the government again rejected a troop pullback from the Jordan river to start peace negotiations with King Hussein.

The foreign ministry said yesterday Israel is prepared to make peace with Jordan but "has rejected and will reject the Jordanian demand for an Israeli withdrawal along the Jordan river."

The statement came in response to a joint communique issued over the weekend in Washington after talks between President Ford and Jordan's King Hussein.

FIRST STAGE

Israel has proposed giving Jordan administrative control over areas in the West Bank, captured by Israel in the 1967 Middle East war, but no troops would pull out in the first stage.

Hilarion Capucci, the 52-year-old bearded prelate of the 5,000-strong Greek Catholic community in Israel and occupied Jordan, was arrested at his Jerusalem home yesterday and jailed for 15 days on suspicion of smuggling guns from Al Fatah guerrillas in Lebanon to the occupied West Bank.

"We are questioning him," said Israeli national police spokesman Nahum Bosmi. "He's been cooperative and, depending on what we find out, we will decide what course to take toward possibly broadening the investigation."

Police sources said Capucci was first arrested Aug. 7 when customs officials at Rosh Hanikra on the Lebanese-Israeli Mediterranean coast border found machine guns, revolvers, grenades and explosive detonators in secret compartments of his limousine.

He was released after several hours of interrogation but kept under surveillance until the new arrest, they said.

SHARES DUTIES

Capucci, a native of Aleppo, Syria, is one of seven clerical leaders in the Holy Land permitted to cross the frontier into Lebanon and return. He is one of two Catholic archbishops in Jerusalem and shares duties with Joseph M. Raya.

Msgr. William Carew, the apostolic delegate in Jerusalem, is awaiting instructions from the Vatican on a possible approach to Israeli authorities, a spokesmen for the mission said.

In the Arab world, firebrand Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy tried to patch up his feud with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat during a weekend visit to Sadat's summer palace in Alexandria. The meeting was arranged by Sheikh Zayed Ben Sultan of the United Arab Emirates.

They agreed to send a top-level Egyptian mission under Deputy premier Mamdouh Salem to Libya Sept. 1 to settle past differences over Middle East strategy, but no immediate improvement in relations was expected.

Minuteman Launched

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI) — A Minuteman III ICBM missile was successfully launched Saturday morning by a combat crew from Minot Air Force Base in North Dakota.

Village Captured

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist gunners today cut a key northern approach road to Saigon and captured a large village seven miles from the provincial capital of Tay Ninh in the heaviest Communist attacks in two years, South Vietnamese officers said.

The Communist offensive across South Vietnam is more intense than at any time since the 1972 Easter attacks in which the Viet Cong overran much of the country, military officers said.

Heavy fighting was reported on at least six major fronts throughout South Vietnam today and military spokesmen listed 203 Communist attacks between dawn yesterday and sunup today.

In the escalating Communist offensive, now in its second month, the Saigon command also officially declared Minh Long district capital, 305 miles north of Saigon, lost to Viet Cong attackers.

Escapers Sought

BELFAST (UPI) — Thousands of heavily armed British troops combed the countryside today for 19 members of the Irish Republican Army who bombed their way to freedom from the Irish Republic's top security jail near Dublin.

Although an Irish security official claimed the Irish had "sealed off all the escape routes," a spokesman at British army headquarters for Ulster said "an immediate tightening of security was ordered on the frontier."

Most of the escapers were from the north and the others from border areas.

Prison Overhaul

SAN CRISTOBAL, Venezuela (UPI) — Venezuelan authorities today began a major overhaul of the country's penitentiary system in the wake of a riot at the San Cristobal prison where national guardsmen shot and killed seven knife-wielding inmates who held two prison officials hostage for nearly 40 hours.

The drama at the Andean mountain prison, 560 miles west of Caracas, ended yesterday when the guardsmen opened fire and rescued warden Arcadio Ruedas Chacon and justice ministry official Rafael Ochoa.

Both were hospitalized with serious knife wounds inflicted by the prisoners.

The seven inmates seized Chacon and Ochoa Friday after 800 inmates rioted to protest overcrowding.

Ethiopian Rule

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — The Ethiopian Army and Prime Minister Michael Imru have reached a compromise for continued civilian rule in the African empire, at least for the time being.

They also agreed yesterday to work together to end the turmoil which has plagued the country for months, diplomatic sources said.

The breakthrough came as the powerful Orthodox Church forced a major confrontation between military leaders and the church with Emperor Haile Selassie's dwindling vestiges of power at stake.

Since civil unrest began early this year, army leaders slowly have stripped away the once-absolute powers of the 82-year-old emperor, who has been on the Ethiopian throne since November, 1930.

On Friday, they eliminated his two advisory councils and the court of justice. Saturday they arrested Maj. Gen. Taseffa Lemma, head of the emperor's 4,000-man imperial bodyguard.

Wallace Back Home

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace returned from a cross-country trip in high spirits yesterday but denied it was a warmup to test his endurance for the 1976 presidential campaign.

Showing no signs of weariness from his trip to New Orleans, Albuquerque, N.M., and Lynchburg, Va., Wallace greeted reporters with a smile and a wink.

When asked if the trip was a preliminary to a presidential race, Wallace insisted he has not made plans past running for governor for an unprecedented third term. He faces token Republican opposition in the general election.

Long Wins Easily

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — For the past two decades the name Long has carried political magic in the Louisiana delta.

This weekend's primary election was no exception as Russell Long, the son of late Gov. Huey P. Long, won renomination to another term in the U.S. Senate seat he's held since 1948. He compiled 75 per cent of the vote and carried all 64 Louisiana parishes.

Long, chairman of the influential Senate Finance Committee, headed a long list of incumbent Democrats renominated in the Saturday primary, including Rep. F. Edward Hebert, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee; Lindy Boggs, widow of the late House majority leader Hale Boggs; Otto Passman and John Breaux.

Former New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison lost his bid for a seat on the Louisiana Supreme Court.

President's Pilot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Col. Ralph Albertazzie, the man who flew President Nixon all over the world for 5½ years, was not at the controls of Air Force One today when President Ford flew to Chicago.

The colonel is retiring after 24 years in the Air Force. A veteran combat pilot, Albertazzie started flying the presidential jet in December 1968 after a tour in Vietnam.

He will be replaced by his former copilot, Lt. Col. Lester McClelland, 41, of Masontown, Pa.

"There is no doubt about the guy's qualifications" as a presidential pilot, Albertazzie said.

Albertazzie flew Nixon and his family to San Clemente, Calif., on Nixon's last flight aboard the "Spirit of '76" as President, Aug. 9.

First Lady Buried

SEOUL (UPI) — South Korea buried its first lady, slain by a bullet meant for her husband, President Park Chung-hee, in a national funeral today while investigators questioned the accused assassin on suspected ties with Communist North Korea.

North Korea denied the suspect, 22-year-old Moon Sek-wang, had any connections with the north.

Mrs. Park, killed Thursday during an assassination attempt on her husband, was buried at the Adongjak-Dong national cemetery in south Seoul after a 90-minute funeral service.

The ceremony was attended by 3,000 Korean and foreign dignitaries including Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, Nationalist Chinese Deputy Premier Hsu Ching-chung and South Vietnamese Deputy Premier Tran Van Dong.

Massive Coal Walkout Called A Memorial To Dead Miners

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Eighty thousand soft coal miners stayed off the job today for a five-day memorial work stoppage that the coal industry said was actually a ploy to bolster the United Mine Workers' bargaining position in upcoming coal negotiations.

UMW President Arnold Miller said the walkout, the first such memorial since the 1969 commemoration of the late union president John L. Lewis, was to protest "the terrible slaughter that day after day turns miners' wives into widows." More than 100,000 workers have been killed in the pits in this century.

The shutdown was expected to close as many as 1,200 mines in 22 states stretching from Virginia to Washington, including big coal-producing mine in West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Colorado and Alabama, the union said.

A spokesman for Consolidation Coal Co. said, "What they're doing is trying to whittle down the stockpiles to place themselves in what they feel is a better bargaining position.

"I think it's wrong for the UMW to state that it's a memorial for those who died of black lung and in the mines when it's obvious it's a negotiating move."

The current contract covering the UMW's soft coal miners expires Nov. 12, and the union has threatened to stage a protracted strike to win its demands.

The coal industry's chief weapon in negotiations and in event of a strike is stockpiling. This shutdown, company officials said, will only decimate already dwindling stocks.

"We're well below what is desirable inventory on coal," said a spokesman for Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp., owner of some mines. "Any loss of coal is going to have its impact later on."

Policemen Lose Bikes, Robbers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two plainclothes policemen were riding bicycles in Central Park last night, trying to nab bike thieves. Instead, two thieves stole their bikes and escaped in a hail of bullets.

Police said officers Carlo Cierva and James Silvia were on decoy patrol when one of the bikes broke down and they stopped to repair it. Two men, one pointing a gun, approached and demanded the bikes.

As the robbers started to ride off, the policemen identified themselves and pulled their guns. The armed bandit fired two shots and and the officers fired six shots after them.

No one apparently was hit, police said, and no arrests had been made.

Simplified Tax Forms Promised By Bagley

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A proposal to simplify California income tax forms for the benefit of the average taxpayer was announced today by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, the Republican nominee for state controller.

The San Rafael lawmaker said if elected he would use his position as chairman of the Franchise Tax Board to initiate a "major simplification" of state tax forms.

The effort, Bagley said in a prepared statement, would be aimed at a form uncomplicated enough for a citizen to fill out himself without having to pay a professional for help.

He estimated Californians spent $120 million this year for the services of professional tax preparers.

Bagley also proposed printing tax booklets in Chinese and Spanish, and a "postcard" tax form for elderly residents.

The major problem with the existing system is that the "average taxpayer" does not qualify for using the current tax short-form, Bagley said.

Four Deaths Are Caused By Storms In Midwest

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Heavy thunderstorms rumbled through East Central Kansas today on the heels of weekend storms which accounted for four deaths in Kansas and Missouri.

Two-inch hailstones pelted eastern Kansas, further damaging crops already battered by the weekend hail and high winds. Commuters used garbage can lids as shields from the hail as they scurried to work.

The weekend victims were Floyd Myers, 62, who was electrocuted by a downed power line east of Manhattan, Kan.; Jon O. Nyblad, 16, of Kansas City, Mo., who drowned when he was swept off a marina at Stockton Lake in Missouri; and Martha Green, 33, of Pierce City, Mo., and her 16-year-old son, Bobby Lee Green, killed when a tree crushed their pickup truck east of Pierce City.

Inverness Man Hurt In Wreck

Keith R. Meloney, 21, of 30 Via De La Vista, was reported in poor condition today at Marin General Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol said Meloney was traveling west at 8:40 p.m. when the accident occurred east of Shafter Bridge.

Who do you turn to after Medicare?

Your family? They have their own problems, don't they? The house, the kids. Counting on them is not really fair, is it? Perhaps not possible. So maybe you ought to have a little something going for you in addition to Medicare.

Your Blue Cross friends have it for you: Blue Cross/65 Regular or Blue Cross/65 Extra Care—two very good companion plans to Medicare. Our widely-accepted Blue Cross/65 Regular Plan is available to you right now at the original enrollment rate of $4.00 a month.

And, beyond this, we have a new plan, because many Medicare subscribers have asked for additional protection. We call it Blue Cross/65 Extra Care.

It costs a little more—because you may need a little more. Extra Care provides extra benefits for hospital, physician and medical care and even helps you to pay for prescription drugs. And you know how that can add up.

If you're 65 or over, both of these plans are well-worth looking into. We designed them for you. If you're concerned about costs above Medicare—now you know who to turn to: Us! Blue Cross/65 Regular or Extra Care. Fill out the coupon or just give us a call. We'll send you the facts and that's all. No one will call on you. Promise.

Blue Cross has two plans for you: Regular at $4.00 or Extra Care, which includes prescription drugs.

Marshal's Office Gets Richard Nixon Subpoena

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A subpoena ordering former President Nixon to appear as a witness at the Watergate cover-up trial was received from Washington today at the Los Angeles U.S. marshal's office.

Gaylord Campbell, marshal for the central district of California, said he intended to serve the federal court order on Nixon in San Clemente by tomorrow.

The U.S. District Court subpoena, first such document to be addressed to Nixon since he became a private citizen, instructed him to appear Sept. 9 at the opening of the trial of John Ehrlichman, H. R. Haldeman and four other former aides.

Campbell indicated he would contact Nixon's staff in San Clemente shortly to make arrangements to serve the subpoena. He had said previously the language of the regulations in such cases requires the document be served personally.

Campbell, who was appointed by Nixon in 1969, also said he probably would present the subpoena himself rather than having it served by a deputy.

The order was issued by Judge John Sirica on behalf of Ehrlichman.

Japanese Sailor Arrives After 86-Day Journey

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Kiyomi Yamashita, 29, arrived in Los Angeles Harbor late Saturday. No one was expecting him, so there was no fanfare and no one to greet him.

He would have been completely ignored if not for the yellow quarantine flag waving in the wind alongside his American and Japanese flags.

Yamashita had arrived at his destination, 86 days after he set off on a solo journey along the Great Circle route from Japan to Los Angeles. He lived on rice and fish in his 21-foot sailboat The Milky Way.

The lone sailor, who does not speak English, was spotted by port police Sunday after they noticed his quarantine flag.

Fortunately, a Japanese freighter was docked nearby and a captain willingly acted as interpreter.

The first things Yamashita requested were a shower and fresh fruit. He told Captain Kanji Mukumoto that he had kept a daily log and a collections of charts.

He said when he wasn't attending to his boat duties, he spent his time talking to himself, the ocean or sometimes the air. He said he also read his books.

"The book is a very good friend," Yamashita said through the captain.

Yamashita said his voyage was no big adventure. He had just wanted to come to Los Angeles.

Freitas Receives High Portugal Honor

Former Marin Superior Court judge Carlos R. Freitas of 87 Oakmont Avenue, San Rafael, has received one of the highest honors that Portugal bestows upon a foreign citizen.

In formal ceremonies held Saturday morning at the Portuguese Consulate in San Francisco, the 70-year-old attorney was presented with the Commander in the Order of Prince Henry the Navigator award.

Freitas was cited for his lifelong work in promoting Portuguese culture in the Bay Area.

He is a supporter of the Luso-American Education Foundation in Francisco, a nonprofit organization which awards scholarships for students and professors of Portuguese descent to study in Portugal.

Freitas is also a frequent speaker at banquets held for Portugese ambassadors visiting the Bay Area and a past president of the California Statewide Portuguese Fraternal Benefit Society composed of persons of Portuguese descent.

During World War II, Freitas was assigned to the Office of Strategic Services and served in Portuguese East Africa, Mozambique.

Freitas, who has visited Portugal with his wife, Earlda, five times, said he was surprised upon his selection for the distinction and confirmed his intent to "carry out what little I can do to serve the country of my parents."

Barbiturates Killed Doctor

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Barbiturate poisoning killed a Sausalito doctor found dead in a van here July 21, according to the Oakland coroner's office.

The coroner reported that Dr. Mark B. Richer also had an alcohol blood count of .47, more than four times the amount required to be legally drunk.

An unusual twist to the Richer case occurred early this month, when a San Francisco man used the dead doctor's name and social security number in an attempt to buy an automobile. He was arrested by San Francisco police.

Woman Injured In Car Mishap

An 83-year-old woman was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a broken arm suffered in a single-car crash on Highway 101 north of San Pedro Road.

The injured woman, Belva Breyer of Burlingame, was a passenger in a car driven by Sally Lou Breyer, 45, of Belmont, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The patrol said the women's auto smashed into the freeway center divider after a front tire blew out at 5:50 p.m. Saturday.

New Speed Limit Effect Refuted

CHICAGO (UPI) — Reduced speed limits, triggered by the energy shortage, are getting more credit than they deserves for the reduction of highway deaths in the nation, according to the American Medical Association.

"We hope, of course, that the nationwide downward trend continues, but we believe that the savings in lives cannot honestly be attributed to any great extent to the reduction in the speed limit," Lee N. Hames, AMA director of safety education, said in an editorial in the current edition of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

While speed limits have been reduced to 55 miles per hour, Hames said that most traffic deaths occur at speeds under 55.

Girl Is Molested In School Yard

A 9-year-old San Rafael girl was molested at a city school playground Saturday, police reported today.

Police said a clean-shaven man described as about 27 years old and wearing brown pants approached the girl at Don Timeteo School about 5:30 p.m.

Martha Against Nixon Amnesty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Martha Mitchell says she believes in amnesty for Vietnam draft resisters and deserters — but never for former President Nixon.

"Why should he be granted immunity?" she asked in a telephone interview with UPI's Helen Thomas Saturday.

"He's always beeen adamant on the subject that anybody who disobeyed the law should be prosecuted and he is in that category. I don't feel sorry for anyone who disobeys the law. He always said that Alger Hiss, or anybody who disobeys the law, should not have any barrier around him and nobody should be above the law."

The Vietnam draft dodgers and deserters were in a different category, the estranged wife of former Attorney General John N. Mitchell said.

Five Killed In Car-Train Crash

VAN WERT, Ohio (UPI) — Five persons were killed yesterday in a car-train collision at a railroad crossing near this northwestern Ohio community, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputies said a car driven by Marcile Dechsle, Wren, Ohio, slowed when it approached the crossing but failed to stop and was hit by an Erie-Lackawana train traveling at 40 miles per hour.

Also in the automobile were Scott Dechsle, 14, Kelly Ruskaup, 14, Jeffrey Sheets, 11, and Richard Bowen, 11, all of Wren.

Canceled Stunt Gets Fans Mad

BRUCETON MILLS, W.Va. (UPI) — Motorcycle dare-devil Bob Gill's promoters had sold thousands of tickets for $6 each for his attempted jump across Appalachia Lake, a distance of 200 feet.

Gill had helped promote his jump by calling Evel Knievel's planned jump over the Snake River Canyon in Idaho "the greatest ripoff of the American public in sports history."

But when the time came to jump yesterday, Gill, 28, of St. Petersburg, Fla., canceled the attempt, saying recent rains had made the landing area too muddy.

FORD

details and coupled his promises to a clear warning that he would veto big money bills for veterans just like any other legislation if he decided they would undercut the battle against inflation.

Specifically referring to veterans education bill still awaiting final congressional approval, Ford said: "America is fighting for its economic life. I will not hesitate to use the veto to control inflationary excesses."

Ford made no reference in his prepared text to his consideration of a vice presidential nominee. He alluded only vaguely at one point to the resignation of former President Nixon, saying: "I don't like red tape or any other kind of tapes."

Last night, Ford set aside "thinking time" in order to review his final list of vice presidential candidates, a White House official said.

Ford was expected to make the decision later today after returning to Washington with the announcement coming tomorrow or Wednesday.

Ford was accompanied by his wife, Betty, and a contingent of Veterans' Affairs Committee leaders from both houses of Congress.

Illinois Gov. Daniel Walker headed the delegation greeting Ford at the airport.

Rehabilitant Of Year Is Named

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Totally blind and deaf Richard D. Joy of Santa Rosa today was named California Rehabilitant of the year.

Joy, 33, a parts assembler at Hewlett-Packard microwave division, is a licensed ham radio operator and music enthusiast.

He receives Morse code using a vibrator that pulses the signal through his fingers. In a similar manner he enjoys music.

Joy was selected from among 15,505 handicapped Californians for the award by the state Department of Rehabilitation.

Rock Films Set In San Anselmo

A "midnight movies" program featuring two rock films will be held at midnight Friday at the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo, according to radio station KTIM FM.

To be screened are the Beatles' film, "Help," and the Rolling Stones' "Gimme Shelter," a spokesman said. Admission is $1.

CYPRUS

invasion forces which already have seized the northern one-third of Cyprus continued to advance despite criticism from the United States that the offensive already had gone too far and the cease-fire declared by Ankara on Friday.

Armored columns drove south of Nicosia to cut the last remaining open road between the landlocked Cypriot capital and the sea.

UPI correspondent Nat Gibson said American-built Turkish tanks had reached the village of Louroujina, three miles east of the Limassol-Nicosia highway, the only road still open to the sea.

Gibson reported a Turkish battalion, backed by a dozen modern tanks, on the Larnaca road within striking distance of Nicosia, opposed by only three ancient tanks of the Greek-led Cypriot national guard. The Turkish advance caused an exodus of frantic residents from Nicosia. Thousands of Greek Cypriots fled southward, joining the more than 100,000 earlier refugees in the cities, mountains and forests, and the British military bases on the south coast.

A Greek Cypriot government spokesman estimated 4,000 Greek Cypriots were killed and 12,000 wounded since Turkish forces invaded the island on July 2.

In London, the Foreign Office announced that Britain and the United States have agreed on a plan to try for a new Cyprus peace conference.

Earlier, the Greeks let it be known they would not take part in any peace talks until Turkey gives up the territory captured during the past five days. Clerides told his news conference in Nicosia today that he would not attend unless he could be assured peace talks would be meaningful.

Timothy Leary Tells Of Escape

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Timothy Leary has revealed to authorities the names of persons who helped him escape from prison and flee the country in 1970, it was reported Sunday.

Leary, who advocated the use of LSD during the 1960s, has identified a San Francisco attorney and members of the revolutionary Weatherman organization as engineering his escape, the San Francisco Examiner said yesterday in a copyrighted story.

The 54-year-old former Harvard instructor was in jail on marijuana convictions when he went over the wall of San Luis Obispo Prison on the night of Sept. 12, 1970. He allegedly told authorities how he was spirited first to Seattle and then to Chicago and eventually to Paris and Algiers. The newspaper said Leary "told all in hopes of avoiding further prosecution and obtaining speedy parole."

FIESTA DANCER MOURNS

Mourning over the war bonnet of a fallen warrior, an Indian dancer at Petaluma's Old Adobe Fiesta reenacts the ritual of the Blackfoot Indians, a tribe which once populated the American Plains. More than 2,500 persons attended the annual fete yesterday at Gen. Mariano Vallejo's fortress, and the day's events were highlighted by an early-California style wedding in the adobe's courtyard. (For a story and more photographs, see page 13.)

Newton Free On Bail; Charged With Attacks

OAKLAND (UPI) — Huey P. Newton, cofounder of the Black Panther party, was free on $42,000 bail today following his arrest on charges of pistol-whipping a tailor and shooting a 17-year-old girl in the head.

Newton's bodyguard, 6-foot-8, 400-pound Robert Heard, 25, also was arrested Saturday in the pistol-whipping incident and was held on $15,000 bail.

Police said the tailor, Preston Callins, 52, visited Newton's $650-a-month penthouse apartment Friday to fit him with new clothes. Callins said Newton took offense at something he said —"something trivial" —and both men attacked him.

Callins suffered a fractured skull and was in serious but stable condition in a hospital.

Armed with a search warrant, police entered Newton's apartment and found "lots of blood all over the place," said homicide Lt. Bill Clark.

Clark said police also found evidence linking Newton to the Aug. 6 shooting of a teen-age girl on a street corner, but he refused to elaborate.

The girl, whose identity was withheld, was being treated at a hospital for a head wound and was in very serious condition.

Newton and Heard were also facing charges of assault with a deadly weapon and interfering with police officers.

Newton, 31, has lived in the penthouse overlooking Lake Merritt since his release from prison in 1971 after serving 22 months for the 1967 slaying of a policeman.

Democratic Caucus Ends With An Angry Walkout

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Democratic Charter Commission, shredded by much of the same internal squabbling that plagued the party in 1972, ended its work yesterday with a new constitution and a lot of ill feelings.

"We Democrats always have differences in internal party affairs," Democratic National Committee Chairman Robert Strauss said following the meeting. "And we show the differences in full public view."

The 167 Democrats charged with writing a new party charter showed a lot of differences during the volatile two days and ended the meeting rather abruptly yesterday with a walkout by "new politics" reformers.

Without a legal quorum, the rest of the convention packed up and went home.

The reformers charged that old-line party regulars were using a majority based on "stacked" last-minute commission appointments to "rape" the proposed charter and "take the party back to 1964."

Their departure left the charter with several changes voted in by the regulars during the session, but without some other modifications the majority wanted to make before submitting the document to a 2,000-delegate "mini-convention" in Kansas City Dec. 6-8.

The walkout was led by California assemblyman Willie Brown who rose in opposition to an amendment that would have eliminated a charter ban on the use of the unit rule in party affairs.

"This is the nail that closes the coffin for Willie Brown," the black commission member said.

He charged the regulars had come to Kansas City to "gut the charter" by making changes that were contrary to settled party policies. Brown was followed by a small group of blacks and then by a larger group of whites whose absence left the commission without enough members to continue.

Chairman Terry Sanford ruled that the remainder of the charter document, given initial approval at a meeting last March, would go untouched to the mini-convention.

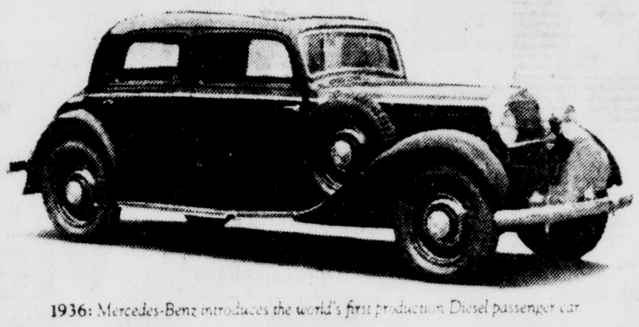
Mercedes-Benz cannot introduce the Diesel passenger car as a new idea. We did that over 38 years ago.



1936: Mercedes-Benz introduces the world's first production Diesel passenger car.

You don't develop a Diesel passenger car overnight. A Diesel is something very particular. Before you introduce one, you'd better know exactly what you're doing.

Mercedes-Benz knows. Because Mercedes-Benz has been consistently developing Diesels longer than anyone else. And Mercedes-Benz alone has sold Diesels in America for over a decade. So when you buy a Mercedes-Benz Diesel from us, you get something no one else can offer. Years of important Diesel experience.

Extraordinary fuel economy

One result of this Diesel experience is fuel economy. In a strictly supervised test conducted independently by Motor Trend magazine, our latest Diesel, the 240D, recorded 24.4 miles per gallon. And that was with an automatic transmission. This test was a combination of actual urban and highway driving—no "economy run" or "proving ground" tests. No other full-sized sedan—foreign or domestic—delivers this kind of mileage.

Another result of this Diesel experience is maintenance economy. While any car needs some routine servicing, with a Mercedes-Benz Diesel you can forget about tune-ups. Diesels need no spark plugs, no points, no distributor, no carburetor. No conventional ignition or carburetion systems—no tune-ups ever. And parts that aren't there can't break down.

Come in and look over a Mercedes-Benz 240 Diesel for yourself. It's the most advanced Diesel automobile sold in America. It has interior space and trunk room on a par with the finest domestic luxury cars. A full 5-passenger sedan that's all Mercedes-Benz.

Not just a Diesel, a Mercedes-Benz

Arrange to test drive this unique Mercedes-Benz. Feel its remarkable handling—a product of fully independent suspension. Feel the strength of its disc brakes—4-wheel disc brakes. Feel secure—no manufacturer in the world has a greater commitment to safety than Mercedes-Benz.

Exceptional mileage, maintenance economy and dependability with the bonus of outstanding Mercedes-Benz resale value. Come in to see us. We'll show you the automobile that delivers them all—the unique Mercedes-Benz 240D. Not just a Diesel. A Mercedes-Benz.

1974: The most advanced Diesel automobile sold in America.

Bills Expanding Power Of Unions

Bills to bring public employment under union control are moving through the California Legislature toward the governor's desk.

As this is written, AB 1112 by Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, is on the Senate floor, having cleared the Assembly and assorted committees. This bill would amend the Government Code to authorize the "agency shop" in public employment.

The "agency shop" differs little from the "union shop." Under a union shop contract, every employee must join the union. Under an agency shop, he is not required to join but must pay whatever dues or assessments the union levies.

Ralph's AB 1112, therefore, would put a price on public employment. Citizens would be denied the right to work for state or local governments unless they paid dues or assessments to unions which had contracts with the governmental units.

IN SENATE committee as this is written is AB 3254 by Assemblyman Richard J. Alatorre, D-Los Angeles, which applies to school employees. This bill would authorize the union shop for public school teachers and legalize strikes against the public schools. It is identical to last year's SB 400 by Sen. George R. Moscone, D-San Francisco, which passed both houses but was vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Moving in the opposite direction toward the governor's desk is SB 1857 by Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, which also applies to public school employees. This one does not have agency shop or union shop provision. However, it mandates that the union having a majority within a public school bargaining unit (the classroom faculty, in most instances) is the sole bargaining agent for all the teachers. "Once the employees in an appropriate unit have selected an exclusive representative," it says, "no employee in that unit may meet and negotiate with the public school employer."

Further, the majority union, the bill spells out, "has the right to consult on the definition of educational objectives, the determination of the content of courses and curriculum, and the selection of textbooks." Note that this denies affected teachers the right to consult on these matters, reserving it for the union.

Incidentally, Marin-Sonoma Assemblyman William T. Bagley was absent when AB 3254 passed the Assembly 50 to 20, as was Marin's Sen. Peter H. Behr when SB 1857 cleared the Senate 22 to 5.

There are other collective bargaining bills in both houses, but none so close to the governor's desk as these three.

THIS IS ELECTION year. No doubt, many senators and assemblymen are thinking about campaign funds available from unions which are backing bills for collective bargaining in public employment — the fastest-growing area of employment, and therefore the one with most potential dollars for union treasuries.

We can hope Governor Reagan will veto such bills if they reach his desk. But we cannot be sure.

A recent poll by Public Opinion Research Institute showed 68 per cent — including 60 per cent of union members — believe that labor unions have grown too powerful. Their power will be immensely expanded if they can bring schools and local governments under their control.

Ford's Speed Recalls FDR's First 100 Days

WASHINGTON — This new Ford administration is already surprising its friends and astonishing the doubters.

In office little more than a week, it is visibly moving ahead at a pace which reminds one of the first 100 days of Franklin Roosevelt's takeover in the depths of the depression.

Mr. Ford is ending presidential drift and is helping to end congressional deadlock.

He is bringing to reality what Richard Nixon said in his resignation speech the nation could not do without: a full-time president and a full-time Congress.

THE PRESIDENT is doing his part with a remarkably sure touch. He is forcefully appealing to Congress to join in a post-Watergate partnership which will enable the government to begin governing again and to do well and speedily what has so long been delayed and frustrated.

Mr. Ford's well-conceived, firm and conciliating address to the joint session is already clearing the air in the capitol and in the country. Both the president and Congress can now get down to transacting the public business.

It was a no-nonsense address free of fancy flourishes. It was authentic Ford — direct, friendly, unpretentious but without timidity or false modesty. It was keyed to do the one thing most needed — to melt the mountain of ice which had so long blocked the way between the Nixon White House and Congress.

IN THE PAST we have seen political honeymoons slip away rapidly; and even a good political marriage, as Mr. Ford put it, is not an assured long-term contract.

But the ingredients of a productive working partnership between president and Congress are at hand. The country needs this partnership badly — and both know it. It is sound government and also sound politics.

Mr. Ford unquestionably meant it when he told Congress that his motto was: "Communication, conciliation, compromise and co-operation."

Congress unquestionably meant it when it unanimously passed its resolution of regard and support for the new President.

BOTH ARE CONVINCED that divided government — a Republican president and a Democratic Congress — can and must be made to work if inflation is to be licked and if the nation is to bind up the wounds which cut so deeply during the past two years.

I believe this is going to come about sooner and more fully than anyone dared hope.

Mr. Ford is seeking amiable relations with Congress because he wants action. His overriding theme is: "We have a lot of work to do. Let's get on with it."

He is getting on with it speedily in both domestic and foreign affairs. He adopted the congressional proposal for a national economic summit to mobilize the will and the means to check inflation. He signed the new elementary and secondary education bill to further quality education. He doesn't expect Congress to write every new law to his own prescription. He seeks two-way conciliation on a new trade bill, on health care and other legislation. He has a good chance of getting it.

The need is to put recrimination over past wrongs behind us.

And let us remember that President Ford is Richard Nixon's gift to the nation.

Democrats Now Must Turn Attention To Basic Issues

WASHSINGTON — Just before the change of presidents, nearly twice as many Americans called themselves Democrats as Republicans. Yet between now and the next presidential election, Mr. Ford has a chance to make that party identification wholly beside the point. He already has started in that direction.

Half the prospect lies in his own actions. The other half is with the Democrats themselves, and whether they continue the suicide attempts from which Nixon benefited so handsomely.

IN THE COMING 16 months, the Democrats must face some sobering facts: No longer can they run against the Vietnam war or against Nixonian scandals. The man in the White House now is approximately what 47 million voters thought they were getting when they were misled into supporting Nixon two years ago. Barring unlikely surprises on Mr. Ford's part, the Democrats are going to have to make their case against him on traditional bread-and-butter issues.

If they have the sense to recognize that, it will be the most fortunate thing to happen to them since Barry Goldwater got nominated at the Cow Palace.

Goldwater's nomination is one of the two key things they must remember as they approach 1976. George McGovern's nomination is the other. The doomed campaigns run by those candidates showed that an idol of the far right or the New Left can pull only about 38 per cent of the electorate. The swing vote that determines presidential elections is the one-quarter of the population that inhabits the political center.

THE CATCH that makes possible debacles like those of 1964 and 1972 is that the extremes have come to dominate intra-party politics. That is especially true when the party is out of presidential power and its leadership is fragmented. It was the single-mindedness and enthusiasm of the zealots that forced Goldwater and McGovern into nomination against divided moderate opposition and thus assured their parties' defeats.

So what is called for in the current "out" party is the foresight to see beyond the summer convention of 1976 to the November election. This quality is rarer, yet more necessary, in ward- and state-level activists and behind-scenes strategists than among the national candidates themselves. Its absence is familiar among newcomers to politics, like the amateurs who wrecked Democratic hopes in 1968 and 1972.

The national contest is for that shifting center, and Mr. Ford has acknowledged that in his speech to the joint session of Congress. "Communication, conciliation, compromise and co-operation" was his theme, and that is just what Middle America wants to hear.

IT WILL BE HARD enough for the Democrats to combat this Eisenhower-style orthodoxy with their traditional appeals to the social and economic interests of the old Roosevelt coalition. It will be impossible for them to regain the White House if they fantasize that they can nominate just any eccentric body and win merely because they are the majority party.

They must recognize that to indulge the extremes, as symbolized in their party by George McGovern and George Wallace, will be to leap to disaster again. Their situation demands someone who will bespeak party positions and dreams stirringly enough to satisfy their many idealists without scaring away the crucial swing vote.

That means someone from the ideological persuasion bordered by Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts on one side and Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington on the other, which leaves room in between for Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, Sen. Walter Mondale of Minnesota, Sen. Adlai Stevenson III of Illinois, Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida, Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, Gov. Dan Walker of Illinois, Gov. John Gilligan of Ohio — indeed, the whole mainstream of the Democratic Party.

It also leaves room for one hell of a presidential campaign on the basic issues that define the two parties — for a change.

That $250 Campaign Gift: It Was Offered, But Rejected

Betty Forry, runoff candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 1 seat, recently was reported by the Independent-Journal as having received a $250 contribution from the California Real Estate Political Action Committee.

The I-J story on contributions to June primary election candidates noted the Los Angeles-based arm of the California Real Estate Association reported the $250 gift to her.

The I-J, however, subsequently published a letter from Mrs. Forry denying she ever received the contribution. The two versions unfortunately leave room for voters to wonder if they have to choose between them. They don't; both are true.

WHAT HAPPENED is that the Marin County Board of Realtors voted to contribute $250 to Mrs. Forry, and had the check drawn to her campaign from the board's account with CREPAC.

Mrs. Forry, however, declined the contribution, but CREPAC filed its report on contributions before it learned the money had not gone into her campaign. Instead, the check is being returned to CREPAC by the Marin board to be recredited to its account.

Donald A. Beacock, who offered the check on behalf of the board, was told by Mrs. Forry's campaign owrkers that she was not accepting such large amounts.

Beacock said he was told Mrs. Forry would not accept any check larger than $50, although her own campaign finance reports show two $100 contributions from longtime friends.

Beacock said he renewed the offer within recent weeks, but that Mrs. Forry still turned it down. She told us, however, that she probably will accept it if she is unable to raise enough money in smaller contributions. Local elections should be financed modestly, she feels, but adds it may be impossible given a hot runoff with her opponent, Richard J. Boylan.

THE ALREADY LONG arm of Uncle Sam has an insatiable itch to grow even longer. A prime example is a proposal by the U.S. Department of Transportation for new legislation to give it power to halt toll bridge hikes for six months "while reviewing their reasonableness."

The Golden Gate Bridge District presumably would view such power with horror.

CAR RACE in Moscow, as reported in Pravda, according to the National Safety Council: Only two cars were entered, a Ford and a Moskvich. The Ford won easily, but without mentioning how many cars competed, Pravda reported: "The Soviet Moskvich placed second while the American auto came in next to last."

TOUGH TIMES are ahead for the Golden Gate Bridge District if its directors allow Edwin M. Fraser of Del Norte County to step up from first vice president to board president next January. Fraser, 73, has been one of the board's most reluctant members in its moves to expand transit services, and lives in a county that should not even be in the district.

CAPITOL QUIPS

By PHIL DESSAUER

There was a moment of consternation in Washington the other day. Someone found a Republican who hadn't been mentioned for vice president.

We should all be grateful to Gerald Ford. He's agreed to stay on and help Henry Kissinger run our foreign affairs.

Gerald moves up to president and Whitey goes into the Baseball Hall of Fame. Not a bad week for the Ford clan.

The real tipoff on the end of the Nixon administration came when White House telephone operators, who once answered with "Four more years," got down to a day at a time.

Burton Credited With County Actions

We strongly object to Erik Ingram's column last Monday which puts down Congressman John Burton's endeavors on behalf of the Oak Manor landslide victims. He has been the only person in a governmental position to come eagerly and willingly to our aid. In fact, we are sure that his involvement has prompted county officials to pick up the pace and give us our fist concrete bit of assistance. The county and the upland property owner have recently agreed to jointly fund a temporary drainage system for this winter. This along with the proposed county soil analysis should start things rolling in the right direction.

If Congressman Burton were just using us as a political ploy, why would Assemblyman Bagley endorse's Burton's actions and offer his assistance to our cause?

Our sincere appreciation and thanks go to John Burton and his staff for their efforts in bringing our problem to the attention of many people who may be able to help us. His work is a good example of what an elected official is supposed to do — represent the people.

We would also like to thank Frank Turner of the Ross Valley Reporter for keeping the public aware of what's been happening and what's not happening on Oak Manor Drive. With the exception of a fine article by Jeff Greer, the I-J's coverage has been noticeably absent.

Personnel Commission Story Held Incomplete

I read an article in today's (Aug. 14) paper written by Mr. Ingram concerning the personnel commission meeting of yesterday. I was present at the meeting and made a statement concerning Mrs. Bella Aaron.

Mr. Ingram's article is headed "Criminal Justice Agency Head Scored by Former Secretary". The impression is that the secretary won. The vote against her was 3 to 1. If that is scoring, then we have had a lot of winners in government lately.

Only portions of what was said appeared in the article, and the portions printed were detrimental to Mrs. Aaron. Mr. Farlatti, chairman of the commission, did not say that Bella Aaron ducked sheriff's officers. He did say that the subpoena signed by him was not served or Mrs. Aaron would have been there. He did say that she is a good department head and the county should have more like her. This, of course, was not mentioned. . .

Anyone May Ask Disaster Declaration

Erik Ingram's column on Aug. 8 chiding Congressman John Burton for attempting to give assistance to the residents of Oak Manor by declaring that area a federal disaster area struck me as being riddled with an inordinate amount of inaccuracy.

It is Ingram's contention that before an area is to be declared a federal disaster area, it must be first approved as such by the closest governing body; in this case the board of supervisors.

I checked with Frank Kirby, head of the Marin County Emergency Services, and discovered that Mr. Ingram was indeed in error. Mr. Kirby informed me that any citizen, regardless of his or her status in the community (even a Democratic congressman) may make a request to the governor to declare a certain area a disaster area.

Congress Moves To Curb Schools' Snooping Into Private Lives

(Reprinted from Boston Herald American)

With little fanfare, Congress has acted to put a long-needed brake on a kind of repellent snoopery which is all too typical of official hunger to compile secret dossiers on just about everybody.

Throughout the nation, in recent years, educational authorities in a host of federal-state programs have been subjecting students to a wide variety of quizzes which invade the most personal aspects of the students' lives.

THESE QUIZZES, dreamed up by bureaucrats in the guise of confidential evaluation surveys, inquire not only into the sexual lives, racial attitudes and moral concepts of the students but also into the details of their parental relationships — including how Mom and Dad behave at home.

Youngsters from grammar school through college have been suffering more and more of this intimate poking around, the results of which disappear into files whose potential use is as suspect as the specious explanations offered for compiling them.

CONGRESS in adopting a bill sponsored by Sen. James Buckley, has backed the conviction of the conservative Republican lawmaker from New York — and of a growing number of informed parents — that something must be done to correct such uncontrolled intrusion of family privacy.

Under his bill, federal funds would be withheld from any school system or college that refuses to let parents examine the files pertaining to their children — the files of personal evaluations, quiz answers and other information now generally withheld as confidential.

The Buckley Bill, if signed into law, will by no means end the Big Brother attitudes of educational supervisors. It should, however, prove to be an effective control over the many highly questionable practices now in operation.

Parts Industry Strikes Are Crippling Automakers

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Strikes at two key parts suppliers and other auto industry labor problems left thousands of auto workers out of work today and forced a delay in the production of 1975 model cars and trucks.

Some 16,000 General motors employees were idled at six GM truck plants in Michigan, Maryland, Wisconsin, Georgia and Canada and a GM auto plant in Massachusetts as the nation's largest automaker postponed the start of new model production.

The postponement was triggered by strikes against two Milwaukee, Wis., plants, A. O. Smith Corp., which makes suspension parts and frames, and Briggs & Stratton Corp., which manufactures door and ignition locks.

Some 4,300 workers at GM's Chevrolet plant in Indianapolis, Ind., also have been laid off because of the strikes.

GM was particularly hard hit, since the strikes at Briggs & Stratton and A. O. Smith come on top of lingering strikes at GM plants in Lordstown, Ohio and St. Louis, Mo. Those strikes affect some 13,500 workers.

Some 3,800 workers at the Chrysler truck plant in St. Louis, Mo., were also idled because of the strikes and American motors said it may have to close its Kenosha, Wis., assembly plant Aug. 26 if the strikes are not settled.

But while the auto industry grappled with its growing problems, New York grocery stores got back into operation.

A&P food stores reached agreement during the weekend with some 18,000 striking employees and stores began to reopen today.

There also was some encouraging news from the striking National Football League Players' Association. The association announced yesterday that it hd sharply reduced its contract demands, including the controversial "freedom issue" in an effort to end the long football strike.

Striking Buffalo, N.Y., grain elevator workers also returned to their jobs today after voting yesterday to accept a new contract. The four-day strike against six grain elevators threatened to shut down the world's largest grain milling center.

Workers represented by the United Steel Workers also returned to their jobs today on highway construction projects in the Lexington, Ky., area, ending a construction workers' strike which started Aug. 1. The strike had idled some 1,200 workers.

But prospects for settlement of the 49-day strike against AC Transit in Oakland were dim as negotiations produced little movement. The strike by 16,600 drivers, maintenance workers and clerks has crippled mass transit throughout the area.

House To Close Books On Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House of Representatives once planned to start impeachment proceedings against Richard M. Nixon today. Instead, it will receive the final report of its Judiciary Committee tomorrow and close the books on the Nixon case.

The second presidential impeachment effort in U.S. history died with Nixon's resignation Aug. 9. The impeachment machinery in both the House and the Senate has now been halted, leaving only the informal debate over whether Nixon should be prosecuted in the courts.

But Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., has decided that for historical purposes the report on his panel's activities leading up to impeachment should be made part of the official record.

The report, containing majority and minority views of the committee, was expected to run well over 500 pages in length.

There is agreement on Capitol Hill that Nixon suffered personally from his resignation. But the two top party leaders from the House disagree on the merits of dropping any future legal action against him.

House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona said yesterday any attempts to prosecute Nixon would result in "further division of the country and would not be beneficial."

But asked on NBC's Meet the Press if Nixon should issue a statement publicly admitting his guilt in the Watergate cover-up, Rhodes also said: "I think it would be useful and I would imagine at some time or another, (former) President Nixon will do this."

The filing of the Judiciary Committee's report will be just a formality, a spokesman said, with Rodino probably standing in the well of the House and announcing to Speaker Carl Albert his presentation of the report to the full House.

The draft of the report circulated to members last week used strong language to accuse Nixon of lying to the American public, violating federal laws or causing them to be violated and subverting the Constitution.

A draft minority report written by Sam Garrison, chief GOP counsel for the impeachment inquiry, admitted that Nixon had been guilty of obstructing justice and should have been impeached on that charge, but argued against impeachment on the two other counts — abuse of power and rejection of committee subpoenas.

Woman Reports Marijuana Theft

SEATTLE (UPI) — Kathy Corey admits it took "a lot of nerve" but she called the police anyway yesterday to report that 10 young marijuana plants she was growing had been stolen from her home.

She said she reported the theft to "get some action going" on the recovery of missing property taken in three other burglaries at her apartment.

"I suppose I had a lot of nerve to report it, but those were my plants and I don't feel it's wrong to be growing them," she said. "If I have to go to jail for reporting it, I will.

She said the plants were about three months old and knee-high when they were stolen — far from ready for harvesting.

Watergate Triggers A Flurry Of Books Dealing With Scandal

NEW YORK (UPI) — "All the President's Men", the book by two reporters who refused to let Watergate die silently, has sparked a flurry of other books, mostly by the same president's men.

Washington Post reporters Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward led the nonfiction best seller lists all summer with their report on how the story of an attempted burglary of Democratic Party national headquarters in the Watergate apartment and office complex turned into the political scandal of the century. Since May, the current-events epic has sold over 200,000 copies.

A lot of names were mentioned in their book, practically a Who's Who in the Nixon White House.

There is Jeb Stuart Magruder, for instance, deputy director of the Committee to Re-elect the President. Magruder now is serving 10 months to four years as a convicted Watergate conspirator, but his book, "An American Life," ranks eighth on the Publishers' Weekly nonfiction list.

E. Howard Hunt, the former White House aide who served 10 months in prison for his part in the Watergate burglary, has written his autobiography, "Undercover," which is scheduled for publication by G.P. Putnam's Sons in November.

Convicted Watergate burglar James W. McCord Jr., has published his own book, a paperback titled "A Piece of Tape."

Others who worked in the Nixon White House and have something to write about include William Safire, a Nixon writer turned conservative newspaper columnist, whose "A Hurry To Be Great" is scheduled for January publication by Doubleday, and Clark R. Mollenhoff, a newspaperman who served as a White House aide. His "Game Plan: An Ombudsman's Report on the Nixon Years" is scheduled for 1975-76 publication by W.W. Norton.

The most interesting speculation concerns the possibility that Richard Nixon himself might write of his biggest crisis. Reports are that Nixon's story of Watergate could be worth $2 million to the former president.

Crime Fighters To Assess Value

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department unit set up six years ago to help states fight crime is planning to spend $20 million to see how effective the effort has been.

The Law Enforcement Assistance Adminstration, which has given state and local governments $3.2 billion in crimefighting aid since Congress created it in 1968, said Saturday the new program will assess widely implemented projects at state and local levels.

"It is time to take a hard look at crime control efforts to find out what really works in criminal justice and put that knowledge in the hands of state and local officials," said deputy LEAA administrator Charles R. Work.

OFF TO THE LINKS — President Gerald Ford leaves the door of his home, carrying gold togs and papers on his way to the course. Ford's golf game yesterday came as he and his wife prepared to move into the White House and travel to Chicago for Ford's first presidential trip today.

Ford Reflecting About Vice-President Choice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An anxious nation will learn President Ford's choice for new vice president sometime this week after he returns from a trip to Chicago, according to a White House official.

The official said Ford set aside last night to do nothing but reflect on the nomination which would come possibly tomorrow or Wednesday.

Ford told reporters after a round of golf yesterday that he had been thinking about the vice presidency "very seriously" and that "we're getting close to a decision."

Other sources said his list of prospects had been narrowed to two or three candidates — and still included former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. The other leading contender is George Bush, the GOP national chairman. Both men are vacationing in Maine.

Ford originally intended to make the nomination by this weekend but economic problems, the on-again, off-again war in Cyprus and the state visit of Jordan's King Hussein diverted his attention.

Ford said Saturday that Rockefeller was still under consideration despite attempts by a "right wing extremist group" to link the former governor to a plot to finance "dirty tricks" at the 1972 Democratic national convention.

Presidential Press Secretary Jerry terHorst said that an investigation by Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski had failed to turn up any evidence linking Rockefeller with the scheme.

Terhorst said White House lawyer Philip Buchen had received an anomymous telephone tip from a "Mr. Long" who said papers belonging to Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt linked Rockefeller with the plot.

Jaworski said no such documents were found and the case was closed.

Long, who identifed himself yesterday as Hamilton A. Long, said in a statement that he made the allegation to keep Ford from "being caught in another 'Eagleton affair' like 1968."

The statement was a reference to Sen. George McGovern's decision to drop Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri from the 1972 Democratic presidential ticket after it was learned Eagleton had received electric shock treatment for depression.

2 Leaders Differ On Nixon Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The two top party leaders in the House agree that former President Richard M. Nixon has suffered personally from his resignation, but they disagree on the merits of dropping any future legal action against him.

House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona said yesterday it would be "useful" if Nixon publicly admitted his guilt in the Watergate cover-up.

But he said any attempt to prosecute Nixon would result in "further division of the country and would not be beneficial."

Asked if Nixon should issue a statement about his involvement in the scandal, Rhodes replied: "I think it would be useful and I would imagine at some time or another, (former) President Nixon will do this."

Rhodes was interviewed on NBC's Meet the Press.

House Speaker Carl Albert was also asked about prosecution of nixon. Appearing on ABC's Issues and Answers, Albert said:

"It's out of our hands now. I share the view that he has suffered a great deal, but I do not know where that fits in with our system of equal justice under the law. Anybody, anybody at all, who is brought before the bar of justice suffers."

W. Germany Has Fewest Births

BUCHAREST, Romania (UPI) — West Germany has the lowest birth rate in the world (12.8 per thousand) and Swaziland the highest (52.3 per thousand).

Other items in a miscellany of population facts:

There are enough people in the world (about 4 billion) to stretch to the moon and back 12 times if they are placed head to toe.

The world's five largest countries are China (787 million), India (550 million), the Soviet Union (245 million), the United States (207 million) and Indonesia (125 million).

More than half the world's people, about 2.1 billion, live in Asia. Europe (not counting the Soviet Union) has 466 million, Africa 354 million, North America 327 million, South America 195 million and Oceania 20 million.

Not counting suburbs, Shanghai is the world's biggest city with 10,820,000, followed by Tokyo (8,841,000), New York (7,895,000), Peking (7,570,000) and Moscow (7,050,000) according to 1970 estimates or census figures.

In developing countries, the urban population is expected to more than triple by the end of the century.

The world's population in mid-1973 was more than 3.8 billion. If growth continues at the present rate of more than two per cent a year, the 8 billion mark would be reached in less than four decades.

If population growth does not slow down, a child born today may know a world of 15 billion when he is 70. His grandson may share the planet with 60 billion.

Without a major scientific breakthrough, experts say, the earth can perhaps support 15 billion.

More than half of India's 550 million people are under 18, and one of every five is under six.

Despite intensive efforts to reduce it, India's birth rate remains at more than 42 per thousand. The death rate is 17 per thousand, leaving a natural increase of 25 per thousand, or a 2.5 percent annual growth rate. If the trend continues, India will have one billion people in the 1990s.

The government of India estimates that its annual population increase of over 12 million a year demands 12,500 more schools, 400,000 teachers, 2.5 million houses and four million new jobs —per year.

There is one doctor for approximately 20,000 people in Tanzania, one for 40,000 in Nepal, one for 60,000 in Yemen. In the more developed countries there is generally a doctor for every 1,000 persons.

As crowds peer from balconies into the courtyard, Diane Waggoner and Michael Alexander are married in recreation of wedding 114 years ago.

WEDDED BLISS — The happy couple embrace as they leave for barbecue in eucalyptus grove adjoining Adobe.

Wedding Of 114 Years Ago Recreated At Adobe Fiesta

It was the first wedding performed at General Mariano Vallejo's Adobe home in 114 years, and a goodly crowd of celebrants got into the mood yesterday afternoon during Petaluma's Old Adobe Fiesta.

Married in the courtyard of the historic structure were Diana Waggoner and Michael Alexander, both of San Francisco. Only persons dressed in outfits of the Vallejo era — Russian, pioneer or Spanish — were admitted to the courtyard; tourists in modern dress were relegated to the balcony or outer yard.

The bridal party arrived in a horsedrawn carriage once owned by the Vallejo family; bride and groom later departed by buggy for a wedding barbecue in the adjoining eucalyptus grove.

During the outdoor ceremony in bright sunshine a foot pump organ and two fiddlers provided appropriate music. The ceremony itself was performed by Judge Alexander McMahon.

Last wedding held in the adobe, built by General Vallejo in the mid-1830s as a headquarters for his huge ranch, was that of William Jones and Rebecca Ann Farley.

Japanese Legislator Impressed By Much On First U.S. Visit

By BETTY FROST

Takako Doi, a member of the Japanese House of Representatives, decided to run for office because she felt very strongly that the philosophy of the constitution should be acted upon.

Miss Doi was a student of Japanese constitutional law, and lectured about her country's new constitution (which went into effect in May of 1947) as a professor at Doshisha College in Kyoto.

She visited Tiburon Friday with a delegation of Japanese lawmakers. It is her first visit to this country, although as a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, she has traveled extensively in Europe, Russia and the Orient.

TAKAKO DOI
Japanese lawmaker

SHE IS ONE of seven women in the 491-member House of Representatives, upper house in the Japanese Diet. There are 15 women in the House of Councilors. Miss Doi was the only woman candidate in her first election in 1969. She represents the second district of Hyogo Prefecture, in the southeast of Honshu. She is a member of the Japanese Socialist Party. She was reelected four years later in an even tougher campaign.

"Women are such a minority in the Diet that the emphasis is not placed on women's interests, but on other matters," she explained.

Miss Doi has been leader in such causes as trying to obtain better jobs, better education, better day care centers and a better break for women who are raising their families alone. There are some day care centers, planned and administered by local government in Japan, but the constituents in her urban-suburban district wish there were more.

OF AMERICAN women Miss Doi said," I am impressed by their cheerfulness and confidence. I am favorably impressed with the way they keep the roles of wife, mother and career in balance. Women in the United States are in a challenging position when they seek more important and difficult jobs. It is the same for Japanese women.

"Like it or not, because of economic factors, women can no longer stay at home, but most must seek employment to supplement the family income."

The price index is much higher in Japan than in the United States, according to Miss Doi. The unemployment rate in Japan is close to zero, but wholesale prices are up over 25 per cent. Although the government has promised to slow inflation, there has recently been a 63 per cent rise in the price of gasoline and a 56 per cent increase in the cost of electricity. Public transportation has also gone up, further aggravating the situation.

THE JAPANESE travelers feel that they have been in this country at historic time. They met Gerald R. Ford when he was vice president and he spoke to them for almost an hour in Washington, D.C.

"I was impressed with President Ford's strong views on the importance of fighting inflation and am anxious to see how he will do it, the Japanese congressman said.

As a member of the environmental policy committee of the House of Representatives, Miss Doi took the initiative in sponsoring the emergency law for environmental protection of the inland sea.

"Many Japanese bodies of water are so polluted that mothers are terrified their children will fall in. They are far too dirty to be used for recreation," she said, looking wistfully at the activity on San Francisco Bay from the deck of The Dock restaurant in Tiburon.

She expects "a severe confrontation" between the automobile industry and the environmentalists when scheduled discussions on air pollution take place after her return.

Miss Doi, 45, hopes to continue in the Diet, but would not rule out practicing law if the political winds blow against

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Helen Wonders Why Sexless Marriage Wasn't Dissolved

DEAR HELEN:

My mother-in-law thinks I'm a goody-goody because Will and I got married instead of just living together like the rest of his family do. She makes fun of me and puts me down. She's even gotten some of Will's nephews to make passes at me.

She lived common-law with Will's Dad until he disappeared and she's had at least three boyfriends since I've known her. Will's sister doesn't bother with marriage, either.

They criticize everything I do! It gets them because I'm a good housekeeper and we don't live on pizzas and beer like they do.

I feel like they're lower than cockroaches (which they have, too), but we live near them and they won't leave me alone. Will won't tell his mother and sister to get lost, so what do you suggest? — MRS. HOLIER THAN THOU (SO-CALLED)

DEAR HOLY:

. . . Distance! Preferably several thousand miles of it! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

In 1961, my husband stopped having sexual relations with me. I was 36. I waited 11 months, then decided that was long enough, so I had an affair with a childhood sweetheart and got pregnant right away.

My husband knows, of course, that my near-12-year-old daughter isn't his. I haven't received even a kiss or hug from him in 13 years.

I let my sweetheart go a while back, and now there's nothing, again. I am a good church member, good housekeeper and know right from wrong, but I'm tempted to look for a new lover. Can you blame me? By the way, my husband's health is fine and always has been. — E.H.

DEAR E.:

I can't blame you for seeking love, but I'm not sold on the way you seek it. And I'm amazed at your apparent lack of curiosity or concern. Didn't you ever ask your husband why he turned off?

Since you two evidently neither talk nor touch, my big question is: Why wasn't this marriage dissolved long ago? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

A college professor has fallen in love with our daughter. He is 47 and soon to be divorced. Another woman is being named in the divorced proceedings — not our daughter. While she was visiting us this summer, he took out still another woman (whose husband objected). It was only one time, he said.

This man travels all over the world on college assignments and my daughter often will go with him.

He has six children, four on their own, two away at school.

If he gets his divorce, they will marry in October. Should we advise our daughter, a 49-year-old widow, that we have our doubts about this marriage? We haven't met the man yet. — DOUBTING THOMASES

DEAR D.T.:

You've a right to express an opinion but a 49-year-old daughter probably won't be swayed by it. Why not follow my Helen Help Us rules: Give advice only when asked and then only if you're pretty sure of the facts; don't jump to conclusions; and remember, eating your words is tougher than holding them back. — H.

AMERICAN VACATIONERS

House Swapping Gains Popularity

By JENNIE DOUGLAS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

The idea of house swapping is the fastest-growing facet of American vacationing today.

Adventures-in-Living of Winnetka, Ill., was started in 1970 by Wilma Ferguson and offers exchange listings in 35 states and 14 foreign countries. Mrs. Ferguson, herself an extensive traveler, includes an informative booklet, "How to Exchange Your Home for Another for Vacations," a listing in the directory and supplements, for the all-inclusive price of $10.

Canadian-born Olivia McMillan, who operates the Holiday Homes Exchange Bureau, feels that the business of exchanging homes is still in its infancy. She points out that vacations are no longer limited to summer but continue the year round.

VACATIONS are becoming longer and more frequent as families get away at Christmas, Thanksgiving, Easter and whenever possible. Retired people and those without children prefer other than the summer and are inclinced to just watch for something interesting to appear.

Mrs. McMillan says, "It seems that everyone would want to belong to something that has so much to offer every American family. We say that through our service, 'Your vacation costs little more than staying at home.' " The Holiday Homes Exchange Bureau of Grants, N.M., offers listing for a year plus the directory and monthly supplements for $15 ($10 for retired couples).

The Pan Am Home Exchange Service (Vacation Exchange Club, Inc. of New York), founded by David Ostroff in 1960, lists 4,000 families in its directory, double the number of only two years ago. A listing in the directory costs $12 but you may receive the directory and its supplements for $9 thus enabling you to make contact with any of those listed.

The customary practice is to send at least 20 letters out to those families that appeal to you, choosing the most suitable from the interested, responding parties. Further correspondence, exchange of pictures and, hopefully a telephone call follow.

ONCE THE DETAILS of time and duration of stay are agreed upon, such items as the care of pets, insurance, and utility bills are settled. Houses are not the only things swapped. Often the trade includes a trailer, car, boat, servants or bicycles.

Why are these exchange services so popular? Economy is a prime factor, of course but from from the only one. The advantages to those traveling with children are obvious. You can take the kids along without having to amuse them or keep them quiet and there are often playmates available.

Worry about your own home is at a minimum. You know that goldfish are being fed and plants are being watered. The fear that your house may be burglarized while you are away is also greatly lessened.

Although economy, ease and enjoying all the comforts of home are lauded by all house swappers, their real enthusiasm is reserved for the cultural benefits of the system. House swappers acquire instant status as members of their temporary community.

Neighbors and friends are quickly acquired as is a genuine feeling of authenticity which is well-nigh impossible to achieve on a cruise or tour.

A Few Safeguards Protect Accounts

By ROBERT EDWARDS
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

A survey in Chicago disclosed that about 70 per cent of the people questioned transact their personal buisness with a checking account. If you number among this majority, take a few seconds to understand the mechanics of checks and how you can protect your account at the bank.

Take forgery, for example. Electronic-mechanical handling of billions of checks each year — the magnetic ink and number codes permit machines to process 1,000-1,200 checks through a computer every minute — has increased the possibility of a forged check being charged to your account. Clerks still look at each check from one to three times but a check drawn on one of your own printed blanks can still slip through.

IF A FORGED CHECK shows up in your account, you lose — unless you notify the bank. Banks expect you to check monthly statements and returned checks promptly — within a day or two, certainly within a month. To protect your checking account against forgeries, altered amounts and incorrect charges. adopt these routine safeguards:

Check your statement and canceled checks the day they arrive if possible. Look first for any checks that you didn't write.

Examine the amounts. A "kited" check means the amount was altered after leaving your hands but before the check reached the bank.

WHO PAYS the difference on a kited check may depend on how you wrote it. If you left empty spaces and someone added digits to the number and words to the written portion, you could be charged with the loss — the bank could claim your negligence was to blame. But, if you drew the check properly and the bank cashed it anyway, the bank remains liable for the differene between your original amount and the kited figure — if you call the error to the bank's attention.

(To protect your checks against kiting, write the first digit of the number as close to the dollar sign as possible and keep digits close together. Begin writing the amount in words as close to the left edge of the check as possible and draw a line through any remaining space to the "DOLLARS" at the right side.

Check endorsements on paid checks. A bank that cashes your correctly drawn check endorsed by a forger cannot charge the check to your account in the United States.

ACCOUNT FOR all blank checks. Anyone with a packet of your individually printed and codedcheck blanks can play havoc with your account. If new check blanks fail to arrive within 10 days to two weeks after you open a new account or order replacements, notify the bank at once.

Protect your signature by keeping canceled checks in a safe place. A thief may steal packets of canceled checks from your mailbox to copy your signature. Some cautious check writers sign checks with a different form of their name than they use for correspondence and other writings. A few sharpies even sign their checks with a different form of their name than is printed on the blank. For example, checks printed J. A. Doe could be signed Jonathan A. Doe. Just be sure your signature matches the card on file at the bank.

RECONCILE your bank statement with the running balance in your own checkbook to guard against overdrafts resulting from your mistakes in arithmetic, bank errors, kited amounts and forgeries. Use the form printed on the back of most statements for checking your balance.

Certified checks deserve special treatment. When your bank stamps the check for guaranteed payment, the amount is immediately blocked out of your account. If you opt not to use the certified check, return it to the bank for credit — don't tear it up.

Incidentally, a bank draft or chasier's check will usually cost less than the charge for certifying your personal check.

Judith Ann Klarkowski Is Married

Judith Ann Klarkowski became the bride of Vincent Edward D'Amico II of Fairfax in ceremonies at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael Saturday.

The bride is the daughter of Maj. (ret.) and Mrs. Frank G. Klarkowski of San Rafael. Her twin sister, Katherine, was her maid of honor. Her other sisters, Mrs. Susan Hoffman of Culver City and Karen of San Rafael, were her bridesmaids.

She's Not A Hall Of Famer But Will Push Women's Lib

By MARGUERITE SULLIVAN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — Virginia Trotter might not figure prominently in the women's lib hall of fame but for the next few years her name just might be linked with the cause.

As the top educator in the United States, Dr. Trotter must help implement new federal regulations, expected to go into effect by January, which ban sex discimination in education.

That means "equal access and equal opportunity" for both sexes in everything from the football field to the auto mechanics and home economics classrooms.

VIRGINIA TROTTER
Equality in the classroom

JUST WEEKS into her job as assistant secretary for education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (she was sworn in June 13), Dr. Trotter, 52, who previously was a university administrator, says fortunately the "women's area" is one in which she has a special interest.

She won't be be responsible for enforcing the new anti-sex discrimination regulations — that will be the job of the Office for Civil Rights. Her education division, however, will help school systems work out their plans for compliance with the guidelines.

HER EFFORTS for equal opportunity won't start with the job-hunting stage — but will begin in grade schools, in the writing of textbooks, on athletic fields and in student counseling rooms.

"We've had testing services (in schools) for years," she said.

"If you scored high in science and you were a woman, you were channeled into nursing. But if you were a boy, you were counseled into medicine."

Under the new regulations, boys and girls must be given equal opportunity to find out "what the different alternatives are."

IN SPORTS, it will mean that schools can opt for putting girls and boys on the same teams — "there's no reason why they can't play volleyball together," she says — or schools can continue separate sports programs provided they are equal.

If the sexes are separated, a school must prove its sports program is equal "in terms of facilities and in terms of instruction and in terms of what happens," she said.

"They can have a boys' football course, but they have to be sure that a girl can take football, too, if she wants to. We may have girl football kickers, who knows?"

EQUAL ACCESS won't be one-sided.

Boys will be able to get out of the "bachelor" baking courses and take real home economics. If they want to take shorthand, they can.

"I would like to think that women could grow up learning that it is just as important to make a contribution to productive work of some kind and not be afraid because they didn't get married," Dr. Trotter said.

"I'D LIKE to feel that men would not be subjected to suspicion if they want to pursue a career that was not 'masculine.'"

Dr. Trotter, herself, has scored a lot of firsts for women. She is the first woman to hold the national government's highest education post and was the first woman to hold the number two position in an American land-grant university.

The 5-foot-10 grandmother was vice chancellor for academic affairs at the University of Nebraska when she was plucked for the HEW post.

She previously had been dean of Nebraska's College of Home Economics.

her. She does not foresee the possibility of a cabinet appointment, because her party, the largest opposition party, does not have the strength of the liberal Democratic Party now in power.

San Francisco was the last stop for the delegates. Miss Doi visited Washington, D.C., New York City, Omaha and Atlanta before coming to the Bay Area.

Of her stay in the capitol, she said, "I expected huge demonstrations because of the tense situation in the government. On the contrary, I didn't see one soul walking with placards or talking against the government. Everything was being left to Congress according to law and the Constitution. My deep impression is that freedom of speech and of the press are ruling the politics in this country."

Generation Gap Not Bad Thing

Parental attempts to close the generation gap are "a psychologically unsound — even destructive — enterprise" that causes parents to "lose self-respect" and "their children's respect as well," a noted psychiatrist has asserted.

Dr. Theodore I. Rubin decried the "great social pressure to erase all differences between parents and children," in the September issue of Ladies' Home Journal.

The New York psychoanalyst stated that "our children want to be different, and consequently see a parent's entrance into their generation as inappropriate, aggressive and disrespectful of the child's right to establish. . . his own self."

Instruments Help Asthma

Playing a wind instrument can improve an asthmatic child's pulmonary function and reduce progression of the disease, Meyer B. Marks, MD, reported at the annual congress of the American College of Allergists.

The musical instrument is "a form of long-term breathing exercise" that has proved helpful in rehabilitating children with chronic asthma, he said.

In a two-year study of 30 asthmatic children between the ages of 8 and 14, the 15 who played such instruments showed marked improvement both physically and emotionally, according to Dr. Marks. The recorder and clarinet are most popular.

New Federal Jail Will Be Different

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Room decors in soft pastels, carpeting and spectacular penthouse views of San Diego Bay will be part of jail life for federal prisoners in the near future.

The amenities are part of the Federal Metropolitan Correctional Facility nearing completion in the downtown area.

No bars are visible from inside or outside the $12.8 million high-rise center, but General Services Administration project engineer E. R. McClaine gives assurance they are there.

The bars are built into the walls of each prisoner room and are out of sight and out of reach of hacksaws or other escape tools, he said.

The federal jail is as high as a standard 22-story building, but it is divided into 12 separate levels, each laid out in a trilevel arrangement, McClaine said. Prisoner rooms are slightly elevated around a central activity area.

Except for small tiled areas, each level is fully carpeted, both in common areas and rooms. McClaine said carpeting may seem extravagant for prisoner housing but is not.

"It's about as inexpensive to carpet as it is to lay tile," he said.

Pink, orange and green are among colors chosen to complement the carpeting, and each room has its own toilet and lavatory fixtures. Many rooms have windows, and each level has several showers, a counseling room and a secretary's chambers.

On most levels, prisoners will have rooms to themselves, but dormitory style facilities with open-bay bunks are planned for levels four, five and six.

The jail was planned to house about 500 prisoners on a medium security basis, and it will be linked by an underground tunnel to the federal courthouse being built in the adjacent block. Inmates going to and from court will use the tunnel.

McClaine said each floor will be operated independently of the others from a central control point.

"Any floor can be taken out of operation entirely at any time without affecting the rest of the facility," he said. "The whole building does not have to be functioning if it's not full."

Access to various levels is by elevator, also centrally operated, McClaine said. He noted there is no fire escape, but he said he hopes there will never be cause for evacuation.

"We think it's pretty fireproof," he said.

He also explained the facility has the latest in earthquake protection. The structure sits on an 11-million-pound slab of concrete he referred to as a "raft" in place of pilings.

The structure can shift and tilt on its raft foundation with a minimum of damage if an earthquake hits, he said.

Kids Find A Friend In KINSHIP

By FRANK FARRARA

A troubled young caller says, "I love my father. How can I make him stop drinking?" And another asks, "Where can I get an abortion?"

These questions are typical of the anxious queries that have been coming into the telephone hotline at the Novato Human Needs Center since March.

The line, operated by KINSHIP (Kids in Need Seek Help in People) is open to all who have problems — drugs, alcohol, family hassles or loneliness.

The goal "is to provide the young people of Novato and Marin County with a number (897-NEED) they can call to rap or get information to help them with any problems they may be having," according to Dyanne Bohner, director of KINSHIP.

During the past month there have been several calls about abortion, indicating that young people need information about pregnancy, venereal disease, abortion and sex, Mrs. Bohner said.

A cardinal rule to keep the conversation confidential so a caller knows no one is going to know what he has to say, except the volunteer listener.

"The callers can talk in complete confidence and they don't have to give their names or any information if they don't want to," she said.

Even the volunteers are kept "anonymous" under the program and a reporter's request to listen in was flatly rejected.

The problems range from a boy who is angry because his parents placed him "on restiction" to those who say they no longer want to live at home, she said.

The job is listening, "really listening," informing and lastly, making referrals if appropriate, she said.

Mrs. Bohner, who established KINSHIP after working as a volunteer with the Marin County Probation Department, said 14 and 15-year-olds are "kind of the epitome" of youths with problems, at any age "when they are either getting it together or falling apart."

In the community, she ranked alcoholism as a significant problem with Novato perhaps the "wettest place in the county."

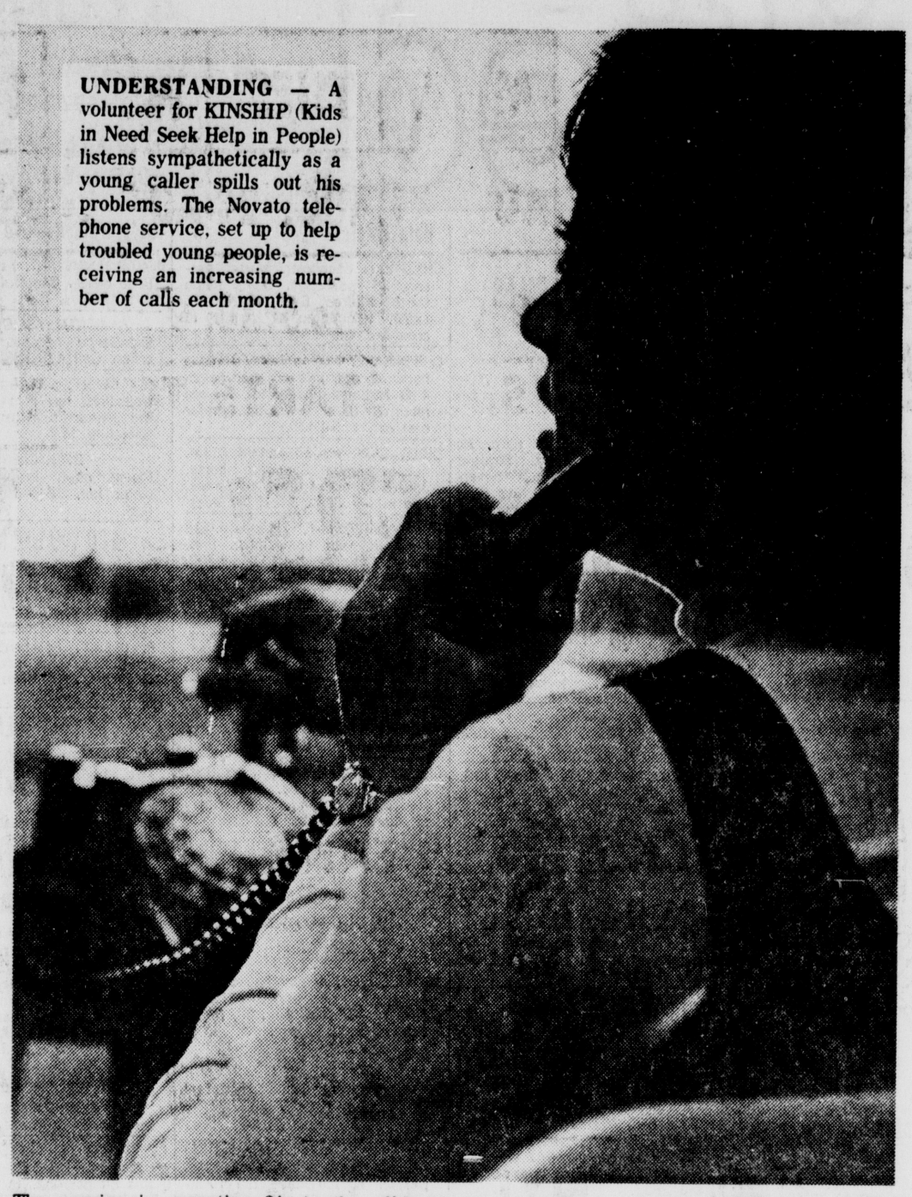
There are a variety of agencies in Marin to help, but "people don't know what's available," she said.

The volunteers, operating out of a special room at the center, have at hand a community resoruces directory for referrals, a "physician's desk reference to pharmaceutical specialities and biologicals" for information," Mrs. Bohner said.

Conversations with callers have ranged from a few minutes to a two-hour-and 45-minute conversation Mrs. Bohner had with a caller, starting at 2 a.m.

The number of calls is below her expectation, "but we're just starting to get flyers out and we hope to start a speakers bureau in September, but word-of-mouth probably is the most valuable advertisement," she said.

As of Aug. 15, the calls this month totaled 30, indicating this will be the heaviest month, she said.



UNDERSTANDING — A volunteer for KINSHIP (Kids in Need Seek Help in People) listens sympathetically as a young caller spills out his problems. The Novato telephone service, set up to help troubled young people, is receiving an increasing number of calls each month.

The service is operating 24 hours a day, with volunteers working from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. in the off-hours an answering service relays calls to volunteers.

By the end of this year Mrs. Bohner hopes to have the hotline manned 24 hours a day.

393 July Major Crimes Reported

A total of 393 major crimes, including the slaying of a Forest Knolls man, were reported in Marin County in July by law enforcement agencies.

Burglary remained the most prevalent crime, with 272 reported.

Five rapes brought the total reported in the county this year to 23, but there are indications that some rape victims are not notifying police.

For example, the Marin Rape Crisis Center has had 27 rapes reported since it began operation in March. "A lot of women we talk to are adamant about not contacting the law because of shame and the fear that the police will make them very uncomfortable," said Diane Ray of the center.

"But we encourage people to make reports and offer to go down to the police station with them if they are willing," she added. "The police in Marin have been very cooperative, by and large, very anxious to be supportive and put the victims at ease."

Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani of San Anselmo, president of the county police chiefs association, said the number of reported rapes in Marin has dropped significantly since the arrest in April of Hansel Elwood Smith Jr., 24, of Novato. Smith told police he had raped 17 women in the county.

Most rape victims are attacked either while hitchhiking or walking alone at night, according to the chief. He urged women not to go anywhere alone, especially at night. "Always go with a companion," Buchignani said.

The Town of Ross is not included in the monthly crime figures as that police department does not make public its crime statistics.

Among all crime reported in Marin in July were these major offenses (with totals to date this year in parenthesis):

Court Asked To Overturn Sewer Ruling

Four Stinson Beach property owners asked Friday that Marin Superior Court overturn orders that the community half use of septic tanks.

The Regional Water Quality Control Board banned new construction last fall and ordered septic tanks replaced with a conventional sewage system by Oct. 15, 1977. Voters in the community have rejected a proposal to build such a system, objecting it would encourage excessive growth.

Filing the suit were Carolyn Garcia, Gertrude Herbert, Helen Kerr and Nancy McCarthy. Their attorney is Michael D. Sanford, an opponent of a conventional sewage system.

Their suit claims that the board violated their rights to build on their properties, failed to notify them of its hearing on the action, failed to have an environmental impact report prepared first as required by state law, and exceeded its powers by applying its orders to all septic tank systems, regardless of whether they discharge into waters of the state.

The same objections were made by residents of the community to the State Water Resources Control Board, which rejected them.

In a related matter, the Bay Area Sewage Services Agency postponed for at least a month action on a request by the regional board that it force Stinson Beach to build a conventional system without voter approval. The agency has this power, but never has used it.

The agency was scheduled to consider further action on the move Wednesday night, but the staff said it needed more time to get reports from financial and engineering consultants hired to examine the issue. The agency board may take up the matter at its Sept. 18 meeting, a spokesman said.

Board Sets Dairy Pollution Session

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Tough new water pollution controls that could cost dairies some $70,000 each will be considered tomorrow by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

A board consultant estimated the average cost could exceed $20,000 per dairy, but Marin County Farm Adviser Donald L. Britsan told the Independent-Journal it could hit $70,000.

Approximately 164 dairies are in the board's jurisdiction, about 78 of them in Marin.

The board will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the Alameda County Public Works Building, 399 Elmhurst Street, Hayward. The matter is second on the agenda.

Brittsan said the only efficient way to meet the board's new requirements would be to have barns with sewage collection systems. Such barns cost about $250 per cow, and with an average herd of 200 this comes to $50,000. On top of this, there would be about $20,000 in costs for a holding pond and system to distribute wastewater, he estimated.

Only about one-quarter of Marin's dairymen have barns ready for such sewage systems, he said.

The board's proposed guidelines set a deadline of September, 1976, for dairies on the Tomales Bay and Walker Creek watersheds to halt all discharge of animal wastes into watercourses leading to the bay and creek. All stormwater runoff from animal confinement areas such as corrals and pens would have to be collected so it could not pollute watercourses.

All other dairies would have an additional year to comply.

According to a board notice of the action, it must enforce the controls to meet water quality standards set by the State Water Resources Control Board.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors recently agreed to make up the difference between 5 per cent and whatever interest dairymen have to pay on loans to finance the pollution controls. The board's action was based on its fear that if the costly controls forced dairymen out of business, their property could be sold for development.

College Of Marin Begins Term Today

Beginning classes earlier than ever before in its 48-year history, the College of Marin today opened its doors for the 1974 fall semester.

There appeared to be no special problems created by the early opening, according to Irwin P. Diamond, college president.

"The parking lots are full and that is one good indication that the students are here for classes," he said.

Some 7,041 students have registered for the fall semester, a slight drop from the 7,193 registered last fall, according to Earlene Jones, school publicist.

She said students may still register and enrollment will increase slightly over the next few weeks.

"The kids seem to like it," she said of the yearly opening.

The school's calendar was changed by Marin Community College District trustees to facilitate transfer of students to state universities after the fall semester. In the past, students did not complete the semester until after Christmas and could not transfer to state universities during the winter quarter which began immediately after the first of the year.

Under the new calendar, the fall semester will end before Christmas because of the early opening and students will not have to wait for the spring quarter to transfer.

Diamond said the school will begin a few classes on Sept. 10 for students who could not register for the early opening date. Those classes will require students to attend more hours each week than regular classes so that all classes will end together before Christmas, he said.

The district's other school, Indian Valley Colleges in Novato, also begins Sept. 10.

Labor Pains Shut Down Gate Bridge

Northbound traffic on Golden Gate Bridge was stopped for eight minutes yesterday so a California Highway Patrolman could rush an expectant mother to a San Francisco hospital.

Margaret Bar, 25, of 1444 Pheasant Drive, Petaluma, was being driven southward by a neighbor in heavy, creeping traffic when she began to get labor pains every three minutes.

The neighbor, John Silverburg, flagged down officer Richard Haley of the California Highway Patrol.

Haley put both Mrs. Bar and Silverburg in his patrol car and radioed ahead to Highway Patrol Lt. Anthony Alberigi who halted northbound traffic at the toll plaza at 4:10 p.m. so that the mother could be speeded along the empty lane.

But it took 4½ hours after Mrs. Bar reached Kaiser Foundation Hospital before the 8-pound, 12-ounce baby boy was born.

High Episcopal Official Resigns

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Dr. Charles V. Willie, the highest lay officer of the Episcopal church, has resigned "as a protest against the inhuman treatment of women."

In a sermon yesterday at Grace Church in Syracuse, Willie, 46, said the Episcopal House of Bishops "displayed an ugly act of male arrogance" when it declared that the July 29 ordination of 11 female deacons as priests was invalid.

"And so I must remove myself from the leadership structure of the Episcopal Church as a protest against the inhuman treatment of women — especially the 11 women priests," Willie said.

Trio Arrested On Incendiary Charge

Three men were arrested on suspicion of incendiarism following a grass fire Saturday that charred three acres near Fair Drive in San Rafael, police said today.

Booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $10,000 bail each to appear today in Marin Municipal Court were Mark Steven Botai, 22, of 103 Lansdale Avenue, San Anselmo; Christopher Olaf Johnson, 18, of 69 Manderly Road, San Rafael, and Gregory Crawford Gocher, 22, of no known address.

An off-duty San Rafael policeman was driving down Fair Drive Saturday when he passed the trio in a parked car and noticed a small blaze at the side of the road, according to police.

Officer Harry Barbier fought the fire with a garden hose until city firemen arrived, police said. The blaze, fought by 21 men, was doused in about an hour.

Two Are Killed When Car, Motorcycle Collide

Two persons were thrown to their deaths last night when their motorcycle collided head-on with an automobile on Highway 121 about two miles north of the Highway 37 intersection in Southern Sonoma County near Black Point.

The California Highway Patrol said Stephen D. Ruport, 24, of San Pablo, was apparently driving his Harley-Davidson north at about 9 p.m. when it struck a southbound Mercedes-Benz sedan driven by Valentino E. Giannini, 47, of San Francisco.

Ruport and a woman passenger, still unidentified, were thrown far from the road by the impact, which destroyed the motorcycle and the front of the car.

Both apparently died instantly, the highway patrol said.

Giannini received minor injuries in the crash, and the highway patrol said it has not yet determined how the accident came about.

Attorney Named To Coast Board

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — San Francisco attorney B. John Bugatto has been appointed by the governor to the North Central Coast Regional Commission.

The 40-year-old Republican replaces Ellen J. Johnck of San Francisco, who resigned. The 14-member commission has jurisdiction over the coastal zone of Marin, Sonoma and San Francisco counties.

A native of San Francisco, he attended Galileo High School. He was graduated with a bachelor's degree from St. Mary's College and got his law degree at the University of San Francisco.

Forest Meadows Barbecue Set

The fifth annual barbecue to benefit Forest Meadows Development Center will be held in the picnic grounds of Deer Park Villa Restaurant on Bolinas Road, Fairfax, at 6:30 p.m., Aug. 26.

A donation of $7.50 per person is asked.

Forest Meadows Development Center serves students 3 to 21 years old who have development disabilities. The school is operated by the Marin County Schools office on the Dominican College campus.

Robber Given Jail Sentence

A San Rafael man will spend one year in Marin County Jail for stealing $190 from a San Rafael delicatessen in February.

Leroy Gerald Reno, 27, drew the sentence and five years' probation from Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best.

The sentencing followed Reno's guilty plea to one count of grand theft.

San Rafael police said he used a stick to hold a clerk at bay at Perry's Delicatessen and escaped with cash receipts. He was cornered in a nearby street and arrested.

San Quentin Is Easing Its Lockup

The lockup at San Quentin Prison, imposed after a stabbing Friday, was being gradually eased yesterday and today, a prison spokesman said this morning.

The west and south blocks have been opened and officials were to meet this morning to consider other steps, according to Sgt. Alex T. Silva, acting information officer.

Work crews are being released as usual. "We're getting back to normal," Silva said.

A total lockup was put into effect Saturday after Walter Hiryk, 38, was stabbed 28 times. He was reported in satisfactory condition today at the prison hospital.

Yesterday, the west and south blocks were opened and half of the 900 men in the east block were allowed to go to the canteen.

New 'Doorman' Robs Tenants

NEW YORK (UPI) — An armed robber who dressed up like an apartment house doorman and greeted residents cheerfully, robbed several tenants and escaped with more than $5,000 in cash and jewelry, police reported today.

Police said the robber walked into the lobby of an apartment on Manhattan's West Side about lunchtime and forced the regular doorman at gunpoint to take off his green uniform. The gunman then locked the doorman in a mail room with two other tenants and put on the uniform.

Saying, "Good afternoon, I'm your new doorman," the bandit greeted four residents, and robbed them of $170 in cash and about $5,345 worth of watches, rings and other jewelry.

Burton To Hold Community Talks

Four "community dialogues" to get voters' views on federal government issues will be held Saturday and next Monday by Rep. John L. Burton, D-Sixth District.

The Saturday meetings will be at 10:30 a.m. at Corte Madera City Hall, 1 p.m. at Las Gallinas Valley Unitarian Church and 3:30 p.m. at Novato City Hall. The Monday session will be at 8 p.m. at West Marin School in Point Reyes Station.

A spokesman for Burton said the meetings, Burton's first since he was elected in June, will be held periodically when he returns from Washington.

Drug Charge Is Dropped For A Time

Because San Francisco police won't reveal the name of a drug informant, narcotics charges against 27-year-old Leon Richard Schinazi of Greenbrae have been dropped.

But as soon as the informant's work is concluded and he can be identified, charges of offering to sell cocaine will be reinstated against Schinazi, the Marin District Attorney's office has warned.

Following an investigation in May, San Francisco police arrested Schinazi at a San Rafael home, then went to his Greenbrae residence and found more than two pounds of cocaine estimated to be worth $65,000.

When officers refused to reveal the informant's name, Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court dismissed the felony charge.

Adult Education Registration On

Registration for the College of Marin adult education program, which includes courses in 26 areas of instruction, is now under way, according to college officials.

Registration by mail will end Sept. 13, and registration in person will begin Sept. 16 at the registrar's office on the Kentfield campus.

Classes, including 16 new offerings, will begin Sept. 23.

Supervisors Will Discuss Wages

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, which will be short two members, will hold a half-day session tomorrow beginning at 2 p.m. at Civic Center.

The board will consider a plan to create a special committee to compare the wages of public employees with those who work in private industry and a resolution setting an election for the proposed special district to finance improved fire protection for unincorporated aeas around San Rafael.

Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. will be in Washington D.C. Testifying before congressional committees to urge acquisition of more recreational lands in Marin.

Fairfax Meeting Set

The Fairfax Open Space Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in town hall to review a report by town consultants on a local open space plan, according to Mayor Frank J. Egger.

Street Fair Fight Leads To Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A policeman attracted by a shotgun blast at the Castro Street Fair yesterday grappled with the unidentified gunman and then shot and killed him.

Officer Arnold Strite was on his lunch hour when he heard the shotgun discharge. When he arrived at the scene, he found shopkeepers try to wrest the shotgun from a man who appeared to be about 25.

Strite shoved his revolver against the man's ribcage and told him to drop the weapon. Then, a second shotgun blast hit the pavement nearby.

Richocheting pellets struck the shoulders of two women in the surrounding crowd—Margaret Romano, 70, and Jill Channesian, 24. They were hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

After the second shotgun discharge, the officer fired his .357 magnum, felling the gunman. He was given mouth-to-mouth resusitation and died later at Mission Emergency Hospital, police said.

AMERICA
FIAT

Americans are discovering why Fiat is the largest selling car in Europe. With the price of gasoline as high as $2.00 per gallon in Europe, with the extremes of the weather, the road conditions and the extreme conditions of inflation, Fiat makes it obvious to Europeans.

It is now obvious why America is discovering Fiat.

Two good reasons are

the 124 Special TC

This car lives up to two names: FIAT and Special. It's compact in size and price — but in every other way, it's big: Space, comfort, safety, dependability, durability, trunk-room, economy — and power (now, the FIAT 124 Special TC has a 1592 cc. twin overhead cam engine). It's only 165.6" in length, yet the interior is a luxurious family room on wheels designed to accommodate four full-size adults. Its acceleration is faster than many cars with larger, less efficient engines; it cruises silently and effortlessly on fast freeways. All coil springs and true-tracking, long-lasting radial-ply tires cushion the ride. Disc brakes on all four wheels give you safe, sure stopping control. An automatic transmission is available. Discover the FIAT 124 Special. It fits your family. And your budget.

the 124 Sport Cpe

FIAT 124 Sport Coupe — the magnificent merger of true sports car performance and luxurious family sedan function. And it's a perfect combination — not a compromise. The elegance of its styling expresses your excellent taste. The richness and practicality of the spacious interior confirm your sound judgment. And when this thoroughbred is in motion, you'll know the emotion of pure sports car excitement — 1756 cc. twin overhead cam engine, 5-speed transmission, console mounted electronic tachometer, disc brakes on all four wheels, radial-ply tires, instant response, total control. There are few cars in the world that are even similar to it. There are none in its price range. Discover a dynamic car for a spirited family — the FIAT 124 Sport Coupe.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Marin County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing to consider the Commission's amendments to Titic 22 (Zoning) of the Marin County Code, which amendments would reclassify, separably and independently, the following properties in the Big Rock Ridge area, including properties all or partially designated as Ridge and Upland Greenbelt Open Space in the Marin Countywide Plan.

As described in the Planning Commission's adopted policies for rezoning open space area designated in the Marin Countywide Plan, the purpose of the proposed rezoning is to apply very low densities, to protect the open space character of the areas, and to achieve consistency with the plan's policies. For most private, non-agricultural parcels, a very low density RMP (Residential, Multiple Planned District), will be recommended because it allows maximum flexibility in building placement and allows either detached or attached units. The Commission will consider rezoning to either a higher or lower density, according to the specific characteristics of the site, at the time development plans are presented. The possibility of provision of low, moderate, or middle-income housing will be one of the considerations to be applied to the decision concerning density at the time of the review of the development.

The following parcels are included in this proposal:

a) From A-2:B-4 (Limited Agricultural District, one acre building site):
125-140-21, 33, 39, 40

b) From A-2 (Limited Agricultural District, one unit per 2 acres):

To RMP- (Residential, Multiple Planned District, Density to be determined by the Planning Commission), O-A (Open Area District) or A- (Agricultural and Conservation District, Density to be determined by the Planning Commission).

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that said hearing will be held during the regular meeting of the Marin County Planning Commission on Monday, September 16, 1974, in the Planning Commission Hearing Room, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, which meeting commences at 9:00 a.m. Those wishing to attend said hearing may call the Planning Department at 479-1100, Extension 2526, on Friday, September 13, 1974, in order to be informed of the place on the agenda and the approximate time of the hearing.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Interferon May Help Common Cold; Only Tests Will Tell

"What has happened to interferon — the miracle substance that was supposed to be the cure for the common cold?"

Unfortunately, not much. As with other potentially valuable experimental drugs, a new use or accidental discovery could make interferons a household word. A recent article in the "New England Journal of Medicine" showed that nosedrops containing an interferon inducer decreased the infectiousness of the common cold virus. By increasing the person's resistance to infection, it acted as a preventive, rather than a cure.

Interferons are naturally-occurring proteins that prevent almost any known virus from multiplying. They are difficult to work with because the substance is effective only on cells from which it originates. For example, interferon made in chick cells inhibits the synthesis of different viruses in the chick, but it does not prevent infections in human cells.

THIS SITUATION WAS partially overcome when it was discovered that certain substances are interferon inducers. When these chemicals get into cells, they trigger the mechanism that starts interferon production. Thus, the individual makes his own interferon, protecting him against almost any viral infection.

Propanediamine, the interferon inducer used in the experiment mentioned, did an excellent job of stimulating the production of interferon in nasal secretions.

Interferon has a bright future, even though it was not tested practically as a preventative. Using a drug before symptoms develop is an unusual approach to preventing nasal colds. After all, most of us do not know when these kinds of infections are about to strike.

TWISTED ARTERY

D. T. writes: What is a tortuous artery?

REPLY

The aorta is the large artery that carries blood from the heart to all parts of the body. When it is affected by arteriosclerosis, this vessel becomes dilated, elongated and twisted like an old rubber band.

NO ONE DOES

N. V. writes: Can a 52-year-old man who has chronic leukemia live indefinitely?

REPLY

He couldn't live indefinitely even if he did not have leukemia.

ANTABUSE

A reader writes: I'm an alcoholic who takes Antabuse. Will I have to take this drug for the rest of my life?

REPLY

Antabuse therapy may be required for months or even years. But you must avoid alcohol for the rest of your life.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

THE FEMININE TOUCH

French TV May Lose 'Charm'

By ALINE MOSEY

PARIS (UPI) — Along with handmade clothes and cheap little restaurants, the future of another cherished institution of France — female television announcers — hangs in doubt.

On two of France's three channels, smiling beauties with gleaming teeth, lacquered hair and inextinguishable happiness announce program schedules.

President Valery Giscard d'Estaing in July ordered the state-operated TV to break up into six competing systems by year's end.

Whether the reorganized television will retain the 27-year-old custom of lady announcers "depends upon the new program director," said Jacques Planche, supervisor since 1953 of his stable of girl announcers.

"The girls may disappear with computers taking over. They are artisan work."

The third channel which opened in 1972 uses computer-run printed announcements to identify the channel and announce programs.

Female TV announcers have appeared elsewhere in Europe but Planche said France holds the record of nine girls for the two channels.

The lady announcers came into being "as a human, charming touch" when Channel One opened in 1947. In line with orders from the French out of the French language, the girls are supposed to be called "presentatrices". But Planche and the public still call them "speakerines" in Franglais. When the second channel opened in 1964, Planche chose three more speakerines out of 10,000 applicants.

Of his nine girls, all are married, most have children and one — the eldest and the wife of one of the TV executives — is a grandmother.

Down the years one girl quit to go on radio, another to become a photographer. Planche fired one when she made the front pages by biting two policemen and another was dismissed for posing virtually nude for a magazine.

In addition to announcing programs, the girls apologize when films are put on upside down or in case of other technical difficulties, a steady characteristic of French TV.

The girls' sing-song introductions are mimicked mercilessly by stage comedians. But Planche said the public regards them as friends, showering them with fan latters, propositions and proposals.

One day speakerine Catherine Langeais got caught in the rain outside the studio and had to pull her hair back from her face.

"The minute she got on TV the telephone calls started, 100 at wime, demanding to know why she changed her hair style," Planche said.

HISTORICAL SITE

Fort Retains Some Taste Of The Past

VANCOUVER, Wash. (UPI) — More than 150 years ago, fur trappers in the Pacific Northwest carved the first permanent Anglo-Saxon settlement out of the forested wilderness along the banks of the Columbia River. That settlement was Fort Vancouver, a trading post for the Hudson Bay Company.

In 1974, the scene surrounding the site of the old fort has changed, but the spirit has not.

Pioneers of a new era are restoring the settlement in a modern day kind of wilderness that flanks the fort — on two sides by airports, on one side by a U.S. Army barracks and on the other by urban America, complete with stagnating pollution indexes.

Declared a national historic site by Congress in 1954, Fort Vancouver is engaged now in what National Park Service officials term "living history."

So far this year, 200,000 visitors have visited the site, which offers a log fort recreated in the design of that built in 1826, a pioneer garden, wheat field and a trading store. In addition reconstruction of the old bakery has begun.

The idea of a garden and the trading post was that of Bob Amdor of the park service, a man totally engrossed in trying to communicate the historic perspective of old Fort Vancouver to the public.

Amdor said the trading post and the garden were designed to supplement the physical reconstruction of the four walls and bastion of the fort itself.

The garden is a "dynamic activity" that utilized college students in the work study program and neighbor youth commission volunteers, he said, to grow the same type of vegetables that were grown by residents of the historic Hudson Bay establishment.

One of the workers is Nancy Prudence Peterson, a Portland Community College student, who can be found any day of the week battling weeds which have invaded the garden.

Working in a full-length dress of the 1840's period, a bonnet and an apron, Nancy tends the vegetables as they were cared for more than 100 years ago.

She said the clothes made it more realistic, excluding her feet, for she works barefoot. She likes it better that way.

The only problem, besides the numerous weeds, she said, was that it gets hot inside the dress.

Although the garden is historic in representation, Amdor is reluctant to admit that it is not historically accurate. The garden was plowed by a mechanized tractor and is watered by irrigation sprinklers.

Somewhat embarrassed, he describes a plot of land, now planted in vegetables, that had been left unplowed for years and was infiltrated by concrete footings and natural gas lines.

He said the park service in the future wants to obtain a horse to turn the grist mill, another phase of restoration. When they do have a horse, Amdor said, they may haul water from the Columbia to the garden.

For now, the garden is one acre of peas, tomatoes, carrots, potatoes, corn, watermelon, beans and other food items directly traceable to those grown in the 1800s.

When harvested the vegetables are given away as samples in the canvas-covered trading post located within the fort. This year more than 500 pounds of pie cherries were given away, Amdor said.

In addition to the trade store, within the fort are a series of archaeological diggings from which the details of building reconstruction are determined, Amdor said.

Currently work is being done on the site of the old blacksmith's shop. In the opposite corner of the fort is where the actual trading store was once located. When diggings there are completed, the temporary trading post now in the middle of the fort will be removed and the "real structure" reconstructed.

Amdor said nearly $100,000 in archaeological work has been spent in five years and $250,000 in reconstruction, beginning with completion of the north wall in 1966.

Within five years, the National Park Service hopes to have restored 14 buildings within the five and one-half acre interior of the fort, including the blacksmith's, the chief factor's house and the social center.

In various instances, diggings around building sites will be left partially exposed to show the public how the details of reconstruction were determined, Amdor said.

Historical reference also is aided by the comparison of uncovered artifacts and their present day counterparts. Within the trading post are restored pots, shovels, files, pottery and historic replicas of wooden barrels, plus authentic Hudson Bay blankets, although only recently manufactured.

From The Darkness Two Women Hear Battle Trumpets Sound

One night in August 1951, two Englishwomen in France heard the sounds of a battle which was fought nine years before — to the day.

The two women — the wife of a British Member of Parliament and her sister-in-law — were on holidays in France with their children. They were staying in a small hotel about a mile east of Dieppe.

Suddenly, through the stillness of the summer night, the women heard an unearthly din. It sounded like the crackle of gunfire, the moan of aircraft, the whistling and exploding of shells, and the shouts and screams of wounded and dying men. Yes, unmistakably the sounds of a battle.

The two Englishwomen looked at the clock in their room. 4 a.m. As they lay in bed, listening, the roar of the battle grew louder and seemed to be moving closer.

Venturing out onto the balcony of their room, the two women peered into the darkness. Nothing was to be seen. And yet, from the surrounding darkness, they could hear the fury of battle rising to a crescendo.

The women heard shells burst overhead — but saw no glow. They heard planes divebombing — but saw no aircraft. Then they heard the sound of tanks rumbling up the road past the hotel — yet there was nothing visible but the empty road.

At 4:50 a.m. the din stopped abruptly. Then it resumed 15 minutes later and continued until 7 a.m. when it faded and the birds began to sing.

Shaken by theri eerie experience the two women questioned other guests in the hotel. Had they heard any tumult during the night? The answer was no.

It was then the women decided that in some bizarre, unimaginable way they had tuned in to the Allied raid on Dieppe on August 19, 1942 when 10,000 troops, most of them Canadian, made a massive probe into Nazi-occupied France.

The women wrote separate accounts of what they had heard, while the experience was still fresh in their memories. These reports were filed with the respected Society for Psychical Research in London.

The two witnesses shunned publicity and to this day their identities have not been revealed. But investigators for the Society for Psychical Research said that the women's accounts of what they heard matched closely the actual sequence of the Dieppe raid — even to its having started at 4 a.m. the ended three hours later.

One investigator assessed the women's characters and credibility as being the highest and concluded: "I think their experience must be rated as a genuine psychic phenomenon."

Girl Invents Glowing Paper

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Becky Schroeder was 10 years old when she became frustrated while trying to do homework one night waiting in a car for her mother at a local shopping center.

"I couldn't see what I was writing and I wondered why someone didn't invent something so people could write in the dark," she said.

The youngster, now 12 years old, went home and invented "luminescent writing sheets" — an invention that may have many people, including the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, knocking on her door.

Becky explained her invention as being a heavy sheet of paper coated with phosphorescent paint. The paper is coated and exposed to light for a minute or two. It then glows in the dark "pretty brightly" for one to two hours. She said her invention will allow people not only to write in the dark but also to write neatly.

Sit-Up Record Set By Marine

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — A Marine recruiter claims to be the new world sit-up champion.

Capt. Alan Jones ended a 16-hour marathon Saturday night after completing 27,003 sit-ups.

The sponsoring Oregon Lung Association said Jones beat the existing world record of 25,220 sit-ups held by an 8-year-old Idaho boy.

Trust Has $50,000 To Give Away

SAN JOSE (UPI) — A $50,000 fund is waiting to be given away to worthy grass-roots causes.

The money is interest on the $750,000 Harry E. Wright Jr. Charitable Trust, administered by attorney John E. Thorne.

Harry E. Wright Jr., heir to a shipping and sugar fortune, died in 1969. He had put his money in the trust fund in the care of his attorney, Thorne, who defended Angela Davis.

The Wright estate was supplemented by $250,000 which the trust gained when it sold the Berkeley Barb. The Barb's founder, Max Scherr, had turned the paper over to the trust when his ex-wife was trying to get it.

Thorne says the trust has already aided the defense of destitute Indians, some legal research for the National Lawyers Guild and a medical clinic. Now it has $50,000 more in earnings to dispense.

Kind Doctor Will Keep His House

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — An orthopedic surgeon, obliged to make a public appeal to former patients who owed him an estimated $150,000, will be able to keep his house now.

Dr. Leo J. McDermott, 66, came close to losing his Portland house because of more than $14,000 in unpaid back taxes.

Now the chief of rehabilitation at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Togus, Maine, McDermott said he paid $5,000 of his debt last week and will have the balance sometime this week.

McDermott said the hospital's credit union has approved a loan which will permit him to pay the balance of more than eight years' back property taxes.

In June, McDermott made a public appeal to his former patients in Portland to pay their past due bills. He never billed a patient during his 30 years of practice in Maine's largest city.

The surgeon estimated more than 1,000 Portland area residents owed him money.

In response to the appeal, he said, he has received more than $6,000.

McDermott now lives in a government house on the hospital grounds at Togus. The Portland house is occupied by a married daughter and her husband and an unmarried daughter.

John Lindsay Back In New York City

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Mayor John V. Lindsay is back in "the world's greatest city" today after an eight-month trip to Europe and the Caribbean where he wrote essays and acted in a motion picture.

Lindsay, who left at the beginning of the year after completing two terms as mayor, said he paid for part of the trip by taking a part in the Otto Preminger movie "Rosebud." Lindsay plays the role of a U.S. senator whose daughter is kidnaped by terrorists.

Pot Agent Is Found To Inhibit Cancer

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — An agent in marijuana has retarded the growth of cancer in mice and researchers at the Medical College of Virginia are hopeful that it may be helpful in treating human cancer patients.

The findings were announced over the weekend by the Medical College of Virginia. The experiments are described in the new issue of "Science," the journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The researchers will present their findings Wednesday at a meeting of the American Society of Pharmacology and Experimental Theraputics in Montreal.

The college said: "Experimentation conducted ... demonstrated that marijuana's active molecule, delta-9THC, slowed the growth of lung tumors, a mammary tumor, and a virus induced leukemia, and significantly prolonged the life of the animals" inflicted with the illnesses.

The college said in experiments cancerous mice which were treated with high doses of delta-9THC lived 36 per cent longer than untreated mice. Mice treated with a powerful drug now in use as a treatment for human cancer, however, lived 48 per cent longer than untreated mice.

The experiments were conducted by MCV pharmacologists Richard A. Carchman, Marvin A. Friedman, and Albert E. Munson and graduate student Jeffrey A. Levy.

The researchers stressed their studies are still in the early stages and said furthur investigation will be necessary before the marijuana molecule may be used in human beings.

The researchers said implications of the discovery are so far reaching that years of research may stem from it.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Singular Man' Shows Practice

By GERALD GENESE

"A SINGULAR MAN" — a play in two acts by J.P. Donleavy; directed by Roy Buckman; lights designed by Robert Rosas; set design by Roy Buckman. The cast: First Actor, Sean O'Hara; George Smith, Robert Rosas; Sally Tomson, Kathy Stevens; Ann Martin, Deborah Cummings.

The Bolinas Company, which consists of four actors, a director, and a few technicians, rehearsed J. P. Donleavy's romantic black comedy, "A Singular Man," for a period of eight months, concentrated on character development for six months and for two months on the technical aspects of acting without props, lighting, sound and stage design. The result is very good.

"A Singular Man," will run one more weekend, Aug. 23, 24 at 8:30 p.m., at the Bolinas Community Center, Wharf Road, which is right in the center of town. Director Roy Buckman plans on bringing the show to other cities in Marin.

Donleavy, author of the novel, "The Ginger Man," has written a play about an exceptionally talented and successful businessman, George Smith (Robert Rosas), whose rule of thumb for success is, "Free the mind of emotional ingredients when looking for profits." As a result, George's real dilemma is to get these emotional ingredients back into his personal life, which is a disaster. George is a mid-20th Century, functioning schizoid.

Rosas gets off to a slow start but about halfway through the play he begins to sink his teeth into the role, and shows us the many aspects of this complicated man.

George does what many successful men do: spends and makes lots of money, manipulates people, enjoys and tortures himself at the same time, and has a number of disastrous extra-marital affairs.

George also does some very peculiar things. As the play begins he meets an old friend (Sean O'Hara) on Wall Street and his only responses to his friend's questions is a series of beeps. One beep for yes, and two beeps for no. He also communicates, on occasions, with his wife in this manner. A part of George's personality is becoming mechanical and automatonlike. The idea and its execution is very funny.

Aside from making money, George's favorite pastime is seducing his secretaries. Kathy Stevens as Sally Thompson, is George's first conquest. Miss Stevens is a beautiful and talented actress. Miss Stevens portrays her character as a direct, open, no nonsense, free spirit who knows what she wants, and says it.

She wants George, physically and emotionally. George wants Sally, but cannot bring himself to make the complete commitment to her. His milieu has forced him to separate his mind and feelings from his body.

After Sally quits her job, George immediately seduces his other secretary, Ann Martin (Deborah Cummings). In one of the funniest scenes in the play, Ann enters the office with a rifle. She has become pregnant, and is determined to have George make her an honest woman. How the scene is resolved is hilarious.

Miss Cummings is excellent as Ann, the zany, single girl in her midthirties who sees life slipping through her fingers because she is still tied to her mother's apron strings.

"A Singular Man," is a comedy, but ends on a bleak note. Not being able to penetrate George's defenses, Sally decides to marry another man, but the day before her marriage, she is killed in an automobile accident. Did she commit suicide?

Sean O'Hara who plays five characters is quite good with most of his roles, but has not yet grasped the handle on the Old Friend. It's a difficult scene, and I'm sure he will improve as time goes on. His waiter in the Beer and Bar Restaurant is excellent.

One of the most interesting aspects of this production is that no props are used. The actors simulate the props by gesture, drinking, for example, without glasses. Director Buckman, who has been influenced by Poland's Jerzy Grotowski, believes this exercise would aid the actors to get closer to themselves, and thus their roles. This was an admirable goal, but the end result was uneven. Too often the actions were not believable. With more performance time, the technique should work, and will be very interesting to watch.

MUSIC REVIEW

Horacio Gutierrez Concert Is Something To Remember

By PATRICK HURTADO

Horacio Gutierrez, the young Cuban-American pianist, gave a large, apparently grateful audience something to remember yesterday afternoon at Marin Veterans' Memorial Building.

Superb musicianship and virtuosic technique are wedded in this young man to create a performer possessing great brilliance of delivery enhanced by deeply moving musical insight. One rarely finds such a combination in an artist so young.

His virtuosity was undeniable, yet one beautifully molded musical line after another was offered carefully and thoughtfully. No matter how many thickly written textures lurked in the music, there was always enough clarity and light to see through them. No affected playing, or mushy pedal work, here!

The program opened with Beethoven's Sonata in A Major, Opus 2, Number 2. Here, Gutierrez used a light, somewhat percussive touch that carried the music well, if somewhat dryly, throughout most of the piece. His pedal work was minimal, giving a clear texture. He drew quite a different voice from the piano on this opening work than throughout the balance of the program.

The magnificent Sonata in B minor by Liszt was next. The performance was aweinspiring and could leave no one in doubt of Gutierrez's musical thrust. One overwhelmingly climactic phrase followed another, leaving one breathless and musically filled to capacity. His dynamic range was as astoundings as his pacing was superb.

The harsh, often biting Prokofiev Sonata No. 6 in A Major, Opus 82 was last on the schedule. Here one could easily focus on Guitierrez' phenominal technique, marvellous sense of rhythm and musical assurance. He matched the composer's slashing fragments of brilliant color stroke for stroke.

Gutierrez never showed the least bit of affectation. At all times during the recital, he offered carefully thought out music that was both exhilarating and very, very gratifying.

Two contrasting encores were given: The lyrical "October" by Tchaikowsky and the hair-raising last movement of Prokofiev's Seventh Sonata. The audience gave him an instantaneous standing ovation which was well-deserved.

This was the final concert in the series offered by the Marin Music Chest.

The young recipients of the Marin Music Chest scholarships were introduced before this magnificent young pianist began his program.

Marin Grid Stars Run Over Sonoma, 14-7

Richter Scores 2 Touchdowns

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Blasting through massive holes opened by the interior line, Marin fullback Mark Richter and his backfield buddies ran Sonoma to death, 14-7, Saturday night in the first Marin-Sonoma All-Star Bowl.

A slightly less than capacity crowd at San Rafael High's 3,000 seat stadium attended. Proceeds are earmarked for various charities and community activities in Marin.

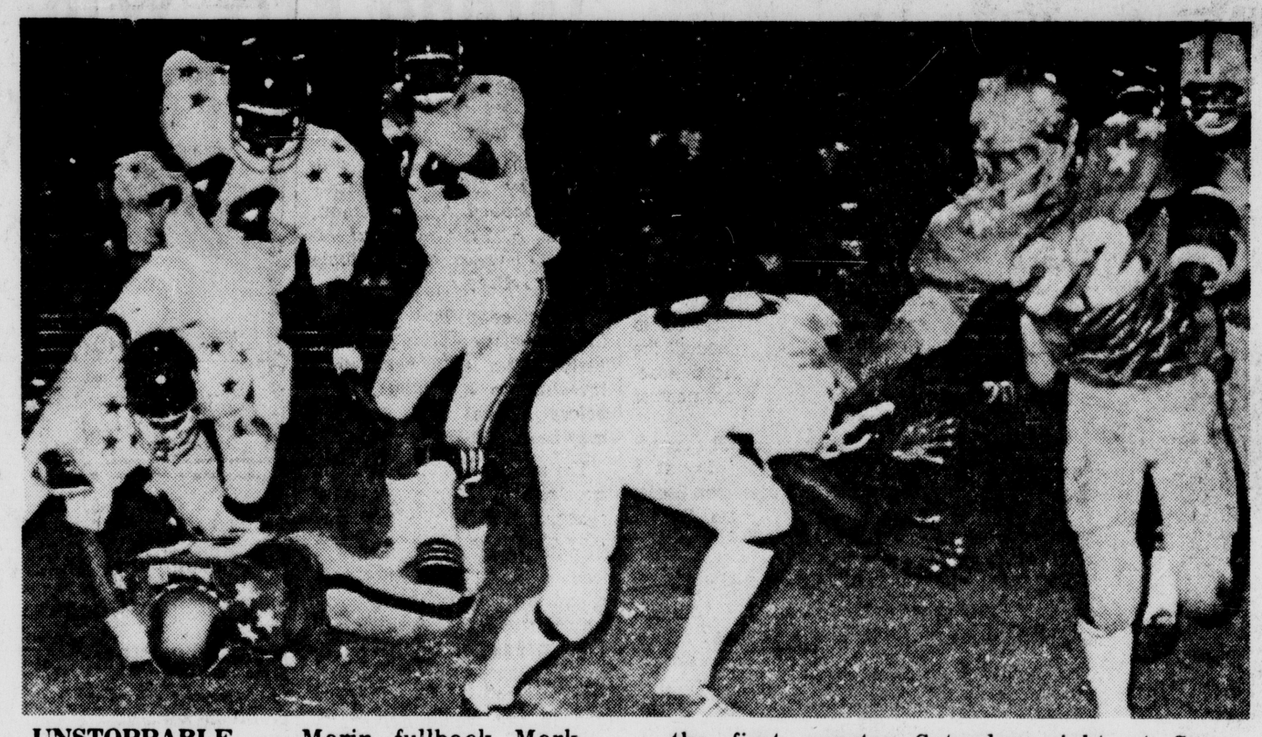
Despite being undersized and outweighed by the visitors from the North, Marin's best graduating seniors moved 'em out on offense and contained Sonoma's vaunted passing attack with ease.

"We knew we were going to be outweighed and that we'd have to get off the ball fast," Marin head coach Al Scott from Novato said afterward. "We also thought they'd be overagressive and come straight at us to try to intimidate us. So we ran a ton of traps and it worked."

Tackles Bruce Bollen of Terra Linda and Mike Tessin of Redwood, guards Ray Snell of Tamalpais and Doug Kern of Redwood and centers Warren Pino of Drake and Jim Schneider of Marin Catholic worked like a demolition crew to blow out the Sonoma line and spearhead a running attack that rolled up 213 yards.

Richter, from Redwood, accounted for 102 and both of Marin's touchdowns. "He's a back and a half," Scott boasted. "I only wish I had him on my team all year. A team with 11 players like him would be outlawed."

Richter opened the scoring with a seven-yard rush up the middle eo culminate a 13-play drive following the opening kickoff. The bruising fullback carried the ball six times for 46 yards in the 63-yard march.



UNSTOPPABLE — Marin fullback Mark Richter straight-armed Sonoma safety Ray Jones during a seven-yard touchdown run in the first quarter Saturday night at San Rafael High. Richter also scored Marin's second touchdown in a 14-7 win. (Photo by Ty Barbour)

Sonoma's only touchdown came in the second quarter; with less than two minutes gone, a bad snap on Marin's only punt attempt of the game gave the visitors the ball on the Marin 25. Quarterback Joel Faller of Cardinal Newman swept right end on a pretty keeper for the touchdown and Don Lucchessi of Rancho Cotate converted.

But the TD did nothing to change the game's momentum, and would be looked back upon as Sonoma's single brilliant moment.

The winning touchdown was cued by Drake's Corky Ingraham, who recovered a Sonoma fumble on the first play following the second-half kickoff. Richter, who spent the second quarter on the bench with stomach pains, recovered sufficiently to scramble 17 yards to score on the fourth play thereafter, and George Saunders of San Marin added his second extra point for 14-7.

Marin's defense limited Sonoma to five first downs and denied them a sustained drive until the dying minutes of the game. Even then the closest Sonoma could penetrate was the Marin 34.

Safety Dave Brazell of Novato keyed the lively Marin defensive secondary that was successful in keeping the ball out of the arms of Sonoma speedster Ray Jones of Rancho Cotate, Gil Proctor of Cardinal Newman and Gary Gomes of Montgomery. They caught just four passes among them.

Steve D'Ambra of San Rafael, Mark Lipe of Novato and Fred Adams of Tamalpais added 111 yards to Marin's running game; D'Ambra and Richter also starred at the corners on defense.

Games Are Sparsely Attended

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

After a weekend of sparsely attended National Football League preseason games, the empty seats may be filled tonight in a re-match of the 1974 Super Bowl finalists, the champion Miami Dolphins and the Minnesota Vikings. (The game will be televised at 6 o'clock on Channel 7.)

The host Dolphins anticipate the first sellout of the exhibition season in the television debut of Monday night football. Both coaches plan to start a large contingent of veterans, but Miami is given the edge since 34 Dolphin veterans were already in camp when the striking players association called a 14-day "cooling off" period beginning last Wednesday. The Vikings only had six veterans in camp at the time.

Although striking NFL players officially traded their picket signs for football equipment and reported to camp last Wednesday, few saw action in the 11 games played over the weekend.

Most coaches preferred to get a last look at rookies, free agents and marginal veterans while allowing their first-stringers to round themselves into shape.

Football fans, apparently uninterested in watching the rookies, stayed away from the stadiums in large numbers over the weekend.

In other games yesterday, Denver dropped San Francisco 10-3, Buffalo trimmed Washington 16-15 and New England hobbled New Orleans 7-3.

In Saturday's action, the New York Giants beat the New York Jets 21-13, Baltimore crushed Cleveland 37-3, Cincinnati nipped Falcons 13-7 in overtime, Dallas downed Houston 19-13 in overtime, Green Bay muzzled Chicago 20-10, Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 33-30 in overtime and Los Angeles drubbed Kansas City 58-16.

Bills 16, Redskins 15

John Leypoldt booted a 52-yard game-winning field goal as the gun sounded to carry the Bills to victory over the Redskins.

Cardinals 48, Chargers 14

It took the Cardinals 17 ½ minutes to get their initial first down, but they went from there to rout the Chargers after being sparked by halfback Terry Metcalf's 76-yard touchdown run in the second quarter.

Patriots 7, Saints 3

Sam Cunningham capped a 60-yard third period drive with a one-foot dive to give the Patriots a win over the Saints.

Giants 21, Jets 13

Rookie running back Doug Kotar scored on a 70-yard pass play and raced 13 yards for a second touchdown to lead the Giants over the rival Jets.

Colts 37, Browns 3

Veteran quarterback Marty Domres ran for one touchdown and directed the Colts to a victory over the Browns as Baltimore dominated the game from the time they scored their first touchdown on their third play from scrimmage.

Bengals 13, Falcons 7 OT

Rookie quarterback Wayne Clark passed 60 yards to first-year wide receiver John McDaniel for a touchdown in overtime to give the Bengals a victory over the Falcons.

Cowboys 19, Houston 13 OT

Roger Staubach threw a 23-yard touchdown pass to tie the game with 20 seconds left in regulation time, and then scurried two yards with five minutes gone in overtime to give the Cowboys a come-from-behind win over the Oilers.

Packers 20, Bears 10

The Packers spotted the Bears a 10-point lead early in the first half then rallied on the passing of three-year veteran Jerry Tagge and the catching of rookie back Eric Torkelson to win.

Steelers 33, Eagles 30 OT

Roy Gerela kicked a 19-yard field goal to give the Steelers a triumph over the Eagles after seven minutes and 33 seconds of overtime.

Rams 58, Chiefs 16

Veteran quarterback John Hadl and reserve Jim Harris alternated in guiding a veteran Ram team to a drubbing of the rookie-dominated Chiefs.

COME BACK HERE — Ron Carpenter of Cincinnati grabbed Falcon quarterback Bob Lee and brought him down for a loss early in the second quarter yesterday in Atlanta. The Bengals won the National Football League exhibition game, 13-7. (UPI Telephoto)

Players Reduce Demands

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leaders of the Players Association insisted yesterday they have reduced their "freedom issue" and economic demands to rock bottom in a new compromise bid to settle the marathon pro football dispute with the owners.

The National Football League Players Association made public at a yesterday news conference details of a 16-point, one-year contract package which has been submitted to the owners.

"We've compromised on every one of the freedom issues," Ed Garvey, executive director of the association, told newsmen. "This is the bottom limit we can recommend to our members."

Meanwhile, the seven player members of the union executive committee, who have been bargaining with the owners, were headed for their training camps. They were increasingly concerned that they might be jeopardizing their jobs by failing to report.

Most of the striking veterans reported last week when the union announced the 42-day-old strike was being lifted for a two-week "cooling off" period.

Bargaining talks under the supervision of chief federal mediator W. J. Usery Jr. were recessed late Saturday with an air of pessimism over prospects of a settlement. No further sessions are planned until later this week.

"The cooling off gesture by the players hasn't worked thus far," Garvey said yesterday, "even though the owners have been seriously hurt. The crowds at the preseason games are still down from last year. The moderate owners are going to have re-assess their position."

He announced the executive committee would meet a week from today and the player representatives from the 26 teams would convene Tuesday, Aug. 27, the day before the cooling off truce expires. The union reserves the right to call members out on strike again if the stalemate continues.

The major obstacle appears to hinge on a union proposal that a system be set up for outside arbitration to decide general player-club disputes. Commissioner Pete Rozelle would retain his full authority to rule on issues affecting "the integrity of the game."

The players disclosed they have jettisoned their demand for elimination of the "Rozelle rule," which allows the commissioner to set compensation when a team signs a player who has played out his option and becomes a free agent. The union noted, however, it would continue to challenge the Rozelle rule both in the courts and in Congress.

AMERICA'S CUP

Mariner Given Further Changes

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Mariner, whose stern sections below the water line were rebuilt last month, has undergone further alterations to improve its performance during the final America's Cup trials.

An inch was lopped off the trailing edge of her rudder and a strip measuring seven inches at its base was added to the leading edge of the rudder to make Mariner easier to handle.

The alterations, completed during an off-day in competition yesterday, underwent their first test when Mariner faced Intrepid today as trials resumed off Newport.

Courageous faced Valiant in the other race of the day.

Courageous' crew looked at three mainsails during a two-hour session and then returned to the dock, where a number of minor modifications on the yacht were made.

Intrepid stayed at the dock yesterday and workmen were busy installing new spreader clips — metal plates used for bolting the spreaders onto the mast.

While the yachts were undergoing changes, the New York Yacht Club Race committee, acting as a protest committee, was changing the standings in the battle to determine who will represent the United States in the America's Cup races next month.

The committee disqualified Courageous for an alleged right-of-way violation before the start of her race with Mariner last Friday.

The committee also disqualified Mariner for another right-of-way violation which occurred before the start of her race with Intrepid the same day.

The decisions left Intrepid and Mariner with official won-lost records of 3-1 for the final trials. Courageous is 2-2 and Valiant is 0-4.

The French yacht France and the Australian yacht Southern Cross also sailed yesterday for crew training and sail evaluation. Those two yachts will begin their best-of-seven series Thursday to decide which of them will challenge for the America's Cup.

Italian Club To State Tourney

The Italian Athletic Club of Corte Madera beat previously undefeated Fortuna, 4-3 on Saturday, and to prove it was no fluke beat them again yesterday, 5-1 to win the Joe DiMaggio League regional tournament at Novato High School.

Pitchers Ed Andersen and Mark Ruggles turned in back-to-back complete game performances as the Marin representative earned a berth in the state tournament beginning Wednesday in San Jose.

Shortstop Gary Latorre, the tourney's most valuable player, figured in the winning rallies of both games. He had six hits in three games, including a pair of triples in a 13-0 win over McKinleyville Friday.

In Saturday's other games, Fortuna defeated Sebastapol, 2-1 in 11 innings after Sebastapol trimmed McKinleyville, 12-2.

Latorre's second hit of the game scored Andersen with the winning run in the top of the final inning Saturday. It was the first loss for Fortuna after 22 wins this year.

The Italian Club broke open the final game with a five-hit, four-run rally in the bottom of the third. Four of the hits were singles, and Latorre doubled. Ruggles spun a four-hitter.

An unsung hero of the tournament was pitcher Dave Steele of San Rafael, who played for Sebastapol. He pitched a four-hitter against Fortuna in a losing cause Friday, then came back on Saturday to work the last five innings of the extra-inning game against them. He gave up just one hit, but lost in the 11th when he walked in the winning run.

"He just ran out of gas," tournament director Art Thompson said.

Italian Club faces San Francisco in the state tourney opener Wednesday at 2:30 at the PAL Sports Center in San Jose.

RANDY GRADISHAR

Denver Rookie A Tired Hero

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rookie Randy Gradishar admitted he was tired and barely managed to stumble into the end zone with an 82-yard pass interception return.

The interception and touchdown by the rookie linebacker came with 3:52 left in yesterday's game and pushed the Denver Broncos to a 10-3 preseason victory over the San Francisco 49ers.

"I'm not really fast, but I had lots of blocking," said Gradishar, a No. 1 draft choice from Ohio State. "A guy tripped me at the end and I just stumbled in."

Gradishar said he had dropped back into his position for a zone defense, cut in behind wide receiver Steve McElravy and the Tom Owen pass fell into his hands.

The 49ers netted 275 yards to the Broncos 181 and had 16 first downs to Denver's 11, but three key interceptions of Owen passes sealed San Francisco's fate.

San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan said he was pleased with the 49ers running game. He noted that Manfred Moore gained 41 yards in nine carries and rookie Roy Snell gained 50 yards in eight tries.

San Francisco scored in the second quarter on a 19-yard field goal by Bruce Gossett. That was matched in the third quarter when Bill Schumaker kicked a 45-yarder through the posts to tie the score 3-3.

The 49ers were driving for a tie-breaking score when Gradishar made the game-winning interception and touchdown for the Broncos.

NO PLAY — Al Kaline of Detroit slid safely across the plate while A's catcher Gene Tenace and umpire Marty Springstead watched a play at second base yesterday in the first inning at Oakland. The Tigers went on to win Saturday, 4-3.

Younger Players Threat To Vets

OAKLAND (UPI) — The players' strike may already have taken its toll among veterans on the Oakland Raiders.

The strike gave an unusually large crop of younger players a chance to perform in three winning exhibition games and now there is a strong possibility that as many as six to eight youngsters will make the final squad.

For years, the Raiders have relied on a system that keeps bringing in young talent and discarding older and marginal players. For instance, over the past two seasons the Raiders have kept 20 rookies.

The brightest star thus far in a 3-0 exhibition season, including a 42-10 rout of the Detroit Lions Friday night, is running back Harold Hart.

"Hart's chances of making the team are real good," said Coach John Madden. "There have been times when I thought we hadn't gained anything on a play and somehow Hart got us five yards."

Other rookies who have fared well to date include such high draft picks as Henry Lawrence, Dave Casper and Mark van Eeghen. The latter ran more than 60 yards for a score on a fake punt play against Detroit.

Chances are the four aforementioned rookies might have made the team anyway, but the strike of veteran players gave them more opportunities than usual to show their stuff.

Other rookies with good performances thus far include Blenda Gay, Nike Dennery and Chris Arnold. Arnold, a defensive back, returned an intercepted pass 51 yards for a score against Detroit.

Never Any Harmony On A's—Even When Winning

OAKLAND (UPI) — There never is any harmony on the Oakland A's, even when they win.

Yesterday they jumped Joe Coleman and Jim Ray for 12 hits in a 13-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers, but back in the clubhouse winning pitcher Ken Holtzman was sulking.

For a change, Holtzman's teammates had given him a little support, but that wasn't enough to change what was bothering him.

In the fifth inning, Holtzman stopped a liner off the bat of Johnny Wockenfuss on the back of his right leg. He recovered in time to make the putout and seemingly was all right. But in the top of the sixth, after the A's had given Holtzman a 4-1 edge, Angel Mangual dropped a fly ball in center with two out and the Oakland lefthander was taken out immediately by Manager Alvin Dark.

"I couldn't believe he was coming out to replace me," said Holtzman. "The only thing he said to me was 'nice pitching.'"

A little later, Holtzman found out he won't be pitching again until next Sunday. That really upset him.

"I know he's (Dark) trying to line up the pitching so that Vida (Blue) and the Cat (Jim Hunter) can pitch against Kansas City on Sept. 9," Holtzman said. "I don't blame him for that. He should have his two best pitchers ready for the challenging team, but you can't foresake the rest of the staff for that kind of an accomodation."

Dark's explanation of the "affair Holtzman" was:

"After Kenny was hit," said Dark, "he sat on the bench a long time while we were scoring two runs. In that situation, the longer he sat the tighter his leg would become where he got hit. I made up my mind he would not pitch more than one more inning no matter what.

"Sometimes when a pitcher gets hit in the leg like that, subconsciously he starts to favor an arm or a shoulder and then he could hurt himself real bad. I didn't want that to happen."

As for holding Holtzman out a week until his next start, Dark said he wants to give Ken a breather.

"Next Sunday he will start against the Red Sox in Boston," said Dark. "He never has pitched well against Boston and I want to see if a long rest makes a difference. My thinking has something to do with the fact we might be facing Boston in the playoffs."

As for yesterday's game, it was only 4-3 when the A's put the game away with nine unearned runs in the eighth off a tired Joe Coleman. Errors by the usually reliable Aurelio Rodriguez and Ed Brinkman set up the big inning and Reggie Jackson and Gene Tenace made it possible with matching three-run homers. Saturday, it was Reggie Jackson's Day at the Oakland Coliseum, but the Tigers edged te A's, 4-3.

ZELTWIG, Austria — Argentina's Carlos Reutemann said today his victory in the Austrian Grand Prix yesterday "came too late to take part in the battle for the world title.

AFTER CARDS SWEEP

Sagging Giants To Visit Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The sagging San Francisco Giants, who now have lost three straight games, hope to reverse the trend tonight in the first of three games here against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Giants' lost yesterday 4-1 to the division-leading St. Louis Cardinals, who now have won four straight. The Cards topped S.F. Saturday night, 5-3.

The competition won't be any easier for the Giants tonight, as the Pirates trail St. Louis by only 2½ games. In fact, the Giants have won only one of six encounters with the Pirates this season.

The Giants have had only one winning road trip this season, back in May. They need to sweep three from the Pirates to come out ahead this time, 7-5, before returning home on Friday.

Ed Halicki (16) or Jim Barr (10-6) will start on the mound tonight for San Francisco against the Pirates' Jim Rooker, 8-9.

In winning yesterday, the Cards received five-hit pitching from left-hander John Curtis, 7-11, and an unexpected bonus from Curtis' bat.

His team held a 2-0 lead when the 26-year-old Curtis delivered a two-run single in the sixth inning that helped topple the Giants' Tom Bradley, 7-11.

"Bradley struck me out with fast balls the first two times up," noted Curtis, who had fanned 23 of 44 previous times at bat.

"I think he sort of semi-piped one," added Curtis, whose hit scored Bake McBride and Tim McCarver. "All I was looking for was the fast ball. You like to be able to help yourself out."

The Giants scored their only run in the eighth on a sacrifice fly by Tito Fuentes.

WILLIAM L. SCOTT

Racial Bias Alleged In D.C. Hiring

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department says it lacks the authority to investigate allegations that the offices of 19 congressmen and Sen. William L. Scott, R-Va., practiced racial and religious discrimination against job applicants.

In a copyrighted story published yesterday by The Fort Worth (Tex.) Star-Telegram, it was alleged that job orders sent from the lawmakers' offices to the Congressional Placement Office contained such demands as "no minorities," "white only," "no blacks" and "no Catholics."

Several of the lawmakers issued strong denials of the story.

Scott, a first-term senator who resides in Virginia's populous Washington suburbs, said his staff was all white, but denied discriminating against minorities.

"In our office we do not have any colored people. Our entire staff is white," Scott said. "But we'd be pleased to consider and have considered people of minority races. We want to get the best possible people. At no time have I suggested to any member of my staff or the personnel office that we didn't want to consider members of minority races."

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., whose office was also named in the story, said in Portland, Ore., that he was considering a lawsuit against the newspaper.

"It's absolutely irresponsible news reporting," Ullman said. "I have a totally open policy on hiring and my staff knows it."

Republican's Wife Blasts Rockefeller

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Bettie Duryea, wife of the speaker of the New York assembly, says Nelson Rockefeller, reportedly high on President Ford's list of possible vice presidential appointees, is not fit to be dogcatcher.

She made the remark in telegrams to Ford and Senate and House leaders. Her husband, Perry B. Duryea, a Republican, won't reveal how he feels about the former New York governor, but said his wife had the right to speak her mind.

ALMANAC

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Today is Monday, August 19th, the 231st day of 1974 with 134 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

American elder statesman Bernard Baruch was born August 19th, 1870.

Also on this day in history:

In 1915, two Americans were killed when a German U-boat torpedoed the British liner "Arabic" in the Atlantic Ocean.

In 1955, the worst flood to hit the northeastern states killed 200 persons and destroyed or damaged 20 thousand homes.

In 1960, U-2 spy plane pilot Francis Gary Powers was convicted in a Moscow court and sentenced to 10 years in prison. He was released 18 months later and exchanged for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

In 1966, a 44-day U-S airline strike ended after having cost one and one-half billion dollars.

A thought for the day: American statesman Bernard Baruch said "America has never forgotten. . . and will never forget. . . the nobler things that brought her into being and that light her path."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When This Hand Ends You'll Be Triumphant Or Crestfallen

You might get this very sort of hand the next time you sit down to play bridge. Stranger things have happened. If so, when the hand comes to an end, will you be triumphant or crestfallen?

Opening lead – ♡ Q

You win the first trick with the ace of hearts and notice that you will probably need the spade finesse to take nine tricks. First, however, you plan to run six club tricks to put the opponents under pressure.

You therefore lead a club to dummy's queen, and East discards the seven of spades. "No clubs?" you ask him. Whereupon both opponents smirk at you.

The vital question now is: Which club did you lead? If you led the four of clubs at the second trick, you will look down at the table and complain about bad breaks.

But suppose you were clever enough to have led the eight of clubs to dummy's queen. You finesse with the queen of spades, holding your breath, and find that it wins the trick. So far, so good.

Next you lead the ten of clubs. West must cover with the jack, and you win with dummy's king. Back with the ace of spades and now you lead the four of clubs. West plays low and you win in dummy with the seven of clubs. Finally, you can lead out the ace of clubs, and the rest is easy.

You are not so happy if your first club was the four to dummy's queen. West will later cover the ten of clubs with the jack but he will not cover the eight of clubs. You will have to win the third club trick in your own hand, therefore, and the rest of the suit will not come in.

You open with one spade, and partner bids two clubs. You then bid two notrump, and partner bids three clubs.

Opponents pass, and it is up to you again, holding:

♠ - A Q 6 5 2
♥ - A 9
♦ - K 5 4
♣ - 10 8 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Partner shows a good club suit but a bad hand, such as six clubs to K-Q-J and nothing else. Get out while the getting is good.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Good Investments For Retirement

By ROGER E. SPEAR
and
DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. I plan to retire at 60, two years from now. I own: BankAmerica (OTC), Eastman Kodak (NYSE), International Business Machines (NYSE), Charles Pfizer (NYSE), Affiliated Fund and Price Growth Fund. What action should I take now or at retirement to realize the greatest return? I also have $20,000 in savings and $9,000 in E bonds. R.C.

A. Your two mutual funds are high-quality growth funds which should certainly be held until your retirement. Affiliated's portfolio is 60 per cent invested in oil and oil service companies, chemicals and steels — all of which were top earnings performers in the first half of 1974. At retirement you could exchange Affiliated for Lord Abbett Bond-Debenture Fund (yielding 9 per cent currently) in order to maximize your income. While Price Growth has been less successful in outperforming the averages recently, its long-term record remains excellent. Portfolio holdings should rebound at least as well as the market in any recovery move. At retirement exchange for Price New Income Fund now yielding an indicated rate of 8 per cent.

When your E bonds mature, this money could be used to buy marketable Treasury Bonds. The most recently offered bonds, maturing May 1999, carry an 8½ per cent coupon rate. As to your common stock portfolio BankAmerica recently boosted its dividend rate to $1.48 annually, for a current yield of 5 per cent. The 16.6 per cent increase in net operating earnings reported for the first half of 1974 was well in excess of the company's compound annual average rate of 10 per cent. Now trading at eight times estimated 1974 net, shares are rated a buy for long term. Despite a 3 per cent drop in Eastman's six-month earnings, full-year earnings should at least equal the $4.05 reported for 1973. Again, this issue is an attractive long-range buy. IBM is a strong buy recommendation at the current level, which is within touching distance of its four-year low price, despite record earnings estimated for the year. Pfizer shares are also rated as a buy for long-term appreciation.

Benefit Begun By Restaurant

Local McDonald's restaurants, hoping to top last year's donation of $7883 to the Muscular Dystrophy Association, have embarked on the second annual Cookiethon. During the nine-day drive ending Sunday, McDonald's is donating the total net proceeds from McDonaldland Cookie sales to support important research and patient care.

With the addition of two extra days to this year's fund drive, local McDonald's operators and managers are optimistic about the possibility of raising $10,000.

Stocks Fall As Cyprus Fears Rise

NEW YORK (UPI) — The slaying of the U.S. Ambassador to Cyprus sent stock prices tumbling today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was light.

Several hours before the market opened, a Greek Cypriot mob attacked the U.S. Embassy in Nicosia, killing U.S. Ambassador Roger Davies. The attack unsettled an already jittery market, which lost a total of 45.76 points last week.

The shooting of the Ambassador raised investors' fears that the tension on the island may spread. In recent days Greece has been torn by anti-American demonstrations, and the Greek government apparently is concerned the demonstrators will turn their violence to the new regime.

Among blue chip stocks, General Motors fell ⅝. The nation's biggest automaker said it would not roll back a planned 10 per cent increase on its 1975 models despite pressure from the Ford administration.

Also in the blue chip sector, Exxon lost 2 ⅛ and Eastman Kodak 1 ⅝. International Paper dropped 1 on news it was sweetening its bid for control of General Crude Oil Co.

On the American Exchange, stocks fell in light trading.

WARM WELCOME — Thousands upon thousands of persons turned out this morning to give President Gerald Ford a tumultuous welcome to Chicago, where he addressed the 75th annual convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. U.S. Ambassador To Cyprus Slain At Embassy Door

NICOSIA (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador Rodger P. Davies was shot to death at the door of his office today by gunmen who stormed the American embassy in Nicosia under cover of a riot by hundreds of Greek Cypriots protesting American failure to stop the Turkish invasion.

Cyprus President Glafkos Clerides said a U.S. Marine guard and a woman embassy employees were also killed by the gunmen armed with automatic weapons and wearing the military-type uniforms of the EOKA-B, the Cypriot guerrilla force which backs the union of Cyprus with Greece.

"The American ambassador has been shot dead," Clerides told a news conference. He called it a "henious crime" and rushed to the embassy in a vain attempt to help.

State Department spokesman Paul Hare said in Washington that Davis, a career foreign service officer, died of gunshot wounds in the chest fired from an automatic weapon.

In Washington, President Ford expressed shock at the shooting.

In Athens, Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis condemned it and said it will only add to Greece's problems over Cyprus. Anti-American demonstrations also have been held in various Greek cities.

In Ankara, Turkish Foreign Minister Turan Gunes said the killing helped to justify Turkey's military offensives on the island.

"Such brutalities can always be expected to come from Greeks," Gunes said. "This murder once more shows to all the world how right Turks were in understanding the military action on Cyprus."

Davies, 53, had arrived in Cyprus only a week before the crisis on the Mediterranean island blew up July 15 following the pro-Greek coup which ousted President Archbishop Makarios.

The attack on the embassy took place under cover of a wild demonstration by more than 700 Greek Cypriots to protest the failure of the United States to halt the Turkish invasion of Cyprus.

U.S. Marine guards fired over the heads of the demonstrators and Greek Cypriot police used tear gas in efforts to hold the mob back from the embassy.

The demonstrators burned an effigy of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, shouting: "Kissinger! Kissinger! Get your Turkish friends to help you now!"

They also set fire to at least five cars in the embassy compound. The cars exploded when the flames reached the fuel tanks, spewing out thick clouds of smoke.

They tore down the American flag and set it on fire, screaming "Burn them down, as they burned Cyprus down!"

Shooting broke out. Automatic weapons were used. At least one hand grenade was thrown. Greek Cypriot policemen hurled tear gas grenades.

But the mob pressed on, chanting anti-American slogans and waving banners reading "Murderers, your mask has fallen!" and "NATO murderers of Cyprus!"

Gunmen opened fire at the embassy building. The demonstrators cheered. The Marine guards inside the embassy fired over the heads of the crowd. At the answering shots, most of the crowd broke and ran.

In the confusion the gunmen stormed the embassy building, killing the Marine guard at the entrance, Davies and a stenographer tentatively identified as Antonietta Varnava, 32.

Clerides, who was holding a news conference when the riot erupted, sped to the embassy. He went into the building wearing a gas mask as protection against the tear gas.

At the same time, embassy staff members put Davies' body on a deck chair and carried it to a Land Rover. As the vehicle started started through the gate, Clerides went to help. He grabbed the back of the vehicle, which went tearing out of the compound with Clerides hanging onto the back.

Police reinforcements rushed up and with tear gas and small arms fire forced the demonstrators away from the building. As they went they set fire to a six-story building alongside the battered embassy.

Witnesses said United Nations armored personnel carriers driven by Canadian troops tried to reach the embassy building, but were pelted by stones and bottles thrown by the mob.

Eventually the UN vehicles reached the rear entrance of the compound and managed to evacuate the rest of the embassy staff.

Ford Seeks To Aid Draft Evaders

CHICAGO (UPI) — President Ford said today he cannot support an unconditional blanket amnesty for "anyone who illegally" escaped military service but said he had asked top Cabinet members to determine how such persons can work their way back into American society.

"As I reject amnesty, so I reject revenge," Ford told the 75th convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He said he has asked the Justice Department to look into the question of amnesty for Vietnam deserters and means to study such cases on an individual basis.

"I requested the attorney general of the United States and the secretary of defense to report to me personally before Sept. 1 on the status of some 50,000 of our countrymen" who have been described as deserters or draft dodgers, Ford said.

"I will then decide how to best decide on the future penalties that will fit the individual cases," Ford said. "I want them to come home if they want to work their way back."

He said "these young Americans should have a second chance" to reenter society in "a new atmosphere of hope, hard work and mutual trust."

President Ford used his speech before the veterans to stress his concern with problems facing the fighting men of previous wars and said he would nominate former Rep. Richard Roudebush to revitalize the much-criticized Veterans Adminstration.

Ford's first out of town trip as President was marred by the news that U.S. Ambassador to Cyprus Rodger Davies was shot to death by anti-American rioters in Nicosia. Ford expressed his shock and said he was "deeply saddened."

When he announced the death at the VFW meeting, it was clear many of the delegates had not previously heard about Davies' death. Ford's words were greeted with moans and groans and shouts of "Oh, no!"

"This tragic incident emphasizes the urgent need for the end to the violence on Cyprus and an immediate return to negotiations for a peaceful settlement," Ford said.

In his speech, Ford promised that "during my administration the door of my office will be open to veterans as it was in the Capitol."

"The veteran is a human being and not just a 'C' number to be processed by a computer system," Ford said. "The government knew your name when you were called to service. This administration is going to see to it that we still know your name and your problems."

Ford's choice of Roudebush, a former Indiana congressman, to head the VA was widely expected and had the backing of most major veterans organizations. Criticism of VA inefficiency from those organizations forced Donald Johnson to resign as head of the agency about two months ago.

Roudebush has been Johnson's deputy at the VA. Earlier he served in the House as a GOP representative from Indiana before failing to win a 1972 bid for the Senate.

Ford said he was "deeply concerned" about continuing high unemployment among former servicemen, especially those who served in Vietnam, and expressed determination to improve various assistance programs, particularly those involving education and medical care for the disabled.

"This adminstration puts a high priority on aiding the men who bore the brunt of battle," he said. "If we can send men thousands of miles from home to fight in rice paddies, certainly we can send them back to school and to better jobs at home."

But the President gave no

Sierra Club May Sue The EPA

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Sierra Club today threatened to take the Environmental Protection Agency to court to prevent contamination of rural air quality.

The club charged that the EPA, in regulations announced last Friday, would allow states to set air quality standards less stringent than federal standards in rural areas where there is now little smog.

"Areas like Sonoma and Humboldt Counties would be allowed to have smog like we have in the Bay Area," said Larry E. Moss, the club's conservation director.

The EPA proposals would let states decide how clean their air should be based on the need for industrial and economic development, according to EPA Director John R. Quarles in announcing the standards last week.

Sirica Turns Down Any Delay In Watergate Coverup Trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today rejected motions for a delay in the Watergate cover-up trial and said it will begin Sept. 9 as scheduled.

"There is no better time to try this case than the present time," Sirica said at the end of a one-hour, 50 minute hearing.

Attorneys for former White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman immediately appealed Sirica's ruling. Ehrlichman's lawyer, Andrew C. Hall, said he would take the case to the Supreme Court if necessary.

In making his ruling, Sirica said the coverup case was not like a rape or murder case "that arouses passion, anger and hatred."

Sirica said he would hold court sessions from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for the first month of the trial, and if it were not moving fast enough to his satisfaction, would hold sessions until later in the evening in order to complete it before Christmas.

Lawyers for the defendants — six aides or associates of former President Nixon — asked that the trial be delayed until next year because of the publicity surrounding Nixon's resignation.

William Hundley, who is representing former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, said during a hearing on the motions to delay the trial that the House Judiciary's Committee's impeachment debate and the "forced resignation" of President Nixon, had created publicity that required a postponement of the trial.

"The publicity already has died down," Sirica said. "You can pick up the Washington Post and can't hardly find a Watergate story."

Sirica asked the group of defense lawyers whether they expected him to be the judge of when the climate would be right for a trial, and they replied yes.

"I think it's right, right now," Sirica said.

"Why?" one of them asked.

"You don't have any (impeachment) debate coming up in the House, you don't have any Senate trial coming up," Sirica said.

Sirica asked that the lawyers what they felt would be a reasonable period of delay and each replied "at least the first of the year."

Four Petalumans Found Dead In Camper Wreckage

I-J Special Report

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. — Four Petaluma residents and a Union City man were found dead yesterday in the wreckage of a pickup-camper 15 miles east of here.

The Arizona Highway Patrol identified the Petaluma victims as Jack V. Almquist, 33; Jack A. Almquist, 9, and Cindy Jean Almquist, 5, and Mary Frances Carpenter, 21, all of 61 Straub Lane. The fifth victim was Larry D. Reid, 38, of Union City.

Patrolmen said the pickup, driven by one of the men, struck a guardrail on Interstate 40, careened into Canyon Padre. Investigators said they had been unable to determine when the accident occurred.

The group left Petaluma Friday at about 9 p.m. to visit Almquist's father in Texas. The two children joined their father for the trip. They are survived by their mother, Muriel Almquist of Santa Rosa.

Almquist was a landscaper and a champion pool player. He had resided in Petaluma for the past eight years.

Loose Cylinder Closes Reactor

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (UPI) — A research reactor at Oak Ridge National Laboratory remained shut down today while technicians puzzled over how to retrieve a cylinder of radioactive U235 from one of the reactor system's three water pumps.

The cylinder, used in preparing radio isotopes for medical purposes, broke loose Friday from a position near the core of the reactor.

It was swept through the cooling system of the reactor by water under pressure to the pumphouse, where radiation detectors sounded an alarm.

No workers were exposed to radiation, but some offices near the pumphouse were evacuated Friday.

Welfare Payers' Refund Is Passed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation providing $6.7 million in refunds to persons who contributed to support their welfare parents under the state's "responsible relatives" program has passed the Senate.

The measure (SB1666) by Sen. Walter W. Stiern, D-Bakersfield, would repay those "children" who followed the law and paid an increased amount between 1971-73.

Three More Cotati Residents File For Open Council Seats

Three more Cotati residents have applied for appointment to the city council, bringing to five the number of persons who have volunteered to fill two seats vacated by Stephen Laughlin and Annette Lombardi after being arrested Aug. 7 on suspicion of removing confiscated marijuana plants from the city police department.

Applicants filing Friday were Frank Dolinsek, Donna Piotrkowski and John Darragh.

Under instructions from City Mgr. Robert A. Switzer, city officials refused to devulge more information about the applicants. Efforts to reach Switzer for an explanation were unsuccessful.

Dolinsek, a local begonia grower, is a former councilman who resigned last fall after he and Darragh, among others, participated in an unsuccessful attempt to recall three young council members, among them Laughlin and Miss Lombardi.

Miss Piotrkowski, a city planning commissioner, is a former College of Marin student body president and McGovern delegate to the 1972 Democratic National Convention, and is generally regarded as an ally of the younger council faction.

Also seeking appointment are Jon Lyons and David Oliva, a sergeant in the San Anselmo Police Department.

The council will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow to determine whether to appoint new members or hold a special election.

While no decision has been reached on possible prosecution of the two former councilmen for destruction of evidence, Sonoma County Dist. Atty. John Hawkes said today he "kind of assumes" they will face criminal charges of some sort.

Hawkes said he has not yet completed his review of the case. A decision may be announced tomorrow, he told the Independent-Journal.

The purloined pot had been confiscated from a home shared by Planning Commissioner Eve Kitchen and five other persons, police said, and the two councilmen were said to have taken a dozen of the plants after a city council meeting.

Miss Lombardi and Laughlin said the incident was a prank. They were going to plant the evidence in the city plaza, they mainted.

Lt. Calley's Bail Bid Is Denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a one word decision, Supreme Court Justice Lewis F. Powell, Jr. today denied bail to former Lt. William L. Calley, Jr., who had sought release from prison while his attorneys appeal his murder conviction through the civilian courts.

The Supreme Court said Powell's decision contained only one word: "Denied."

Calley's case has gone to the top of the military justice system and his conviction has been upheld all along the way. He is now serving a 10-year sentence at the prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., for killing at least 22 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai in 1968.

JANKO UPHOLSTERY

IN THE AFTERMATH — Fireman hose down the interior of one of the numerous shops and offices badly damaged when a massive explosion tore through an industrial area of Los Angeles late Saturday. Although a full city block was demolished by the blast, only a few injuries were reported.

Factory Blast Not Work Of The 'Alphabet Bomber'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A wave of telephoned bomb threats rippled throughout the city yesterday, one day after police ruled out the possibility that the "alphabet bomber" caused a devastating chemical explosion in an industrial district.

Police evacuated the Delta, Pacific Southwest Airlines and Hughes Air West passenger terminals at the Los Angeles International Airport yesterday after receiving telephone calls of planted bombs.

The evacuation was a precautionary measure, spurred by a bomb explosion at the Pan American passenger terminal at the airport Aug. 6 that killed three persons and wounded 35 others.

The Greyhound bus terminal, where a police bomb squad found a planted bomb in a locker Friday night, was also evacuated during the day after police received a call that another bomb had been planted there.

No bombs were found at the airport or the bus station.

Police said hamburger stands, newspaper offices, sporting arenas and theaters were also targets of bomb hoaxes.

The Saturday explosion at a trucking company injured five persons and caused an estimated $5 million damage. Early speculation was that the "alphabet bomber," a man who telephoned police and took credit for bombing the airport and planting the bomb at the bus station, had struck again. But police later ruled this out.

The bomber identified himself as "Isaac Rasim," self-professed "chief military officer" of "Aliens of America." He has threatened to "spell out in blood across America" the lettered sequence of his organization to press demands for repeal of all immigration laws.

Rasim's first target was the airport, representing the letter "A" in the word "aliens." His second was a locker at the bus terminal for the letter "L" in the word.

Rasim had threatened a bombing yesterday, supposedly to represent the letter "i," but later called a newspaper and said he was postponing it.

The Fire Department ruled out Rasim's connection with the trucking company blast, saying it was caused by enzoyl peroxide, a flammable chemical that may have leaked from plastic containers. But even so, the Police Department sent out 1,000 extra officers to scour the city for a possible bombing.

The explosion occurred as a jittery city of more than 3 million persons was bracing for the threatened bomb blast yesterday by Rasim. Low attendance at some Southern California events yesterday was blamed on the bomb threats.

Farm Belt Drought Is Ended, But Damage Is Already Done

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The long-awaited rains have fallen over the drought parched midlands, rattling through the dried-and-yellowed leaves of what was to be a bumper corn crop but producing little more than mud on the heat-cracked farmland.

The great drought of 1974 appears to have ended with the rainfall, but consumers and farmers may have to live with its effects for years to come.

In many parts of the corn belt, the rains were too late to help the crops —in some cases the rain just made things tougher.

The full effect of the drought, which some experts call the worst since the Dust Bowl days of the 1930s, have yet to come to light. But thus far it is clear that the drought will be felt around the world.

Crop production, livestock feed supplies and farm incomes will be down sharply. Farm production and supermarket items will be in short supply and cost more.

Crop and livestock losses are estimated at more than $10 billion.

The five-state corn belt was savegly scorched, cutting into grains for food and ivestock feed.

The U.S. Agriculture Department's hopes for a bumper crop have been dashed. The USDA reported last week that the corn crop would be five billion bushels less than projected, a drop of 25 per cent. Soybeans were down 16 per cent and livestock feed grains in general dwindled by 15 per cent.

But many state agriculture experts and dirt farmers feel even those figures are wishful.

Ironically, meat prices are likely to fall for a while as hard-hit cattlemen feed their livestock on grass instead of corn and unload the animals at the markets in hopes of breaking even.

But meat from such cattle will "make damn good hamburger and that's about all," according to Illinois Agriculture Director Robert Williams.

"Maybe in a year, we're going to have a red meat shortage that may take us three years to work out of," Williams added.

Experts voiced serious concern as to the drought's possible effects on the nation's economy —and even U.S. foreign policy.

U.S. aid to famine-stricken nations may not be at the levels officials would like, according to Clifton R. Wharton Jr., president of Michigan State University and chairman of Congress' new Food Advisory Panel.

"What will be the adequay of available food stocks to meet famine conditions? There's no question but that we are down. We don't have the reserve we used to," Wharton said.

The dismal crop reports were an "economic bombshell" dropped into the lap of President Ford, said Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.

"The potential to contribute to spiraling inflation is tremendous," Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., agreed.

As for the American consumer, government experts agreed that food prices would remain stable for the rest of this year, but that increases could be expected in 1975.

ABC Receives Nominations

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The American Broadcasting Co. television network was nominated 12 times for Emmy Awards for news and documentary programs and broadcasters for the 1973-74 season, the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences announced today.

There were 40 possible nominations.

ABC previously had received 28 of 64 nominations in the crafts categories as well as religious and children's programming.

ABC's series, "ABC-TV News Close-up," received three nominations, with one each going to "Fire!" "Oil: The Policy Crisis" and "Culture Thieves." Another triple winner was "ABC Evening News with Howard K. Smith and Harry Reasoner." Reasoner was also named for outstanding television news broadcaster.

Rains Flood Four Asian Countries

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Floods spawned by unusually heavy monsoon rains ravaged at least four countries in Asia today. U.S. military helicopters joined in massive relief operations for more than half a million refugees in waterlogged plains north of the Philippine capital of Manila.

Also affected by flooding in a 2,000-mile stretch across east Asia were Bangladesh, adjoining eastern parts of India, and Thailand.

In the Philippines, floods caused by week-long monsoon rains have killed 36 persons, mostly by drowning, and forced evacuation of 563,285 persons in a disaster zone covering 13 provinces and the metropolitan Manila area, Red Cross officials said.

In the Bangladesh capital of Dacca, Prime Minister Sheikh Mujibur Rahman blamed Pakistan for neglecting flood control when his country was Pakistan's eastern wing.

"All of you know that in the past when thousands of people used to die in storms and floods in Bangladesh, Pakistani rulers used to say that this was a natural calamity and there was nothing they could do about it," Mujib said.

"The fact is that in 25 years they had done nothing."

He said his government had mobilized all its resources to bring relief to flooded areas around the Brahmaputra and other rivers. More than 1,300 people are estimated to have been killed in Bangladesh and neighboring areas of India in flooding since July.

In northern Thailand, at least five people were killed by flash floods caused by three days of monsoon rains, authorities reported today.

Israel Holds Priest As Gunrunner

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Israeli police today held a Catholic archbishop as a suspected gunrunner for Arab guerrillas in the occupied West Bank of Jordan, and the government again rejected a troop pullback from the Jordan river to start peace negotiations with King Hussein.

The foreign ministry said yesterday Israel is prepared to make peace with Jordan but "has rejected and will reject the Jordanian demand for an Israeli withdrawal along the Jordan river."

The statement came in response to a joint communique issued over the weekend in Washington after talks between President Ford and Jordan's King Hussein.

FIRST STAGE

Israel has proposed giving Jordan administrative control over areas in the West Bank, captured by Israel in the 1967 Middle East war, but no troops would pull out in the first stage.

Hilarion Capucci, the 52-year-old bearded prelate of the 5,000-strong Greek Catholic community in Israel and occupied Jordan, was arrested at his Jerusalem home yesterday and jailed for 15 days on suspicion of smuggling guns from Al Fatah guerrillas in Lebanon to the occupied West Bank.

"We are questioning him," said Israeli national police spokesman Nahum Bosmi. "He's been cooperative and, depending on what we find out, we will decide what course to take toward possibly broadening the investigation."

Police sources said Capucci was first arrested Aug. 7 when customs officials at Rosh Hanikra on the Lebanese-Israeli Mediterranean coast border found machine guns, revolvers, grenades and explosive detonators in secret compartments of his limousine.

He was released after several hours of interrogation but kept under surveillance until the new arrest, they said.

SHARES DUTIES

Capucci, a native of Aleppo, Syria, is one of seven clerical leaders in the Holy Land permitted to cross the frontier into Lebanon and return. He is one of two Catholic archbishops in Jerusalem and shares duties with Joseph M. Raya.

Msgr. William Carew, the apostolic delegate in Jerusalem, is awaiting instructions from the Vatican on a possible approach to Israeli authorities, a spokesmen for the mission said.

In the Arab world, firebrand Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy tried to patch up his feud with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat during a weekend visit to Sadat's summer palace in Alexandria. The meeting was arranged by Sheikh Zayed Ben Sultan of the United Arab Emirates.

They agreed to send a top-level Egyptian mission under Deputy premier Mamdouh Salem to Libya Sept. 1 to settle past differences over Middle East strategy, but no immediate improvement in relations was expected.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Bush Said Slipping As VP Pick

NEW YORK (UPI) — Newsweek magazine reported today that GOP National Chairman George Bush, a contender for vice president, had "slipped badly because of alleged irregularities in the financing of his 1970 Senate race in Texas."

Bush

Newsweek, quoting White House sources, said the Nixon administration "funneled about $100,000 from a secret fund called the Townhouse operation' into Bush's losing Senate campaign against Lloyd Bentsen four years ago."

The magazine said there were indications that $40,000 was not properly reported.

According to the magazine both Rockefeller and Bush had their "ardent supporters."

Melvin Laird was cited as the foremost among Rockefeller boosters while Nebraska national committeeman Richard L. Herman was said by Newsweek to have opened up a "campaign style boiler room at the Washington Hilton" to mobilize support for Bush.

Village Captured

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist gunners today cut a key northern approach road to Saigon and captured a large village seven miles from the provincial capital of Tay Ninh in the heaviest Communist attacks in two years, South Vietnamese officers said.

The Communist offensive across South Vietnam is more intense than at any time since the 1972 Easter attacks in which the Viet Cong overran much of the country, military officers said.

Heavy fighting was reported on at least six major fronts throughout South Vietnam today and military spokesmen listed 203 Communist attacks between dawn yesterday and sunup today.

In the escalating Communist offensive, now in its second month, the Saigon command also officially declared Minh Long district capital, 305 miles north of Saigon, lost to Viet Cong attackers.

Escapers Sought

BELFAST (UPI) — Thousands of heavily armed British troops combed the countryside today for 19 members of the Irish Republican Army who bombed their way to freedom from the Irish Republic's top security jail near Dublin.

Although an Irish security official claimed the Irish had "sealed off all the escape routes," a spokesman at British army headquarters for Ulster said "an immediate tightening of security was ordered on the frontier."

Most of the escapers were from the north and the others from border areas.

Prison Overhaul

SAN CRISTOBAL, Venezuela (UPI) — Venezuelan authorities today began a major overhaul of the country's penitentiary system in the wake of a riot at the San Cristobal prison where national guardsmen shot and killed seven knife-wielding inmates who held two prison officials hostage for nearly 40 hours.

The drama at the Andean mountain prison, 560 miles west of Caracas, ended yesterday when the guardsmen opened fire and rescued warden Arcadio Ruedas Chacon and justice ministry official Rafael Ochoa.

Both were hospitalized with serious knife wounds inflicted by the prisoners.

The seven inmates seized Chacon and Ochoa Friday after 800 inmates rioted to protest overcrowding.

Ethiopian Rule

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — The Ethiopian Army and Prime Minister Michael Imru have reached a compromise for continued civilian rule in the African empire, at least for the time being.

They also agreed yesterday to work together to end the turmoil which has plagued the country for months, diplomatic sources said.

The breakthrough came as the powerful Orthodox Church forced a major confrontation between military leaders and the church with Emperor Haile Selassie's dwindling vestiges of power at stake.

Since civil unrest began early this year, army leaders slowly have stripped away the once-absolute powers of the 82-year-old emperor, who has been on the Ethiopian throne since November, 1930.

On Friday, they eliminated his two advisory councils and the court of justice. Saturday they arrested Maj. Gen. Taseffa Lemma, head of the emperor's 4,000-man imperial bodyguard.

Wallace Back Home

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Gov. George C. Wallace returned from a cross-country trip in high spirits yesterday but denied it was a warmup to test his endurance for the 1976 presidential campaign.

Showing no signs of weariness from his trip to New Orleans, Albuquerque, N.M., and Lynchburg, Va., Wallace greeted reporters with a smile and a wink.

When asked if the trip was a preliminary to a presidential race, Wallace insisted he has not made plans past running for governor for an unprecedented third term. He faces token Republican opposition in the general election.

Long Wins Easily

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — For the past two decades the name Long has carried political magic in the Louisiana delta.

This weekend's primary election was no exception as Russell Long, the son of late Gov. Huey P. Long, won renomination to another term in the U.S. Senate seat he's held since 1948. He compiled 75 per cent of the vote and carried all 64 Louisiana parishes.

Long, chairman of the influential Senate Finance Committee, headed a long list of incumbent Democrats renominated in the Saturday primary, including Rep. F. Edward Hebert, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee; Lindy Boggs, widow of the late House majority leader Hale Boggs; Otto Passman and John Breaux.

Former New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison lost his bid for a seat on the Louisiana Supreme Court.

President's Pilot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Col. Ralph Albertazzie, the man who flew President Nixon all over the world for 5½ years, was not at the controls of Air Force One today when President Ford flew to Chicago.

The colonel is retiring after 24 years in the Air Force. A veteran combat pilot, Albertazzie started flying the presidential jet in December 1968 after a tour in Vietnam.

He will be replaced by his former copilot, Lt. Col. Lester McClelland, 41, of Masontown, Pa.

"There is no doubt about the guy's qualifications" as a presidential pilot, Albertazzie said.

Albertazzie flew Nixon and his family to San Clemente, Calif., on Nixon's last flight aboard the "Spirit of '76" as President, Aug. 9.

First Lady Buried

SEOUL (UPI) — South Korea buried its first lady, slain by a bullet meant for her husband, President Park Chung-hee, in a national funeral today while investigators questioned the accused assassin on suspected ties with Communist North Korea.

North Korea denied the suspect, 22-year-old Moon Sek-wang, had any connections with the north.

Mrs. Park, killed Thursday during an assassination attempt on her husband, was buried at the Adongjak-Dong national cemetery in south Seoul after a 90-minute funeral service.

The ceremony was attended by 3,000 Korean and foreign dignitaries including Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, Nationalist Chinese Deputy Premier Hsu Ching-chung and South Vietnamese Deputy Premier Tran Van Dong.

Antunes Named

LISBON (UPI) — Portugal put Mozambique on the road to self-government today, appointing Ernesto Melo Antunes president of the African colony and head of the governing junta.

The announcement came after secret negotiations between Antunes, Portuguese cabinet ministers and Mozambique freedom fighters.

Antunes, 41, a member of the Coordinating Committee of the Armed Forces Movement which carried out the April 25 army coup in Lisbon, will be sworn in today by Portuguese President Antonio de Spinola.

Massive Coal Walkout Called A Memorial To Dead Miners

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Eighty thousand soft coal miners stayed off the job today for a five-day memorial work stoppage that the coal industry said was actually a ploy to bolster the United Mine Workers' bargaining position in upcoming coal negotiations.

UMW President Arnold Miller said the walkout, the first such memorial since the 1969 commemoration of the late union president John L. Lewis, was to protest "the terrible slaughter that day after day turns miners' wives into widows." More than 100,000 workers have been killed in the pits in this century.

The shutdown was expected to close as many as 1,200 mines in 22 states stretching from Virginia to Washington, including big coal-producing mine in West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Colorado and Alabama, the union said.

A spokesman for Consolidation Coal Co. said, "What they're doing is trying to whittle down the stockpiles to place themselves in what they feel is a better bargaining position.

"I think it's wrong for the UMW to state that it's a memorial for those who died of black lung and in the mines when it's obvious it's a negotiating move."

The current contract covering the UMW's soft coal miners expires Nov. 12, and the union has threatened to stage a protracted strike to win its demands.

The coal industry's chief weapon in negotiations and in event of a strike is stockpiling. This shutdown, company officials said, will only decimate already dwindling stocks.

"We're well below what is desirable inventory on coal," said a spokesman for Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corp., owner of some mines. "Any loss of coal is going to have its impact later on."

Policemen Lose Bikes, Robbers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two plainclothes policemen were riding bicycles in Central Park last night, trying to nab bike thieves. Instead, two thieves stole their bikes and escaped in a hail of bullets.

Police said officers Carlo Cierva and James Silvia were on decoy patrol when one of the bikes broke down and they stopped to repair it. Two men, one pointing a gun, approached and demanded the bikes.

As the robbers started to ride off, the policemen identified themselves and pulled their guns. The armed bandit fired two shots and and the officers fired six shots after them.

No one apparently was hit, police said, and no arrests had been made.

Simplified Tax Forms Promised By Bagley

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A proposal to simplify California income tax forms for the benefit of the average taxpayer was announced today by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, the Republican nominee for state controller.

The San Rafael lawmaker said if elected he would use his position as chairman of the Franchise Tax Board to initiate a "major simplification" of state tax forms.

The effort, Bagley said in a prepared statement, would be aimed at a form uncomplicated enough for a citizen to fill out himself without having to pay a professional for help.

He estimated Californians spent $120 million this year for the services of professional tax preparers.

Bagley also proposed printing tax booklets in Chinese and Spanish, and a "postcard" tax form for elderly residents.

The major problem with the existing system is that the "average taxpayer" does not qualify for using the current tax short-form, Bagley said.

Four Deaths Are Caused By Storms In Midwest

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Heavy thunderstorms rumbled through East Central Kansas today on the heels of weekend storms which accounted for four deaths in Kansas and Missouri.

Two-inch hailstones pelted eastern Kansas, further damaging crops already battered by the weekend hail and high winds. Commuters used garbage can lids as shields from the hail as they scurried to work.

The weekend victims were Floyd Myers, 62, who was electrocuted by a downed power line east of Manhattan, Kan.;

Jon O. Nyblad, 16, of Kansas City, Mo., who drowned when he was swept off a marina at Stockton Lake in Missouri; and Martha Green, 33, of Pierce City, Mo., and her 16-year-old son, Bobby Lee Green, killed when a tree crushed their pickup truck east of Pierce City.

Inverness Man Hurt In Wreck

An Inverness man suffered head injuries, a broken collarbone and broken right leg when his motorcycle overturned yesterday on a curve on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in West Marin.

Keith R. Meloney, 21, of 30 Via De La Vista, was reported in poor condition today at Marin General Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol said Meloney was traveling west at 8:40 p.m. when the accident occurred east of Shafter Bridge.

Blue Cross/65 Regular or Extra Care. Fill out the coupon or just give us a call. We'll send you the facts and that's all. No one will call on you. Promise.

Blue Cross has two plans for you: Regular at $4.00 or Extra Care, which includes prescription drugs.

Marshal's Office Gets Richard Nixon Subpoena

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A subpoena ordering former President Nixon to appear as a witness at the Watergate cover-up trial was received from Washington today at the Los Angeles U.S. marshal's office.

Gaylord Campbell, marshal for the central district of California, said he intended to serve the federal court order on Nixon in San Clemente by tomorrow.

The U.S. District Court subpoena, first such document to be addressed to Nixon since he became a private citizen, instructed him to appear Sept. 9 at the opening of the trial of John Ehrlichman, H. R. Haldeman and four other former aides.

Campbell indicated he would contact Nixon's staff in San Clemente shortly to make arrangements to serve the subpoena. He had said previously the language of the regulations in such cases requires the document be served personally.

Campbell, who was appointed by Nixon in 1969, also said he probably would present the subpoena himself rather than having it served by a deputy.

The order was issued by Judge John Sirica on behalf of Ehrlichman.

Japanese Sailor Arrives After 86-Day Journey

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Kiyomi Yamashita, 29, arrived in Los Angeles Harbor late Saturday. No one was expecting him, so there was no fanfare and no one to greet him.

He would have been completely ignored if not for the yellow quarantine flag waving in the wind alongside his American and Japanese flags.

Yamashita had arrived at his destination, 86 days after he set off on a solo journey along the Great Circle route from Japan to Los Angeles. He lived on rice and fish in his 21-foot sailboat The Milky Way.

The lone sailor, who does not speak English, was spotted by port police Sunday after they noticed his quarantine flag.

Fortunately, a Japanese freighter was docked nearby and a captain willingly acted as interpreter.

The first things Yamashita requested were a shower and fresh fruit. He told Captain Kanji Mukumoto that he had kept a daily log and a collections of charts.

He said when he wasn't attending to his boat duties, he spent his time talking to himself, the ocean or sometimes the air. He said he also read his books.

"The book is a very good friend," Yamashita said through the captain.

Yamashita said his voyage was no big adventure. He had just wanted to come to Los Angeles.

CYPRUS

invasion forces which already have seized the northern one-third of Cyprus continued to advance despite criticism from the United States that the offensive already had gone too far and the cease-fire declared by Ankara on Friday.

Armored columns drove south of Nicosia to cut the last remaining open road between the landlocked Cypriot capital and the sea.

UPI correspondent Nat Gibson said American-built Turkish tanks had reached the village of Louroujina, three miles east of the Limassol-Nicosia highway, the only road still open to the sea.

Gibson reported a Turkish battalion, backed by a dozen modern tanks, on the Larnaca road within striking distance of Nicosia, opposed by only three ancient tanks of the Greek-led Cypriot national guard. The Turkish advance caused an exodus of frantic residents from Nicosia. Thousands of Greek Cypriots fled southward, joining the more than 100,000 earlier refugees in the cities, mountains and forests, and the British military bases on the south coast.

A Greek Cypriot government spokesman estimated 4,000 Greek Cypriots were killed and 12,000 wounded since Turkish forces invaded the island on July 2.

In London, the Foreign Office announced that Britain and the United States have agreed on a plan to try for a new Cyprus peace conference.

Earlier, the Greeks let it be known they would not take part in any peace talks until Turkey gives up the territory captured during the past five days. Clerides told his news conference in Nicosia today that he would not attend unless he could be assured peace talks would be meaningful.

FORD

details and coupled his promises to a clear warning that he would veto big money bills for veterans just like any other legislation if he decided they would undercut the battle against inflation.

Specifically referring to veterans education bill still awaiting final congressional approval, Ford said: "America is fighting for its economic life. I will not hesitate to use the veto to control inflationary excesses."

Ford made no reference in his prepared text to his consideration of a vice presidential nominee. He alluded only vaguely at one point to the resignation of former President Nixon, saying: "I don't like red tape or any other kind of tapes."

Last night, Ford set aside "thinking time" in order to review his final list of vice presidential candidates, a White House official said.

Ford was expected to make the decision later today after returning to Washington with the announcement coming tomorrow or Wednesday.

Ford was accompanied by his wife, Betty, and a contingent of Veterans' Affairs Committee leaders from both houses of Congress.

Illinois Gov. Daniel Walker headed the delegation greeting Ford at the airport.

Freitas Receives High Portugal Honor

Former Marin Superior Court judge Carlos R. Freitas of 87 Oakmont Avenue, San Rafael, has received one of the highest honors that Portugal bestows upon a foreign citizen.

In formal ceremonies held Saturday morning at the Portuguese Consulate in San Francisco, the 70-year-old attorney was presented with the Commander in the Order of Prince Henry the Navigator award.

Freitas was cited for his lifelong work in promoting Portuguese culture in the Bay Area.

He is a supporter of the Luso-American Education Foundation in Francisco, a nonprofit organization which awards scholarships for students and professors of Portuguese descent to study in Portugal.

Freitas is also a frequent speaker at banquets held for Portugese ambassadors visiting the Bay Area and a past president of the California Statewide Portuguese Fraternal Benefit Society composed of persons of Portuguese descent.

During World War II, Freitas was assigned to the Office of Strategic Services and served in Portuguese East Africa, Mozambique.

Freitas, who has visited Portugal with his wife, Earlda, five times, said he was surprised upon his selection for the distinction and confirmed his intent to "carry out what little I can do to serve the country of my parents."

Martha Against Nixon Amnesty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Martha Mitchell says she believes in amnesty for Vietnam draft resisters and deserters — but never for former President Nixon.

"Why should he be granted immunity?" she asked in a telephone interview with UPI's Helen Thomas Saturday.

"He's always beeen adamant on the subject that anybody who disobeyed the law should be prosecuted and he is in that category. I don't feel sorry for anyone who disobeys the law. He always said that Alger Hiss, or anybody who disobeys the law, should not have any barrier around him and nobody should be above the law."

The Vietnam draft dodgers and deserters were in a different category, the estranged wife of former Attorney General John N. Mitchell said.

Barbiturates Killed Doctor

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Barbiturate poisoning killed a Sausalito doctor found dead in a van here July 21, according to the Oakland coroner's office.

The coroner reported that Dr. Mark B. Richer also had an alcohol blood count of .47, more than four times the amount required to be legally drunk.

An unusual twist to the Richer case occurred early this month, when a San Francisco man used the dead doctor's name and social security number in an attempt to buy an automobile. He was arrested by San Francisco police.

New Speed Limit Effect Refuted

CHICAGO (UPI) — Reduced speed limits, triggered by the energy shortage, are getting more credit than they deserves for the reduction of highway deaths in the nation, according to the American Medical Association.

"We hope, of course, that the nationwide downward trend continues, but we believe that the savings in lives cannot honestly be attributed to any great extent to the reduction in the speed limit," Lee N. Hames, AMA director of safety education, said in an editorial in the current edition of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

While speed limits have been reduced to 55 miles per hour, Hames said that most traffic deaths occur at speeds under 55.

Girl Is Molested In School Yard

A 9-year-old San Rafael girl was molested at a city school playground Saturday, police reported today.

Police said a clean-shaven man described as about 27 years old and wearing brown pants approached the girl at Don Timeteo School about 5:30 p.m.

Five Killed In Car-Train Crash

VAN WERT, Ohio (UPI) — Five persons were killed yesterday in a car-train collision at a railroad crossing near this northwestern Ohio community, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputies said a car driven by Marcile Dechsle, Wren, Ohio, slowed when it approached the crossing but failed to stop and was hit by an Erie-Lackawana train traveling at 40 miles per hour.

Also in the automobile were Scott Dechsle, 14, Kelly Ruskaup, 14, Jeffrey Sheets, 11, and Richard Bowen, 11, all of Wren.

Canceled Stunt Gets Fans Mad

BRUCETON MILLS, W.Va. (UPI) — Motorcycle dare-devil Bob Gill's promoters had sold thousands of tickets for $6 each for his attempted jump across Appalachia Lake, a distance of 200 feet.

Gill had helped promote his jump by calling Evel Knievel's planned jump over the Snake River Canyon in Idaho "the greatest ripoff of the American public in sports history."

But when the time came to jump yesterday, Gill, 28, of St. Petersburg, Fla., canceled the attempt, saying recent rains had made the landing area too muddy.

Rehabilitant Of Year Is Named

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Totally blind and deaf Richard D. Joy of Santa Rosa today was named California Rehabilitant of the year.

Joy, 33, a parts assembler at Hewlett-Packard microwave division, is a licensed ham radio operator and music enthusiast.

He receives Morse code using a vibrator that pulses the signal through his fingers. In a similar manner he enjoys music.

Joy was selected from among 15,505 handicapped Californians for the award by the state Department of Rehabilitation.

Rock Films Set In San Anselmo

A "midnight movies" program featuring two rock films will be held at midnight Friday at the Tamalpais Theater in San Anselmo, according to radio station KTIM FM.

To be screened are the Beatles' film, "Help," and the Rolling Stones' "Gimme Shelter," a spokesman said. Admission is $1.

Timothy Leary Tells Of Escape

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Timothy Leary has revealed to authorities the names of persons who helped him escape from prison and flee the country in 1970, it was reported Sunday.

Leary, who advocated the use of LSD during the 1960s, has identified a San Francisco attorney and members of the revolutionary Weatherman organization as engineering his escape, the San Francisco Examiner said yesterday in a copyrighted story.

The 54-year-old former Harvard instructor was in jail on marijuana convictions when he went over the wall of San Luis Obispo Prison on the night of Sept. 12, 1970. He allegedly told authorities how he was spirited first to Seattle and then to Chicago and eventually to Paris and Algiers. The newspaper said Leary "told all in hopes of avoiding further prosecution and obtaining speedy parole."

The injured woman, Belva Breyer of Burlingame, was a passenger in a car driven by Sally Lou Breyer, 45, of Belmont, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The patrol said the women's auto smashed into the freeway center divider after a front tire blew out at 5:50 p.m. Saturday.

FIESTA DANCER MOURNS

Mourning over the war bonnet of a fallen warrior, an Indian dancer at Petaluma's Old Adobe Fiesta reenacts the ritual of the Blackfoot Indians, a tribe which once populated the American Plains. More than 2,500 persons attended the annual fete yesterday at Gen. Mariano Vallejo's fortress, and the day's events were highlighted by an early-California style wedding in the adobe's courtyard. (For a story and more photographs, see page 13.)

Newton Free On Bail; Charged With Attacks

OAKLAND (UPI) — Huey P. Newton, cofounder of the Black Panther party, was free on $42,000 bail today following his arrest on charges of pistol-whipping a tailor and shooting a 17-year-old girl in the head.

Newton's bodyguard, 6-foot-8, 400-pound Robert Heard, 25, also was arrested Saturday in the pistol-whipping incident and was held on $15,000 bail.

Police said the tailor, Preston Callins, 52, visited Newton's $650-a-month penthouse apartment Friday to fit him with new clothes. Callins said Newton took offense at something he said —"something trivial" —and both men attacked him.

Callins suffered a fractured skull and was in serious but stable condition in a hospital.

Armed with a search warrant, police entered Newton's apartment and found "lots of blood all over the place," said homicide Lt. Bill Clark.

Clark said police also found evidence linking Newton to the Aug. 6 shooting of a teen-age girl on a street corner, but he refused to elaborate.

The girl, whose identity was withheld, was being treated at a hospital for a head wound and was in very serious condition.

Newton and Heard were also facing charges of assault with a deadly weapon and interfering with police officers.

Newton, 31, has lived in the penthouse overlooking Lake Merritt since his release from prison in 1971 after serving 22 months for the 1967 slaying of a policeman.

Democratic Caucus Ends With An Angry Walkout

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Democratic Charter Commission, shredded by much of the same internal squabbling that plagued the party in 1972, ended its work yesterday with a new constitution and a lot of ill feelings.

"We Democrats always have differences in internal party affairs," Democratic National Committee Chairman Robert Strauss said following the meeting. "And we show the differences in full public view."

The 167 Democrats charged with writing a new party charter showed a lot of differences during the volatile two days and ended the meeting rather abruptly yesterday with a walkout by "new politics" reformers.

Without a legal quorum, the rest of the convention packed up and went home.

The reformers charged that old-line party regulars were using a majority based on "stacked" last-minute commission appointments to "rape" the proposed charter and "take the party back to 1964."

Their departure left the charter with several changes voted in by the regulars during the session, but without some other modifications the majority wanted to make before submitting the document to a 2,000-delegate "mini-convention" in Kansas City Dec. 6-8.

The walkout was led by California assemblyman Willie Brown who rose in opposition to an amendment that would have eliminated a charter ban on the use of the unit rule in party affairs.

"This is the nail that closes the coffin for Willie Brown," the black commission member said.

He charged the regulars had come to Kansas City to "gut the charter" by making changes that were contrary to settled party policies. Brown was followed by a small group of blacks and then by a larger group of whites whose absence left the commission without enough members to continue.

Chairman Terry Sanford ruled that the remainder of the charter document, given initial approval at a meeting last March, would go untouched to the mini-convention.

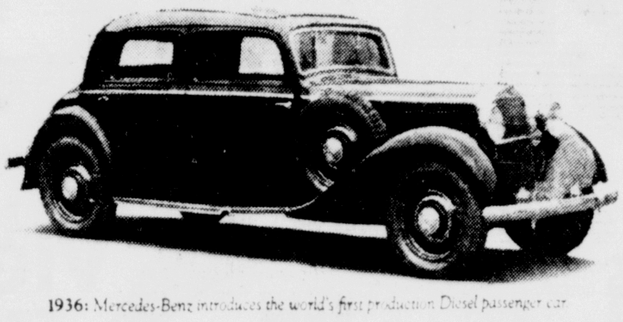
Mercedes-Benz cannot introduce the Diesel passenger car as a new idea. We did that over 38 years ago.



1936: Mercedes-Benz introduces the world's first production Diesel passenger car.

You don't develop a Diesel passenger car overnight. A Diesel is something very particular. Before you introduce one, you'd better know exactly what you're doing.

Mercedes-Benz knows. Because Mercedes-Benz has been consistently developing Diesels longer than anyone else. And Mercedes-Benz alone has sold Diesels in America for over a decade. So when you buy a Mercedes-Benz Diesel from us, you get something no one else can offer. Years of important Diesel experience.

Extraordinary fuel economy

One result of this Diesel experience is fuel economy. In a strictly supervised test conducted independently by Motor Trend magazine, our latest Diesel, the 240D, recorded 24.4 miles per gallon. And that was with an automatic transmission. This test was a combination of actual urban and highway driving—no "economy run" or "proving ground" tests. No other full-sized sedan—foreign or domestic—delivers this kind of mileage.

Another result of this Diesel experience is maintenance economy. While any car needs some routine servicing, with a Mercedes-Benz Diesel you can forget about tune-ups. Diesels need no spark plugs, no points, no distributor, no carburetor. No conventional ignition or carburetion systems—no tune-ups ever. And parts that aren't there can't break down.

Come in and look over a Mercedes-Benz 240 Diesel for yourself. It's the most advanced Diesel automobile sold in America. It has interior space and trunk room on a par with the finest domestic luxury cars. A full 5-passenger sedan that's all Mercedes-Benz.

Not just a Diesel, a Mercedes-Benz

Arrange to test drive this unique Mercedes-Benz. Feel its remarkable handling—a product of fully independent suspension. Feel the strength of its disc brakes—4-wheel disc brakes. Feel secure—no manufacturer in the world has a greater commitment to safety than Mercedes-Benz.

Exceptional mileage, maintenance economy and dependability with the bonus of outstanding Mercedes-Benz resale value. Come in to see us. We'll show you the automobile that delivers them all—the unique Mercedes-Benz 240D. Not just a Diesel. A Mercedes-Benz.

1974: The most advanced Diesel automobile sold in America.

Bills Expanding Power Of Unions

Bills to bring public employment under union control are moving through the California Legislature toward the governor's desk.

As this is written, AB 1112 by Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, is on the Senate floor, having cleared the Assembly and assorted committees. This bill would amend the Government Code to authorize the "agency shop" in public employment.

The "agency shop" differs little from the "union shop." Under a union shop contract, every employee must join the union. Under an agency shop, he is not required to join but must pay whatever dues or assessments the union levies.

Ralph's AB 1112, therefore, would put a price on public employment. Citizens would be denied the right to work for state or local governments unless they paid dues or assessments to unions which had contracts with the governmental units.

IN SENATE committee as this is written is AB 3254 by Assemblyman Richard J. Alatorre, D-Los Angeles, which applies to school employees. This bill would authorize the union shop for public school teachers and legalize strikes against the public schools. It is identical to last year's SB 400 by Sen. George R. Moscone, D-San Francisco, which passed both houses but was vetoed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Moving in the opposite direction toward the governor's desk is SB 1857 by Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, which also applies to public school employees. This one does not have agency shop or union shop provision. However, it mandates that the union having a majority within a public school bargaining unit (the classroom faculty, in most instances) is the sole bargaining agent for all the teachers. "Once the employees in an appropriate unit have selected an exclusive representative," it says, "no employee in that unit may meet and negotiate with the public school employer."

Further, the majority union, the bill spells out, "has the right to consult on the definition of educational objectives, the determination of the content of courses and curriculum, and the selection of textbooks." Note that this denies affected teachers the right to consult on these matters, reserving it for the union.

Incidentally, Marin-Sonoma Assemblyman William T. Bagley was absent when AB 3254 passed the Assembly 50 to 20, as was Marin's Sen. Peter H. Behr when SB 1857 cleared the Senate 22 to 5.

There are other collective bargaining bills in both houses, but none so close to the governor's desk as these three.

THIS IS ELECTION year. No doubt, many senators and assemblymen are thinking about campaign funds available from unions which are backing bills for collective bargaining in public employment — the fastest-growing area of employment, and therefore the one with most potential dollars for union treasuries.

We can hope Governor Reagan will veto such bills if they reach his desk. But we cannot be sure.

A recent poll by Public Opinion Research Institute showed 68 per cent — including 60 per cent of union members — believe that labor unions have grown too powerful. Their power will be immensely expanded if they can bring schools and local governments under their control.

Ford's Speed Recalls FDR's First 100 Days

WASHINGTON — This new Ford administration is already surprising its friends and astonishing the doubters.

In office little more than a week, it is visibly moving ahead at a pace which reminds one of the first 100 days of Franklin Roosevelt's takeover in the depths of the depression.

Mr. Ford is ending presidential drift and is helping to end congressional deadlock.

He is bringing to reality what Richard Nixon said in his resignation speech the nation could not do without: a full-time president and a full-time Congress.

THE PRESIDENT is doing his part with a remarkably sure touch. He is forcefully appealing to Congress to join in a post-Watergate partnership which will enable the government to begin governing again and to do well and speedily what has so long been delayed and frustrated.

Mr. Ford's well-conceived, firm and conciliating address to the joint session is already clearing the air in the capitol and in the country. Both the president and Congress can now get down to transacting the public business.

It was a no-nonsense address free of fancy flourishes. It was authentic Ford — direct, friendly, unpretentious but without timidity or false modesty. It was keyed to do the one thing most needed — to melt the mountain of ice which had so long blocked the way between the Nixon White House and Congress.

IN THE PAST we have seen political honeymoons slip away rapidly; and even a good political marriage, as Mr. Ford put it, is not an assured long-term contract.

But the ingredients of a productive working partnership between president and Congress are at hand. The country needs this partnership badly — and both know it. It is sound government and also sound politics.

Mr. Ford unquestionably meant it when he told Congress that his motto was: "Communication, conciliation, compromise and co-operation."

Congress unquestionably meant it when it unanimously passed its resolution of regard and support for the new President.

BOTH ARE CONVINCED that divided government — a Republican president and a Democratic Congress — can and must be made to work if inflation is to be licked and if the nation is to bind up the wounds which cut so deeply during the past two years.

I believe this is going to come about sooner and more fully than anyone dared hope.

Mr. Ford is seeking amiable relations with Congress because he wants action. His overriding theme is: "We have a lot of work to do. Let's get on with it."

He is getting on with it speedily in both domestic and foreign affairs. He adopted the congressional proposal for a national economic summit to mobilize the will and the means to check inflation. He signed the new elementary and secondary education bill to further quality education. He doesn't expect Congress to write every new law to his own prescription. He seeks two-way conciliation on a new trade bill, on health care and other legislation. He has a good chance of getting it.

The need is to put recrimination over past wrongs behind us.

And let us remember that President Ford is Richard Nixon's gift to the nation.

Democrats Now Must Turn Attention To Basic Issues

WASHSINGTON — Just before the change of presidents, nearly twice as many Americans called themselves Democrats as Republicans. Yet between now and the next presidential election, Mr. Ford has a chance to make that party identification wholly beside the point. He already has started in that direction.

Half the prospect lies in his own actions. The other half is with the Democrats themselves, and whether they continue the suicide attempts from which Nixon benefited so handsomely.

IN THE COMING 16 months, the Democrats must face some sobering facts: No longer can they run against the Vietnam war or against Nixonian scandals. The man in the White House now is approximately what 47 million voters thought they were getting when they were misled into supporting Nixon two years ago. Barring unlikely surprises on Mr. Ford's part, the Democrats are going to have to make their case against him on traditional bread-and-butter issues.

If they have the sense to recognize that, it will be the most fortunate thing to happen to them since Barry Goldwater got nominated at the Cow Palace.

Goldwater's nomination is one of the two key things they must remember as they approach 1976. George McGovern's nomination is the other. The doomed campaigns run by those candidates showed that an idol of the far right or the New Left can pull only about 38 per cent of the electorate. The swing vote that determines presidential elections is the one-quarter of the population that inhabits the political center.

THE CATCH that makes possible debacles like those of 1964 and 1972 is that the extremes have come to dominate intra-party politics. That is especially true when the party is out of presidential power and its leadership is fragmented. It was the single-mindedness and enthusiasm of the zealots that forced Goldwater and McGovern into nomination against divided moderate opposition and thus assured their parties' defeats.

So what is called for in the current "out" party is the foresight to see beyond the summer convention of 1976 to the November election. This quality is rarer, yet more necessary, in ward- and state-level activists and behind-scenes strategists than among the national candidates themselves. Its absence is familiar among newcomers to politics, like the amateurs who wrecked Democratic hopes in 1968 and 1972.

The national contest is for that shifting center, and Mr. Ford has acknowledged that in his speech to the joint session of Congress. "Communication, conciliation, compromise and co-operation" was his theme, and that is just what Middle America wants to hear.

IT WILL BE HARD enough for the Democrats to combat this Eisenhower-style orthodoxy with their traditional appeals to the social and economic interests of the old Roosevelt coalition. It will be impossible for them to regain the White House if they fantasize that they can nominate just any eccentric body and win merely because they are the majority party.

They must recognize that to indulge the extremes, as symbolized in their party by George McGovern and George Wallace, will be to leap to disaster again. Their situation demands someone who will bespeak party positions and dreams stirringly enough to satisfy their many idealists without scaring away the crucial swing vote.

That means someone from the ideological persuasion bordered by Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts on one side and Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington on the other, which leaves room in between for Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, Sen. Walter Mondale of Minnesota, Sen. Adlai Stevenson III of Illinois, Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida, Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, Gov. Dan Walker of Illinois, Gov. John Gilligan of Ohio — indeed, the whole mainstream of the Democratic Party.

It also leaves room for one hell of a presidential campaign on the basic issues that define the two parties — for a change.

That $250 Campaign Gift: It Was Offered, But Rejected

Betty Forry, runoff candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 1 seat, recently was reported by the Independent-Journal as having received a $250 contribution from the California Real Estate Political Action Committee.

The I-J story on contributions to June primary election candidates noted the Los Angeles-based arm of the California Real Estate Association reported the $250 gift to her.

The I-J, however, subsequently published a letter from Mrs. Forry denying she ever received the contribution. The two versions unfortunately leave room for voters to wonder if they have to choose between them. They don't; both are true.

WHAT HAPPENED is that the Marin County Board of Realtors voted to contribute $250 to Mrs. Forry, and had the check drawn to her campaign from the board's account with CREPAC.

Mrs. Forry, however, declined the contribution, but CREPAC filed its report on contributions before it learned the money had not gone into her campaign. Instead, the check is being returned to CREPAC by the Marin board to be recredited to its account.

Donald A. Beacock, who offered the check on behalf of the board, was told by Mrs. Forry's campaign owrkers that she was not accepting such large amounts.

Beacock said he was told Mrs. Forry would not accept any check larger than $50, although her own campaign finance reports show two $100 contributions from longtime friends.

Beacock said he renewed the offer within recent weeks, but that Mrs. Forry still turned it down. She told us, however, that she probably will accept it if she is unable to raise enough money in smaller contributions. Local elections should be financed modestly, she feels, but adds it may be impossible given a hot runoff with her opponent, Richard J. Boylan.

THE ALREADY LONG arm of Uncle Sam has an insatiable itch to grow even longer. A prime example is a proposal by the U.S. Department of Transportation for new legislation to give it power to halt toll bridge hikes for six months "while reviewing their reasonableness."

The Golden Gate Bridge District presumably would view such power with horror.

CAR RACE in Moscow, as reported in Pravda, according to the National Safety Council: Only two cars were entered, a Ford and a Moskvich. The Ford won easily, but without mentioning how many cars competed, Pravda reported: "The Soviet Moskvich placed second while the American auto came in next to last."

TOUGH TIMES are ahead for the Golden Gate Bridge District if its directors allow Edwin M. Fraser of Del Norte County to step up from first vice president to board president next January. Fraser, 73, has been one of the board's most reluctant members in its moves to expand transit services, and lives in a county that should not even be in the district.

CAPITOL QUIPS

By PHIL DESSAUER

There was a moment of consternation in Washington the other day. Someone found a Republican who hadn't been mentioned for vice president.

We should all be grateful to Gerald Ford. He's agreed to stay on and help Henry Kissinger run our foreign affairs.

Gerald moves up to president and Whitey goes into the Baseball Hall of Fame. Not a bad week for the Ford clan.

The real tipoff on the end of the Nixon administration came when White House telephone operators, who once answered with "Four more years," got down to a day at a time.

Chamber Manager Aided Assistance Program

It has come to my attention that Mr. Robert Nelson has recently been asked to resign his office as director of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce. I wish, with this letter, to register my disappointment concerning this turn of events.

Mr. Nelson has repeatedly supported our efforts to bridge the gap between County Social Services and Marin's business community. Without his aid and encouragement at the outset of our project, the task would have been more difficult.

Burton Credited With County Actions

We strongly object to Erik Ingram's column last Monday which puts down Congressman John Burton's endeavors on behalf of the Oak Manor landslide victims. He has been the only person in a governmental position to come eagerly and willingly to our aid. In fact, we are sure that his involvement has prompted county officials to pick up the pace and give us our fist concrete bit of assistance. The county and the upland property owner have recently agreed to jointly fund a temporary drainage system for this winter. This along with the proposed county soil analysis should start things rolling in the right direction.

If Congressman Burton were just using us as a political ploy, why would Assemblyman Bagley endorse's Burton's actions and offer his assistance to our cause?

Our sincere appreciation and thanks go to John Burton and his staff for their efforts in bringing our problem to the attention of many people who may be able to help us. His work is a good example of what an elected official is supposed to do — represent the people.

We would also like to thank Frank Turner of the Ross Valley Reporter for keeping the public aware of what's been happening and what's not happening on Oak Manor Drive. With the exception of a fine article by Jeff Greer, the I-J's coverage has been noticeably absent.

Personnel Commission Story Held Incomplete

I read an article in today's (Aug. 14) paper written by Mr. Ingram concerning the personnel commission meeting of yesterday. I was present at the meeting and made a statement concerning Mrs. Bella Aaron.

Mr. Ingram's article is headed "Criminal Justice Agency Head Scored by Former Secretary". The impression is that the secretary won. The vote against her was 3 to 1. If that is scoring, then we have had a lot of winners in government lately.

Only portions of what was said appeared in the article, and the portions printed were detrimental to Mrs. Aaron. Mr. Farlatti, chairman of the commission, did not say that Bella Aaron ducked sheriff's officers. He did say that the subpoena signed by him was not served or Mrs. Aaron would have been there. He did say that she is a good department head and the county should have more like her. This, of course, was not mentioned. . .

Anyone May Ask Disaster Declaration

Erik Ingram's column on Aug. 8 chiding Congressman John Burton for attempting to give assistance to the residents of Oak Manor by declaring that area a federal disaster area struck me as being riddled with an inordinate amount of inaccuracy.

It is Ingram's contention that before an area is to be declared a federal disaster area, it must be first approved as such by the closest governing body; in this case the board of supervisors.

I checked with Frank Kirby, head of the Marin County Emergency Services, and discovered that Mr. Ingram was indeed in error. Mr. Kirby informed me that any citizen, regardless of his or her status in the community (even a Democratic congressman) may make a request to the governor to declare a certain area a disaster area.

Congress Moves To Curb Schools' Snooping Into Private Lives

(Reprinted from Boston Herald American)

With little fanfare, Congress has acted to put a long-needed brake on a kind of repellent snoopery which is all too typical of official hunger to compile secret dossiers on just about everybody.

Throughout the nation, in recent years, educational authorities in a host of federal-state programs have been subjecting students to a wide variety of quizzes which invade the most personal aspects of the students' lives.

THESE QUIZZES, dreamed up by bureaucrats in the guise of confidential evaluation surveys, inquire not only into the sexual lives, racial attitudes and moral concepts of the students but also into the details of their parental relationships — including how Mom and Dad behave at home.

Youngsters from grammar school through college have been suffering more and more of this intimate poking around, the results of which disappear into files whose potential use is as suspect as the specious explanations offered for compiling them.

CONGRESS in adopting a bill sponsored by Sen. James Buckley, has backed the conviction of the conservative Republican lawmaker from New York — and of a growing number of informed parents — that something must be done to correct such uncontrolled intrusion of family privacy.

Under his bill, federal funds would be withheld from any school system or college that refuses to let parents examine the files pertaining to their children — the files of personal evaluations, quiz answers and other information now generally withheld as confidential.

The Buckley Bill, if signed into law, will by no means end the Big Brother attitudes of educational supervisors. It should, however, prove to be an effective control over the many highly questionable practices now in operation.

Parts Industry Strikes Are Crippling Automakers

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Strikes at two key parts suppliers and other auto industry labor problems left thousands of auto workers out of work today and forced a delay in the production of 1975 model cars and trucks.

Some 16,000 General motors employees were idled at six GM truck plants in Michigan, Maryland, Wisconsin, Georgia and Canada and a GM auto plant in Massachusetts as the nation's largest automaker postponed the start of new model production.

The postponement was triggered by strikes against two Milwaukee, Wis., plants, A. O. Smith Corp., which makes suspension parts and frames, and Briggs & Stratton Corp., which manufactures door and ignition locks.

Some 4,300 workers at GM's Chevrolet plant in Indianapolis, Ind., also have been laid off because of the strikes.

GM was particularly hard hit, since the strikes at Briggs & Stratton and A. O. Smith come on top of lingering strikes at GM plants in Lordstown, Ohio and St. Louis, Mo. Those strikes affect some 13,500 workers.

Some 3,800 workers at the Chrysler truck plant in St. Louis, Mo., were also idled because of the strikes and American motors said it may have to close its Kenosha, Wis., assembly plant Aug. 26 if the strikes are not settled.

But while the auto industry grappled with its growing problems, New York grocery stores got back into operation.

A&P food stores reached agreement during the weekend with some 18,000 striking employees and stores began to reopen today.

There also was some encouraging news from the striking National Football League Players' Association. The association announced yesterday that it hd sharply reduced its contract demands, including the controversial "freedom issue" in an effort to end the long football strike.

Striking Buffalo, N.Y., grain elevator workers also returned to their jobs today after voting yesterday to accept a new contract. The four-day strike against six grain elevators threatened to shut down the world's largest grain milling center.

Workers represented by the United Steel Workers also returned to their jobs today on highway construction projects in the Lexington, Ky., area, ending a construction workers' strike which started Aug. 1. The strike had idled some 1,200 workers.

But prospects for settlement of the 49-day strike against AC Transit in Oakland were dim as negotiations produced little movement. The strike by 16,600 drivers, maintenance workers and clerks has crippled mass transit throughout the area.

House To Close Books On Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House of Representatives once planned to start impeachment proceedings against Richard M. Nixon today. Instead, it will receive the final report of its Judiciary Committee tomorrow and close the books on the Nixon case.

The second presidential impeachment effort in U.S. history died with Nixon's resignation Aug. 9. The impeachment machinery in both the House and the Senate has now been halted, leaving only the informal debate over whether Nixon should be prosecuted in the courts.

But Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., has decided that for historical purposes the report on his panel's activities leading up to impeachment should be made part of the official record.

The report, containing majority and minority views of the committee, was expected to run well over 500 pages in length.

There is agreement on Capitol Hill that Nixon suffered personally from his resignation. But the two top party leaders from the House disagree on the merits of dropping any future legal action against him.

House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona said yesterday any attempts to prosecute Nixon would result in "further division of the country and would not be beneficial."

But asked on NBC's Meet the Press if Nixon should issue a statement publicly admitting his guilt in the Watergate cover-up, Rhodes also said: "I think it would be useful and I would imagine at some time or another, (former) President Nixon will do this."

The filing of the Judiciary Committee's report will be just a formality, a spokesman said, with Rodino probably standing in the well of the House and announcing to Speaker Carl Albert his presentation of the report to the full House.

The draft of the report circulated to members last week used strong language to accuse Nixon of lying to the American public, violating federal laws or causing them to be violated and subverting the Constitution.

A draft minority report written by Sam Garrison, chief GOP counsel for the impeachment inquiry, admitted that Nixon had been guilty of obstructing justice and should have been impeached on that charge, but argued against impeachment on the two other counts — abuse of power and rejection of committee subpoenas.

Woman Reports Marijuana Theft

SEATTLE (UPI) — Kathy Corey admits it took "a lot of nerve" but she called the police anyway yesterday to report that 10 young marijuana plants she was growing had been stolen from her home.

She said she reported the theft to "get some action going" on the recovery of missing property taken in three other burglaries at her apartment.

"I suppose I had a lot of nerve to report it, but those were my plants and I don't feel it's wrong to be growing them," she said. "If I have to go to jail for reporting it, I will.

She said the plants were about three months old and knee-high when they were stolen — far from ready for harvesting.

Watergate Triggers A Flurry Of Books Dealing With Scandal

NEW YORK (UPI) — "All the President's Men", the book by two reporters who refused to let Watergate die silently, has sparked a flurry of other books, mostly by the same president's men.

Washington Post reporters Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward led the nonfiction best seller lists all summer with their report on how the story of an attempted burglary of Democratic Party national headquarters in the Watergate apartment and office complex turned into the political scandal of the century. Since May, the current-events epic has sold over 200,000 copies.

A lot of names were mentioned in their book, practically a Who's Who in the Nixon White House.

There is Jeb Stuart Magruder, for instance, deputy director of the Committee to Re-elect the President. Magruder now is serving 10 months to four years as a convicted Watergate conspirator, but his book, "An American Life," ranks eighth on the Publishers' Weekly nonfiction list.

E. Howard Hunt, the former White House aide who served 10 months in prison for his part in the Watergate burglary, has written his autobiography, "Undercover," which is scheduled for publication by G.P. Putnam's Sons in November.

Convicted Watergate burglar James W. McCord Jr., has published his own book, a paperback titled "A Piece of Tape."

Others who worked in the Nixon White House and have something to write about include William Safire, a Nixon writer turned conservative newspaper columnist, whose "A Hurry To Be Great" is scheduled for January publication by Doubleday, and Clark R. Mollenhoff, a newspaperman who served as a White House aide. His "Game Plan: An Ombudsman's Report on the Nixon Years" is scheduled for 1975-76 publication by W.W. Norton.

The most interesting speculation concerns the possibility that Richard Nixon himself might write of his biggest crisis. Reports are that Nixon's story of Watergate could be worth $2 million to the former president.

Crime Fighters To Assess Value

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department unit set up six years ago to help states fight crime is planning to spend $20 million to see how effective the effort has been.

The Law Enforcement Assistance Adminstration, which has given state and local governments $3.2 billion in crimefighting aid since Congress created it in 1968, said Saturday the new program will assess widely implemented projects at state and local levels.

"It is time to take a hard look at crime control efforts to find out what really works in criminal justice and put that knowledge in the hands of state and local officials," said deputy LEAA administrator Charles R. Work.

OFF TO THE LINKS — President Gerald Ford leaves the door of his home, carrying gold togs and papers on his way to the course. Ford's golf game yesterday came as he and his wife prepared to move into the White House and travel to Chicago for Ford's first presidential trip today.

Ford Reflecting About Vice-President Choice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An anxious nation will learn President Ford's choice for new vice president sometime this week after he returns from a trip to Chicago, according to a White House official.

The official said Ford set aside last night to do nothing but reflect on the nomination which would come possibly tomorrow or Wednesday.

Ford told reporters after a round of golf yesterday that he had been thinking about the vice presidency "very seriously" and that "we're getting close to a decision."

Other sources said his list of prospects had been narrowed to two or three candidates — and still included former New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. The other leading contender is George Bush, the GOP national chairman. Both men are vacationing in Maine.

Ford originally intended to make the nomination by this weekend but economic problems, the on-again, off-again war in Cyprus and the state visit of Jordan's King Hussein diverted his attention.

Ford said Saturday that Rockefeller was still under consideration despite attempts by a "right wing extremist group" to link the former governor to a plot to finance "dirty tricks" at the 1972 Democratic national convention.

Presidential Press Secretary Jerry terHorst said that an investigation by Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski had failed to turn up any evidence linking Rockefeller with the scheme.

Terhorst said White House lawyer Philip Buchen had received an anomymous telephone tip from a "Mr. Long" who said papers belonging to Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt linked Rockefeller with the plot.

Jaworski said no such documents were found and the case was closed.

Long, who identifed himself yesterday as Hamilton A. Long, said in a statement that he made the allegation to keep Ford from "being caught in another 'Eagleton affair' like 1968."

The statement was a reference to Sen. George McGovern's decision to drop Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri from the 1972 Democratic presidential ticket after it was learned Eagleton had received electric shock treatment for depression.

200 Fight Blaze

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — More than 200 firefighters yesterday battled a blaze that swept over 400 acres of heavy brush and grass in a rugged, hilly area of Mount Breckenridge.

2 Leaders Differ On Nixon Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The two top party leaders in the House agree that former President Richard M. Nixon has suffered personally from his resignation, but they disagree on the merits of dropping any future legal action against him.

House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona said yesterday it would be "useful" if Nixon publicly admitted his guilt in the Watergate cover-up.

But he said any attempt to prosecute Nixon would result in "further division of the country and would not be beneficial."

Asked if Nixon should issue a statement about his involvement in the scandal, Rhodes replied: "I think it would be useful and I would imagine at some time or another, (former) President Nixon will do this."

Rhodes was interviewed on NBC's Meet the Press.

House Speaker Carl Albert was also asked about prosecution of nixon. Appearing on ABC's Issues and Answers, Albert said:

"It's out of our hands now. I share the view that he has suffered a great deal, but I do not know where that fits in with our system of equal justice under the law. Anybody, anybody at all, who is brought before the bar of justice suffers."

W. Germany Has Fewest Births

BUCHAREST, Romania (UPI) — West Germany has the lowest birth rate in the world (12.8 per thousand) and Swaziland the highest (52.3 per thousand).

Other items in a miscellany of population facts:

There are enough people in the world (about 4 billion) to stretch to the moon and back 12 times if they are placed head to toe.

The world's five largest countries are China (787 million), India (550 million), the Soviet Union (245 million), the United States (207 million) and Indonesia (125 million).

More than half the world's people, about 2.1 billion, live in Asia. Europe (not counting the Soviet Union) has 466 million, Africa 354 million, North America 327 million, South America 195 million and Oceania 20 million.

Not counting suburbs, Shanghai is the world's biggest city with 10,820,000, followed by Tokyo (8,841,000), New York (7,895,000), Peking (7,570,000) and Moscow (7,050,000) according to 1970 estimates or census figures.

In developing countries, the urban population is expected to more than triple by the end of the century.

The world's population in mid-1973 was more than 3.8 billion. If growth continues at the present rate of more than two per cent a year, the 8 billion mark would be reached in less than four decades.

If population growth does not slow down, a child born today may know a world of 15 billion when he is 70. His grandson may share the planet with 60 billion.

Without a major scientific breakthrough, experts say, the earth can perhaps support 15 billion.

More than half of India's 550 million people are under 18, and one of every five is under six.

Despite intensive efforts to reduce it, India's birth rate remains at more than 42 per thousand. The death rate is 17 per thousand, leaving a natural increase of 25 per thousand, or a 2.5 percent annual growth rate. If the trend continues, India will have one billion people in the 1990s.

The government of India estimates that its annual population increase of over 12 million a year demands 12,500 more schools, 400,000 teachers, 2.5 million houses and four million new jobs —per year.

There is one doctor for approximately 20,000 people in Tanzania, one for 40,000 in Nepal, one for 60,000 in Yemen. In the more developed countries there is generally a doctor for every 1,000 persons.

As crowds peer from balconies into the courtyard, Diane Waggoner and Michael Alexander are married in recreation of wedding 114 years ago.

WITH THIS RING — Bridegroom Michael Alexander's face seems to reflect that sinking feeling which accompanies weddings from time immemorial as Judge Alexander McMahon pronounces him wed to Diana Waggoner. (Another Fiesta photo, page 5.)

WEDDED BLISS — The happy couple embrace as they leave for barbecue in eucalyptus grove adjoining Adobe.

Wedding Of 114 Years Ago Recreated At Adobe Fiesta

It was the first wedding performed at General Mariano Vallejo's Adobe home in 114 years, and a goodly crowd of celebrants got into the mood yesterday afternoon during Petaluma's Old Adobe Fiesta.

Married in the courtyard of the historic structure were Diana Waggoner and Michael Alexander, both of San Francisco. Only persons dressed in outfits of the Vallejo era — Russian, pioneer or Spanish — were admitted to the courtyard; tourists in modern dress were relegated to the balcony or outer yard.

The bridal party arrived in a horsedrawn carriage once owned by the Vallejo family; bride and groom later departed by buggy for a wedding barbecue in the adjoining eucalyptus grove.

During the outdoor ceremony in bright sunshine a foot pump organ and two fiddlers provided appropriate music. The ceremony itself was performed by Judge Alexander McMahon.

Last wedding held in the adobe, built by General Vallejo in the mid-1830s as a headquarters for his huge ranch, was that of William Jones and Rebecca Ann Farley.

Japanese Legislator Impressed By Much On First U.S. Visit

By BETTY FROST

Takako Doi, a member of the Japanese House of Representatives, decided to run for office because she felt very strongly that the philosophy of the constitution should be acted upon.

Miss Doi was a student of Japanese constitutional law, and lectured about her country's new constitution (which went into effect in May of 1947) as a professor at Doshisha College in Kyoto.

She visited Tiburon Friday with a delegation of Japanese lawmakers. It is her first visit to this country, although as a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, she has traveled extensively in Europe, Russia and the Orient.

TAKAKO DOI
Japanese lawmaker

SHE IS ONE of seven women in the 491-member House of Representatives, upper house in the Japanese Diet. There are 15 women in the House of Councilors. Miss Doi was the only woman candidate in her first election in 1969. She represents the second district of Hyogo Prefecture, in the southeast of Honshu. She is a member of the Japanese Socialist Party. She was reelected four years later in an even tougher campaign.

"Women are such a minority in the Diet that the emphasis is not placed on women's interests, but on other matters," she explained.

Miss Doi has been leader in such causes as trying to obtain better jobs, better education, better day care centers and a better break for women who are raising their families alone. There are some day care centers, planned and administered by local government in Japan, but the constituents in her urban-suburban district wish there were more.

OF AMERICAN women Miss Doi said," I am impressed by their cheerfulness and confidence. I am favorably impressed with the way they keep the roles of wife, mother and career in balance. Women in the United States are in a challenging position when they seek more important and difficult jobs. It is the same for Japanese women.

"Like it or not, because of economic factors, women can no longer stay at home, but most must seek employment to supplement the family income."

The price index is much higher in Japan than in the United States, according to Miss Doi. The unemployment rate in Japan is close to zero, but wholesale prices are up over 25 per cent. Although the government has promised to slow inflation, there has recently been a 63 per cent rise in the price of gasoline and a 56 per cent increase in the cost of electricity. Public transportation has also gone up, further aggravating the situation.

THE JAPANESE travelers feel that they have been in this country at historic time. They met Gerald R. Ford when he was vice president and he spoke to them for almost an hour in Washington, D.C.

"I was impressed with President Ford's strong views on the importance of fighting inflation and am anxious to see how he will do it, the Japanese congressman said.

As a member of the environmental policy committee of the House of Representatives, Miss Doi took the initiative in sponsoring the emergency law for environmental protection of the inland sea.

"Many Japanese bodies of water are so polluted that mothers are terrified their children will fall in. They are far too dirty to be used for recreation," she said, looking wistfully at the activity on San Francisco Bay from the deck of The Dock restaurant in Tiburon.

She expects "a severe confrontation" between the automobile industry and the environmentalists when scheduled discussions on air pollution take place after her return.

Miss Doi, 45, hopes to continue in the Diet, but would not rule out practicing law if the political winds blow against

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Helen Wonders Why Sexless Marriage Wasn't Dissolved

DEAR HELEN:

My mother-in-law thinks I'm a goody-goody because Will and I got married instead of just living together like the rest of his family do. She makes fun of me and puts me down. She's even gotten some of Will's nephews to make passes at me.

She lived common-law with Will's Dad until he disappeared and she's had at least three boyfriends since I've known her. Will's sister doesn't bother with marriage, either.

They criticize everything I do! It gets them because I'm a good housekeeper and we don't live on pizzas and beer like they do.

I feel like they're lower than cockroaches (which they have, too), but we live near them and they won't leave me alone. Will won't tell his mother and sister to get lost, so what do you suggest? — MRS. HOLIER THAN THOU (SO-CALLED)

DEAR HOLY:

. . . Distance! Preferably several thousand miles of it! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

In 1961, my husband stopped having sexual relations with me. I was 36. I waited 11 months, then decided that was long enough, so I had an affair with a childhood sweetheart and got pregnant right away.

My husband knows, of course, that my near-12-year-old daughter isn't his. I haven't received even a kiss or hug from him in 13 years.

I let my sweetheart go a while back, and now there's nothing, again. I am a good church member, good housekeeper and know right from wrong, but I'm tempted to look for a new lover. Can you blame me? By the way, my husband's health is fine and always has been. — E.H.

DEAR E.:

I can't blame you for seeking love, but I'm not sold on the way you seek it. And I'm amazed at your apparent lack of curiosity or concern. Didn't you ever ask your husband why he turned off?

Since you two evidently neither talk nor touch, my big question is: Why wasn't this marriage dissolved long ago? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

A college professor has fallen in love with our daughter. He is 47 and soon to be divorced. Another woman is being named in the divorced proceedings — not our daughter. While she was visiting us this summer, he took out still another woman (whose husband objected). It was only one time, he said.

This man travels all over the world on college assignments and my daughter often will go with him.

He has six children, four on their own, two away at school.

If he gets his divorce, they will marry in October. Should we advise our daughter, a 49-year-old widow, that we have our doubts about this marriage? We haven't met the man yet. — DOUBTING THOMASES

DEAR D.T.:

You've a right to express an opinion but a 49-year-old daughter probably won't be swayed by it. Why not follow my Helen Help Us rules: Give advice only when asked and then only if you're pretty sure of the facts; don't jump to conclusions; and remember, eating your words is tougher than holding them back. — H.

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

AMERICAN VACATIONERS

House Swapping Gains Popularity

By JENNIE DOUGLAS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

The idea of house swapping is the fastest-growing facet of American vacationing today.

Adventures-in-Living of Winnetka, Ill., was started in 1970 by Wilma Ferguson and offers exchange listings in 35 states and 14 foreign countries. Mrs. Ferguson, herself an extensive traveler, includes an informative booklet, "How to Exchange Your Home for Another for Vacations," a listing in the directory and supplements, for the all-inclusive price of $10.

Canadian-born Olivia McMillan, who operates the Holiday Homes Exchange Bureau, feels that the business of exchanging homes is still in its infancy. She points out that vacations are no longer limited to summer but continue the year round.

VACATIONS are becoming longer and more frequent as families get away at Christmas, Thanksgiving, Easter and whenever possible. Retired people and those without children prefer other than the summer and are inclinced to just watch for something interesting to appear.

Mrs. McMillan says, "It seems that everyone would want to belong to something that has so much to offer every American family. We say that through our service, 'Your vacation costs little more than staying at home.' " The Holiday Homes Exchange Bureau of Grants, N.M., offers listing for a year plus the directory and monthly supplements for $15 ($10 for retired couples).

The Pan Am Home Exchange Service (Vacation Exchange Club, Inc. of New York), founded by David Ostroff in 1960, lists 4,000 families in its directory, double the number of only two years ago. A listing in the directory costs $12 but you may receive the directory and its supplements for $9 thus enabling you to make contact with any of those listed.

The customary practice is to send at least 20 letters out to those families that appeal to you, choosing the most suitable from the interested, responding parties. Further correspondence, exchange of pictures and, hopefully a telephone call follow.

ONCE THE DETAILS of time and duration of stay are agreed upon, such items as the care of pets, insurance, and utility bills are settled. Houses are not the only things swapped. Often the trade includes a trailer, car, boat, servants or bicycles.

Why are these exchange services so popular? Economy is a prime factor, of course but from from the only one. The advantages to those traveling with children are obvious. You can take the kids along without having to amuse them or keep them quiet and there are often playmates available.

Worry about your own home is at a minimum. You know that goldfish are being fed and plants are being watered. The fear that your house may be burglarized while you are away is also greatly lessened.

Although economy, ease and enjoying all the comforts of home are lauded by all house swappers, their real enthusiasm is reserved for the cultural benefits of the system. House swappers acquire instant status as members of their temporary community.

Neighbors and friends are quickly acquired as is a genuine feeling of authenticity which is well-nigh impossible to achieve on a cruise or tour.

A Few Safeguards Protect Accounts

By ROBERT EDWARDS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

A survey in Chicago disclosed that about 70 per cent of the people questioned transact their personal buisness with a checking account. If you number among this majority, take a few seconds to understand the mechanics of checks and how you can protect your account at the bank.

Take forgery, for example. Electronic-mechanical handling of billions of checks each year — the magnetic ink and number codes permit machines to process 1,000-1,200 checks through a computer every minute — has increased the possibility of a forged check being charged to your account. Clerks still look at each check from one to three times but a check drawn on one of your own printed blanks can still slip through.

IF A FORGED CHECK shows up in your account, you lose — unless you notify the bank. Banks expect you to check monthly statements and returned checks promptly — within a day or two, certainly within a month. To protect your checking account against forgeries, altered amounts and incorrect charges. adopt these routine safeguards:

Check your statement and canceled checks the day they arrive if possible. Look first for any checks that you didn't write.

Examine the amounts. A ,'kited'' check means the amount was altered after leaving your hands but before the check reached the bank.

WHO PAYS the difference on a kited check may depend on how you wrote it. If you left empty spaces and someone added digits to the number and words to the written portion, you could be charged with the loss — the bank could claim your negligence was to blame. But, if you drew the check properly and the bank cashed it anyway, the bank remains liable for the differene between your original amount and the kited figure — if you call the error to the bank's attention.

(To protect your checks against kiting, write the first digit of the number as close to the dollar sign as possible and keep digits close together. Begin writing the amount in words as close to the left edge of the check as possible and draw a line through any remaining space to the "DOLLARS" at the right side.

Check endorsements on paid checks. A bank that cashes your correctly drawn check endorsed by a forger cannot charge the check to your account in the United States.

ACCOUNT FOR all blank checks. Anyone with a packet of your individually printed and codedcheck blanks can play havoc with your account. If new check blanks fail to arrive within 10 days to two weeks after you open a new account or order replacements, notify the bank at once.

Protect your signature by keeping canceled checks in a safe place. A thief may steal packets of canceled checks from your mailbox to copy your signature. Some cautious check writers sign checks with a different form of their name than they use for correspondence and other writings. A few sharpies even sign their checks with a different form of their name than is printed on the blank. For example, checks printed J. A. Doe could be signed Jonathan A. Doe. Just be sure your signature matches the card on file at the bank.

RECONCILE your bank statement with the running balance in your own checkbook to guard against overdrafts resulting from your mistakes in arithmetic, bank errors, kited amounts and forgeries. Use the form printed on the back of most statements for checking your balance.

Certified checks deserve special treatment. When your bank stamps the check for guaranteed payment, the amount is immediately blocked out of your account. If you opt not to use the certified check, return it to the bank for credit — don't tear it up.

Incidentally, a bank draft or chasier's check will usually cost less than the charge for certifying your personal check.

She's Not A Hall Of Famer But Will Push Women's Lib

By MARGUERITE SULLIVAN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — Virginia Trotter might not figure prominently in the women's lib hall of fame but for the next few years her name just might be linked with the cause.

As the top educator in the United States, Dr. Trotter must help implement new federal regulations, expected to go into effect by January, which ban sex discimination in education.

That means "equal access and equal opportunity" for both sexes in everything from the football field to the auto mechanics and home economics classrooms.

VIRGINIA TROTTER
Equality in the classroom

JUST WEEKS into her job as assistant secretary for education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (she was sworn in June 13), Dr. Trotter, 52, who previously was a university administrator, says fortunately the "women's area" is one in which she has a special interest.

She won't be be responsible for enforcing the new anti-sex discrimination regulations — that will be the job of the Office for Civil Rights. Her education division, however, will help school systems work out their plans for compliance with the guidelines.

HER EFFORTS for equal opportunity won't start with the job-hunting stage — but will begin in grade schools, in the writing of textbooks, on athletic fields and in student counseling rooms.

"We've had testing services (in schools) for years," she said.

"If you scored high in science and you were a woman, you were channeled into nursing. But if you were a boy, you were counseled into medicine."

Under the new regulations, boys and girls must be given equal opportunity to find out "what the different alternatives are."

IN SPORTS, it will mean that schools can opt for putting girls and boys on the same teams — "there's no reason why they can't play volleyball together," she says — or schools can continue separate sports programs provided they are equal.

If the sexes are separated, a school must prove its sports program is equal "in terms of facilities and in terms of instruction and in terms of what happens," she said.

"They can have a boys' football course, but they have to be sure that a girl can take football, too, if she wants to. We may have girl football kickers, who knows?"

EQUAL ACCESS won't be one-sided.

Boys will be able to get out of the "bachelor" baking courses and take real home economics. If they want to take shorthand, they can.

"I would like to think that women could grow up learning that it is just as important to make a contribution to productive work of some kind and not be afraid because they didn't get married," Dr. Trotter said.

"I'D LIKE to feel that men would not be subjected to suspicion if they want to pursue a career that was not 'masculine.'"

Dr. Trotter, herself, has scored a lot of firsts for women. She is the first woman to hold the national government's highest education post and was the first woman to hold the number two position in an American land-grant university.

The 5-foot-10 grandmother was vice chancellor for academic affairs at the University of Nebraska when she was plucked for the HEW post.

She previously had been dean of Nebraska's College of Home Economics.

her. She does not foresee the possibility of a cabinet appointment, because her party, the largest opposition party, does not have the strength of the liberal Democratic Party now in power.

San Francisco was the last stop for the delegates. Miss Doi visited Washington, D.C., New York City, Omaha and Atlanta before coming to the Bay Area.

Of her stay in the capitol, she said, "I expected huge demonstrations because of the tense situation in the government. On the contrary, I didn't see one soul walking with placards or talking against the government. Everything was being left to Congress according to law and the Constitution. My deep impression is that freedom of speech and of the press are ruling the politics in this country."

Generation Gap Not Bad Thing

Parental attempts to close the generation gap are "a psychologically unsound — even destructive — enterprise" that causes parents to "lose self-respect" and "their children's respect as well," a noted psychiatrist has asserted.

Dr. Theodore I. Rubin decried the "great social pressure to erase all differences between parents and children," in the September issue of Ladies' Home Journal.

The New York psychoanalyst stated that "our children want to be different, and consequently see a parent's entrance into their generation as inappropriate, aggressive and disrespectful of the child's right to establish . . . his own self."

Instruments Help Asthma

Playing a wind instrument can improve an asthmatic child's pulmonary function and reduce progression of the disease, Meyer B. Marks, MD, reported at the annual congress of the American College of Allergists.

The musical instrument is "a form of long-term breathing exercise" that has proved helpful in rehabilitating children with chronic asthma, he said.

In a two-year study of 30 asthmatic children between the ages of 8 and 14, the 15 who played such instruments showed marked improvement both physically and emotionally, according to Dr. Marks. The recorder and clarinet are most popular.

New Federal Jail Will Be Different

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Room decors in soft pastels, carpeting and spectacular penthouse views of San Diego Bay will be part of jail life for federal prisoners in the near future.

The amenities are part of the Federal Metropolitan Correctional Facility nearing completion in the downtown area.

No bars are visible from inside or outside the $12.8 million high-rise center, but General Services Administration project engineer E. R. McClaine gives assurance they are there.

The bars are built into the walls of each prisoner room and are out of sight and out of reach of hacksaws or other escape tools, he said.

The federal jail is as high as a standard 22-story building, but it is divided into 12 separate levels, each laid out in a trilevel arrangement, McClaine said. Prisoner rooms are slightly elevated around a central activity area.

Except for small tiled areas, each level is fully carpeted, both in common areas and rooms. McClaine said carpeting may seem extravagant for prisoner housing but is not.

"It's about as inexpensive to carpet as it is to lay tile," he said.

Pink, orange and green are among colors chosen to complement the carpeting, and each room has its own toilet and lavatory fixtures. Many rooms have windows, and each level has several showers, a counseling room and a secretary's chambers.

On most levels, prisoners will have rooms to themselves, but dormitory style facilities with open-bay bunks are planned for levels four, five and six.

The jail was planned to house about 500 prisoners on a medium security basis, and it will be linked by an underground tunnel to the federal courthouse being built in the adjacent block. Inmates going to and from court will use the tunnel.

McClaine said each floor will be operated independently of the others from a central control point.

"Any floor can be taken out of operation entirely at any time without affecting the rest of the facility," he said. "The whole building does not have to be functioning if it's not full."

Access to various levels is by elevator, also centrally operated, McClaine said. He noted there is no fire escape, but he said he hopes there will never be cause for evacuation.

"We think it's pretty fireproof," he said.

He also explained the facility has the latest in earthquake protection. The structure sits on an 11-million-pound slab of concrete he referred to as a "raft" in place of pilings.

The structure can shift and tilt on its raft foundation with a minimum of damage if an earthquake hits, he said.

Kids Find A Friend In KINSHIP

By FRANK FARRARA

A troubled young caller says, "I love my father. How can I make him stop drinking?" And another asks, "Where can I get an abortion?"

These questions are typical of the anxious queries that have been coming into the telephone hotline at the Novato Human Needs Center since March.

The line, operated by KINSHIP (Kids in Need Seek Help in People) is open to all who have problems — drugs, alcohol, family hassles or loneliness.

The goal "is to provide the young people of Novato and Marin County with a number (897-NEED) they can call to rap or get information to help them with any problems they may be having," according to Dyanne Bohner, director of KINSHIP.

During the past month there have been several calls about abortion, indicating that young people need information about pregnancy, venereal disease, abortion and sex, Mrs. Bohner said.

A cardinal rule to keep the conversation confidential so a caller knows no one is going to know what he has to say, except the volunteer listener.

"The callers can talk in complete confidence and they don't have to give their names or any information if they don't want to," she said.

Even the volunteers are kept "anonymous" under the program and a reporter's request to listen in was flatly rejected.

The problems range from a boy who is angry because his parents placed him "on restriction" to those who say they no longer want to live at home, she said.

The job is listening, "really listening," informing and lastly, making referrals if appropriate, she said.

Mrs. Bohner, who established KINSHIP after working as a volunteer with the Marin County Probation Department, said 14 and 15-year-olds are "kind of the epitome" of youths with problems, at any age "when they are either getting it together or falling apart."

In the community, she ranked alcoholism as a significant problem with Novato perhaps the "wettest place in the county."

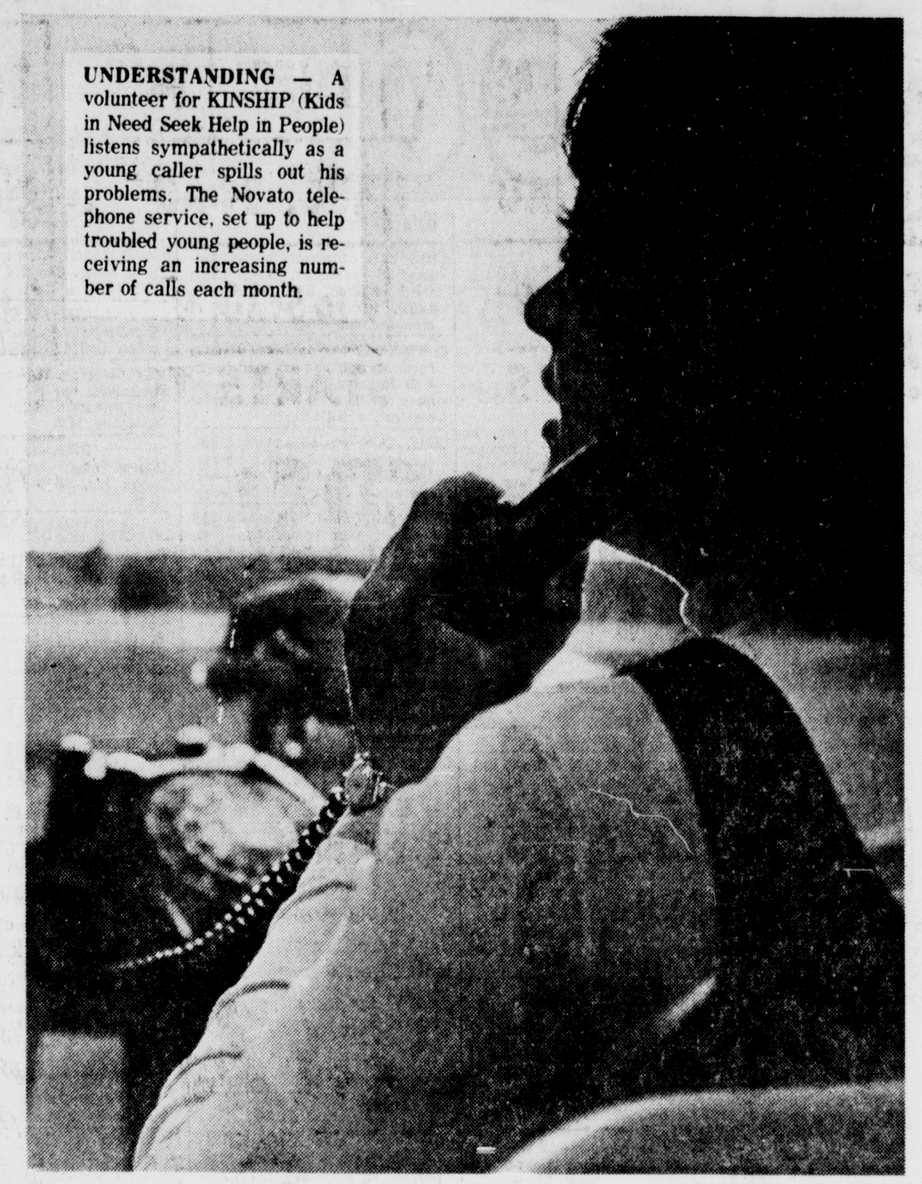
There are a variety of agencies in Marin to help, but "people don't know what's available," she said.

The volunteers, operating out of a special room at the center, have at hand a community resoruces directory for referrals, a "physician's desk reference to pharmaceutical specialities and biologicals" for information," Mrs. Bohner said.

Conversations with callers have ranged from a few minutes to a two-hour-and 45-minute conversation Mrs. Bohner had with a caller, starting at 2 a.m.

The number of calls is below her expectation, "but we're just starting to get flyers out and we hope to start a speakers bureau in September, but word-of-mouth probably is the most valuable advertisement," she said.

As of Aug. 15, the calls this month totaled 30, indicating this will be the heaviest month, she said.



UNDERSTANDING — A volunteer for KINSHIP (Kids in Need Seek Help in People) listens sympathetically as a young caller spills out his problems. The Novato telephone service, set up to help troubled young people, is receiving an increasing number of calls each month.

The service is operating 24 hours a day, with volunteers working from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. in the off-hours an answering service relays calls to volunteers.

By the end of this year Mrs. Bohner hopes to have the hotline manned 24 hours a day.

Court Asked To Overturn Sewer Ruling

Four Stinson Beach property owners asked Friday that Marin Superior Court overturn orders that the community half use of septic tanks.

The Regional Water Quality Control Board banned new construction last fall and ordered septic tanks replaced with a conventional sewage system by Oct. 15, 1977. Voters in the community have rejected a proposal to build such a system, objecting it would encourage excessive growth.

Filing the suit were Carolyn Garcia, Gertrude Herbert, Helen Kerr and Nancy McCarthy. Their attorney is Michael D. Sanford, an opponent of a conventional sewage system.

Their suit claims that the board violated their rights to build on their properties, failed to notify them of its hearing on the action, failed to have an environmental impact report prepared first as required by state law, and exceeded its powers by applying its orders to all septic tank systems, regardless of whether they discharge into waters of the state.

The same objections were made by residents of the community to the State Water Resources Control Board, which rejected them.

In a related matter, the Bay Area Sewage Services Agency postponed for at least a month action on a request by the regional board that it force Stinson Beach to build a conventional system without voter approval. The agency has this power, but never has used it.

The agency was scheduled to consider further action on the move Wednesday night, but the staff said it needed more time to get reports from financial and engineering consultants hired to examine the issue. The agency board may take up the matter at its Sept. 18 meeting, a spokesman said.

Board Sets Dairy Pollution Session

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Tough new water pollution controls that could cost dairies some $70,000 each will be considered tomorrow by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

A board consultant estimated the average cost could exceed $20,000 per dairy, but Marin County Farm Adviser Donald L. Britsan told the Independent-Journal it could hit $70,000.

Approximately 164 dairies are in the board's jurisdiction, about 78 of them in Marin.

The board will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the Alameda County Public Works Building, 399 Elmhurst Street, Hayward. The matter is second on the agenda.

Brittsan said the only efficient way to meet the board's new requirements would be to have barns with sewage collection systems. Such barns cost about $250 per cow, and with an average herd of 200 this comes to $50,000. On top of this, there would be about $20,000 in costs for a holding pond and system to distribute wastewater, he estimated.

Only about one-quarter of Marin's dairymen have barns ready for such sewage systems, he said.

The board's proposed guidelines set a deadline of September, 1976, for dairies on the Tomales Bay and Walker Creek watersheds to halt all discharge of animal wastes into watercourses leading to the bay and creek. All stormwater runoff from animal confinement areas such as corrals and pens would have to be collected so it could not pollute watercourses.

All other dairies would have an additional year to comply.

According to a board notice of the action, it must enforce the controls to meet water quality standards set by the State Water Resources Control Board.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors recently agreed to make up the difference between 5 per cent and whatever interest dairymen have to pay on loans to finance the pollution controls. The board's action was based on its fear that if the costly controls forced dairymen out of business, their property could be sold for development.

College Of Marin Begins Term Today

Beginning classes earlier than ever before in its 48-year history, the College of Marin today opened its doors for the 1974 fall semester.

There appeared to be no special problems created by the early opening, according to Irwin P. Diamond, college president.

"The parking lots are full and that is one good indication that the students are here for classes," he said.

Some 7,041 students have registered for the fall semester, a slight drop from the 7,193 registered last fall, according to Earlene Jones, school publicist.

She said students may still register and enrollment will increase slightly over the next few weeks.

"The kids seem to like it," she said of the yearly opening.

The school's calendar was changed by Marin Community College District trustees to facilitate transfer of students to state universities after the fall semester. In the past, students did not complete the semester until after Christmas and could not transfer to state universities during the winter quarter which began immediately after the first of the year.

Under the new calendar, the fall semester will end before Christmas because of the early opening and students will not have to wait for the spring quarter to transfer.

Diamond said the school will begin a few classes on Sept. 10 for students who could not register for the early opening date. Those classes will require students to attend more hours each week than regular classes so that all classes will end together before Christmas, he said.

The district's other school, Indian Valley Colleges in Novato, also begins Sept. 10.

393 July Major Crimes Reported

A total of 393 major crimes, including the slaying of a Forest Knolls man, were reported in Marin County in July by law enforcement agencies.

Burglary remained the most prevalent crime, with 272 reported.

Five rapes brought the total reported in the county this year to 23, but there are indications that some rape victims are not notifying police.

For example, the Marin Rape Crisis Center has had 27 rapes reported since it began operation in March. "A lot of women we talk to are adamant about not contacting the law because of shame and the fear that the police will make them very uncomfortable," said Diane Ray of the center.

"But we encourage people to make reports and offer to go down to the police station with them if they are willing," she added. "The police in Marin have been very cooperative, by and large, very anxious to be supportive and put the victims at ease."

Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani of San Anselmo, president of the county police chiefs association, said the number of reported rapes in Marin has dropped significantly since the arrest in April of Hansel Elwood Smith Jr., 24, of Novato. Smith told police he had raped 17 women in the county.

Most rape victims are attacked either while hitchhiking or walking alone at night, according to the chief. He urged women not to go anywhere alone, especially at night. "Always go with a companion," Buchignani said.

The Town of Ross is not included in the monthly crime figures as that police department does not make public its crime statistics.

Among all crime reported in Marin in July were these major offenses (with totals to date this year in parenthesis):

Labor Pains Shut Down Gate Bridge

Northbound traffic on Golden Gate Bridge was stopped for eight minutes yesterday so a California Highway Patrolman could rush an expectant mother to a San Francisco hospital.

Margaret Bar, 25, of 1444 Pheasant Drive, Petaluma, was being driven southward by a neighbor in heavy, creeping traffic when she began to get labor pains every three minutes.

The neighbor, John Silverburg, flagged down officer Richard Haley of the California Highway Patrol.

Haley put both Mrs. Bar and Silverburg in his patrol car and radioed ahead to Highway Patrol Lt. Anthony Alberigi who halted northbound traffic at the toll plaza at 4:10 p.m. so that the mother could be speeded along the empty lane.

But it took 4½ hours after Mrs. Bar reached Kaiser Foundation Hospital before the 8-pound, 12-ounce baby boy was born.

High Episcopal Official Resigns

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Dr. Charles V. Willie, the highest lay officer of the Episcopal church, has resigned "as a protest against the inhuman treatment of women."

In a sermon yesterday at Grace Church in Syracuse, Willie, 46, said the Episcopal House of Bishops "displayed an ugly act of male arrogance" when it declared that the July 29 ordination of 11 female deacons as priests was invalid.

"And so I must remove myself from the leadership structure of the Episcopal Church as a protest against the inhuman treatment of women — especially the 11 women priests," Willie said.

Trio Arrested On Incendiary Charge

Three men were arrested on suspicion of incendiarism following a grass fire Saturday that charred three acres near Fair Drive in San Rafael, police said today.

Booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $10,000 bail each to appear today in Marin Municipal Court were Mark Steven Botai, 22, of 103 Lansdale Avenue, San Anselmo; Christopher Olaf Johnson, 18, of 69 Manderly Road, San Rafael, and Gregory Crawford Gocher, 22, of no known address.

An off-duty San Rafael policeman was driving down Fair Drive Saturday when he passed the trio in a parked car and noticed a small blaze at the side of the road, according to police.

Officer Harry Barbier fought the fire with a garden hose until city firemen arrived, police said. The blaze, fought by 21 men, was doused in about an hour.

Two Are Killed When Car, Motorcycle Collide

Two persons were thrown to their deaths last night when their motorcycle collided head-on with an automobile on Highway 121 about two miles north of the Highway 37 intersection in Southern Sonoma County near Black Point.

The California Highway Patrol said Stephen D. Ruport, 24, of San Pablo, was apparently driving his Harley-Davidson north at about 9 p.m. when it struck a southbound Mercedes-Benz sedan driven by Valentino E. Giannini, 47, of San Francisco.

Ruport and a woman passenger, still unidentified, were thrown far from the road by the impact, which destroyed the motorcycle and the front of the car.

Both apparently died instantly, the highway patrol said.

Giannini received minor injuries in the crash, and the highway patrol said it has not yet determined how the accident came about.

Attorney Named To Coast Board

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — San Francisco attorney B. John Bugatto has been appointed by the governor to the North Central Coast Regional Commission.

The 40-year-old Republican replaces Ellen J. Johnck of San Francisco, who resigned. The 14-member commission has jurisdiction over the coastal zone of Marin, Sonoma and San Francisco counties.

A native of San Francisco, he attended Galileo High School. He was graduated with a bachelor's degree from St. Mary's College and got his law degree at the University of San Francisco.

Forest Meadows Barbecue Set

The fifth annual barbecue to benefit Forest Meadows Development Center will be held in the picnic grounds of Deer Park Villa Restaurant on Bolinas Road, Fairfax, at 6:30 p.m., Aug. 26.

A donation of $7.50 per person is asked.

Forest Meadows Development Center serves students 3 to 21 years old who have development disabilities. The school is operated by the Marin County Schools office on the Dominican College campus.

Robber Given Jail Sentence

A San Rafael man will spend one year in Marin County Jail for stealing $190 from a San Rafael delicatessen in February.

Leroy Gerald Reno, 27, drew the sentence and five years' probation from Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best.

The sentencing followed Reno's guilty plea to one count of grand theft.

San Rafael police said he used a stick to hold a clerk at bay at Perry's Delicatessen and escaped with cash receipts. He was cornered in a nearby street and arrested.

San Quentin Is Easing Its Lockup

The lockup at San Quentin Prison, imposed after a stabbing Friday, was being gradually eased yesterday and today, a prison spokesman said this morning.

The west and south blocks have been opened and officials were to meet this morning to consider other steps, according to Sgt. Alex T. Silva, acting information officer.

Work crews are being released as usual. "We're getting back to normal," Silva said.

A total lockup was put into effect Saturday after Walter Hiryk, 38, was stabbed 28 times. He was reported in satisfactory condition today at the prison hospital.

Yesterday, the west and south blocks were opened and half of the 900 men in the east block were allowed to go to the canteen.

New 'Doorman' Robs Tenants

NEW YORK (UPI) — An armed robber who dressed up like an apartment house doorman and greeted residents cheerfully, robbed several tenants and escaped with more than $5,000 in cash and jewelry, police reported today.

Police said the robber walked into the lobby of an apartment on Manhattan's West Side about lunchtime and forced the regular doorman at gunpoint to take off his green uniform. The gunman then locked the doorman in a mail room with two other tenants and put on the uniform.

Saying, "Good afternoon, I'm your new doorman," the bandit greeted four residents, and robbed them of $170 in cash and about $5,345 worth of watches, rings and other jewelry.

Burton To Hold Community Talks

Four "community dialogues" to get voters' views on federal government issues will be held Saturday and next Monday by Rep. John L. Burton, D-Sixth District.

The Saturday meetings will be at 10:30 a.m. at Corte Madera City Hall, 1 p.m. at Las Gallinas Valley Unitarian Church and 3:30 p.m. at Novato City Hall. The Monday session will be at 8 p.m. at West Marin School in Point Reyes Station.

A spokesman for Burton said the meetings, Burton's first since he was elected in June, will be held periodically when he returns from Washington.

Drug Charge Is Dropped For A Time

Because San Francisco police won't reveal the name of a drug informant, narcotics charges against 27-year-old Leon Richard Schinazi of Greenbrae have been dropped.

But as soon as the informant's work is concluded and he can be identified, charges of offering to sell cocaine will be reinstated against Schinazi, the Marin District Attorney's office has warned.

Following an investigation in May, San Francisco police arrested Schinazi at a San Rafael home, then went to his Greenbrae residence and found more than two pounds of cocaine estimated to be worth $65,000.

When officers refused to reveal the informant's name, Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court dismissed the felony charge.

Adult Education Registration On

Registration for the College of Marin adult education program, which includes courses in 26 areas of instruction, is now under way, according to college officials.

Registration by mail will end Sept. 13, and registration in person will begin Sept. 16 at the registrar's office on the Kentfield campus.

Classes, including 16 new offerings, will begin Sept. 23.

Supervisors Will Discuss Wages

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, which will be short two members, will hold a half-day session tomorrow beginning at 2 p.m. at Civic Center.

The board will consider a plan to create a special committee to compare the wages of public employees with those who work in private industry and a resolution setting an election for the proposed special district to finance improved fire protection for unincorporated aeas around San Rafael.

Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. will be in Washington D.C. Testifying before congressional committees to urge acquisition of more recreational lands in Marin.

Fairfax Meeting Set

The Fairfax Open Space Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in town hall to review a report by town consultants on a local open space plan, according to Mayor Frank J. Egger.

Street Fair Fight Leads To Shooting

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A policeman attracted by a shotgun blast at the Castro Street Fair yesterday grappled with the unidentified gunman and then shot and killed him.

Officer Arnold Strite was on his lunch hour when he heard the shotgun discharge. When he arrived at the scene, he found shopkeepers try to wrest the shotgun from a man who appeared to be about 25.

Strite shoved his revolver against the man's ribcage and told him to drop the weapon. Then, a second shotgun blast hit the pavement nearby.

Richocheting pellets struck the shoulders of two women in the surrounding crowd—Margaret Romano, 70, and Jill Channesian, 24. They were hospitalized in satisfactory condition.

After the second shotgun discharge, the officer fired his .357 magnum, felling the gunman. He was given mouth-to-mouth resusitation and died later at Mission Emergency Hospital, police said.

FIAT

Americans are discovering why Fiat is the largest selling car in Europe. With the price of gasoline as high as $2.00 per gallon in Europe, with the extremes of the weather, the road conditions and the extreme conditions of inflation, Fiat makes it obvious to Europeans.

It is now obvious why America is discovering Fiat.

Two good reasons are

the 124 Special TC

This car lives up to two names: FIAT and Special. It's compact in size and price — but in every other way, it's big: Space, comfort, safety, dependability, durability, trunk-room, economy — and power (now, the FIAT 124 Special TC has a 1592 cc. twin overhead cam engine). It's only 165.6" in length, yet the interior is a luxurious family room on wheels designed to accommodate four full-size adults. Its acceleration is faster than many cars with larger, less efficient engines; it cruises silently and effortlessly on fast freeways. All coil springs and true-tracking, long-lasting radial-ply tires cushion the ride. Disc brakes on all four wheels give you safe, sure stopping control. An automatic transmission is available. Discover the FIAT 124 Special. It fits your family. And your budget.

the 124 Sport Cpe

FIAT 124 Sport Coupe — the magnificent merger of true sports car performance and luxurious family sedan function. And it's a perfect combination — not a compromise. The elegance of its styling expresses your excellent taste. The richness and practicality of the spacious interior confirm your sound judgment. And when this thoroughbred is in motion, you'll know the emotion of pure sports car excitement — 1756 cc. twin overhead cam engine, 5-speed transmission, console mounted electronic tachometer, disc brakes on all four wheels, radial-ply tires, instant response, total control. There are few cars in the world that are even similar to it. There are none in its price range. Discover a dynamic car for a spirited family — the FIAT 124 Sport Coupe.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Marin County Planning Commission will hold a public hearing to consider the Commission's amendments to Titic 22 (Zoning) of the Marin County Code, which amendments would reclassify, separably and independently, the following properties in the Big Rock Ridge area, including properties all or partially designated as Ridge and Upland Greenbelt Open Space in the Marin Countywide Plan.

As described in the Planning Commission's adopted policies for rezoning open space area designated in the Marin Countywide Plan, the purpose of the proposed rezoning is to apply very low densities, to protect the open space character of the areas, and to achieve consistency with the plan's policies. For most private, non-agricultural parcels, a very low density RMP (Residential, Multiple Planned District), will be recommended because it allows maximum flexibility in building placement and allows either detached or attached units. The Commission will consider rezoning to either a higher or lower density, according to the specific characteristics of the site, at the time development plans are presented. The possibility of provision of low, moderate, or middle-income housing will be one of the considerations to be applied to the decision concerning density at the time of the review of the development.

The following parcels are included in this proposal:

a) From A-2:B-4 (Limited Agricultural District, one acre building site):
121-110-12, 13, 14
125-140-21, 33, 39, 40

150-480-02, 03, 04, 05, 06, 07, 08, 09
164-300-02, 05, 06

b) From A-2 (Limited Agricultural District, one unit per 2 acres):

164-290-04, 23, 50, 58, 71, 72

To RMP- (Residential, Multiple Planned District, Density to be determined by the Planning Commission), O-A (Open Area District) or A- (Agricultural and Conservation District, Density to be determined by the Planning Commission).

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that said hearing will be held during the regular meeting of the Marin County Planning Commission on Monday, September 16, 1974, in the Planning Commission Hearing Room, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, which meeting commences at 9:00 a.m. Those wishing to attend said hearing may call the Planning Department at 479-1100, Extension 2526, on Friday, September 13, 1974, in order to be informed of the place on the agenda and the approximate time of the hearing.

Interferon May Help Common Cold; Only Tests Will Tell

"What has happened to interferon — the miracle substance that was supposed to be the cure for the common cold?"

Unfortunately, not much. As with other potentially valuable experimental drugs, a new use or accidental discovery could make interferons a household word. A recent article in the "New England Journal of Medicine" showed that nosedrops containing an interferon inducer decreased the infectiousness of the common cold virus. By increasing the person's resistance to infection, it acted as a preventive, rather than a cure.

Interferons are naturally-occurring proteins that prevent almost any known virus from multiplying. They are difficult to work with because the substance is effective only on cells from which it originates. For example, interferon made in chick cells inhibits the synthesis of different viruses in the chick, but it does not prevent infections in human cells.

THIS SITUATION WAS partially overcome when it was discovered that certain substances are interferon inducers. When these chemicals get into cells, they trigger the mechanism that starts interferon production. Thus, the individual makes his own interferon, protecting him against almost any viral infection.

Propanediamine, the interferon inducer used in the experiment mentioned, did an excellent job of stimulating the production of interferon in nasal secretions.

Interferon has a bright future, even though it was not tested practically as a preventative. Using a drug before symptoms develop is an unusual approach to preventing nasal colds. After all, most of us do not know when these kinds of infections are about to strike.

TWISTED ARTERY

D. T. writes: What is a tortuous artery?

REPLY

The aorta is the large artery that carries blood from the heart to all parts of the body. When it is affected by arteriosclerosis, this vessel becomes dilated, elongated and twisted like an old rubber band.

NO ONE DOES

N. V. writes: Can a 52-year-old man who has chronic leukemia live indefinitely?

REPLY

He couldn't live indefinitely even if he did not have leukemia.

ANTABUSE

A reader writes: I'm an alcoholic who takes Antabuse. Will I have to take this drug for the rest of my life?

REPLY

Antabuse therapy may be required for months or even years. But you must avoid alcohol for the rest of your life.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

Sit-Up Record Set By Marine

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — A Marine recruiter claims to be the new world sit-up champion.

Capt. Alan Jones ended a 16-hour marathon Saturday night after completing 27,003 sit-ups.

The sponsoring Oregon Lung Association said Jones beat the existing world record of 25,220 sit-ups held by an 8-year-old Idaho boy.

Girl Invents Glowing Paper

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Becky Schroeder was 10 years old when she became frustrated while trying to do homework one night waiting in a car for her mother at a local shopping center.

"I couldn't see what I was writing and I wondered why someone didn't invent something so people could write in the dark," she said.

The youngster, now 12 years old, went home and invented "luminescent writing sheets" — an invention that may have many people, including the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, knocking on her door.

Becky explained her invention as being a heavy sheet of paper coated with phosphorescent paint. The paper is coated and exposed to light for a minute or two. It then glows in the dark "pretty brightly" for one to two hours. She said her invention will allow people not only to write in the dark but also to write neatly.

Trust Has $50,000 To Give Away

SAN JOSE (UPI) — A $50,000 fund is waiting to be given away to worthy grass-roots causes.

The money is interest on the $750,000 Harry E. Wright Jr. Charitable Trust, administered by attorney John E. Thorne.

Harry E. Wright Jr., heir to a shipping and sugar fortune, died in 1969. He had put his money in the trust fund in the care of his attorney, Thorne, who defended Angela Davis.

The Wright estate was supplemented by $250,000 which the trust gained when it sold the Berkeley Barb. The Barb's founder, Max Scherr, had turned the paper over to the trust when his ex-wife was trying to get it.

Thorne says the trust has already aided the defense of destitute Indians, some legal research for the National Lawyers Guild and a medical clinic. Now it has $50,000 more in earnings to dispense.

Fire Is Contained

THE FEMININE TOUCH

French TV May Lose 'Charm'

By ALINE MOSEY

PARIS (UPI) — Along with handmade clothes and cheap little restaurants, the future of another cherished institution of France — female television announcers — hangs in doubt.

On two of France's three channels, smiling beauties with gleaming teeth, lacquered hair and inextinguishable happiness announce program schedules.

President Valery Giscard d'Estaing in July ordered the state-operated TV to break up into six competing systems by year's end.

Whether the reorganized television will retain the 27-year-old custom of lady announcers "depends upon the new program director," said Jacques Planche, supervisor since 1953 of his stable of girl announcers.

"The girls may disappear with computers taking over. They are artisan work."

The third channel which opened in 1972 uses computer-run printed announcements to identify the channel and announce programs.

Female TV announcers have appeared elsewhere in Europe but Planche said France holds the record of nine girls for the two channels.

The lady announcers came into being "as a human, charming touch" when Channel One opened in 1947. In line with orders from the French out of the French language, the girls are supposed to be called "presentatrices". But Planche and the public still call them "speakerines" in Franglais. When the second channel opened in 1964, Planche chose three more speakerines out of 10,000 applicants.

Of his nine girls, all are married, most have children and one — the eldest and the wife of one of the TV executives — is a grandmother.

Down the years one girl quit to go on radio, another to become a photographer. Planche fired one when she made the front pages by biting two policemen and another was dismissed for posing virtually nude for a magazine.

In addition to announcing programs, the girls apologize when films are put on upside down or in case of other technical difficulties, a steady characteristic of French TV.

The girls' sing-song introductions are mimicked mercilessly by stage comedians. But Planche said the public regards them as friends, showering them with fan latters, propositions and proposals.

One day speakerine Catherine Langeais got caught in the rain outside the studio and had to pull her hair back from her face.

"The minute she got on TV the telephone calls started, 100 at wime, demanding to know why she changed her hair style," Planche said.

HISTORICAL SITE

Fort Retains Some Taste Of The Past

VANCOUVER, Wash. (UPI) — More than 150 years ago, fur trappers in the Pacific Northwest carved the first permanent Anglo-Saxon settlement out of the forested wilderness along the banks of the Columbia River. That settlement was Fort Vancouver, a trading post for the Hudson Bay Company.

In 1974, the scene surrounding the site of the old fort has changed, but the spirit has not.

Pioneers of a new era are restoring the settlement in a modern day kind of wilderness that flanks the fort — on two sides by airports, on one side by a U.S. Army barracks and on the other by urban America, complete with stagnating pollution indexes.

Declared a national historic site by Congress in 1954, Fort Vancouver is engaged now in what National Park Service officials term "living history."

So far this year, 200,000 visitors have visited the site, which offers a log fort recreated in the design of that built in 1826, a pioneer garden, wheat field and a trading store. In addition reconstruction of the old bakery has begun.

The idea of a garden and the trading post was that of Bob Amdor of the park service, a man totally engrossed in trying to communicate the historic perspective of old Fort Vancouver to the public.

Amdor said the trading post and the garden were designed to supplement the physical reconstruction of the four walls and bastion of the fort itself.

The garden is a "dynamic activity" that utilized college students in the work study program and neighbor youth commission volunteers, he said, to grow the same type of vegetables that were grown by residents of the historic Hudson Bay establishment.

One of the workers is Nancy Prudence Peterson, a Portland Community College student, who can be found any day of the week battling weeds which have invaded the garden.

Working in a full-length dress of the 1840's period, a bonnet and an apron, Nancy tends the vegetables as they were cared for more than 100 years ago.

She said the clothes made it more realistic, excluding her feet, for she works barefoot. She likes it better that way.

The only problem, besides the numerous weeds, she said, was that it gets hot inside the dress.

Although the garden is historic in representation, Amdor is reluctant to admit that it is not historically accurate. The garden was plowed by a mechanized tractor and is watered by irrigation sprinklers.

Somewhat embarrassed, he describes a plot of land, now planted in vegetables, that had been left unplowed for years and was infiltrated by concrete footings and natural gas lines.

He said the park service in the future wants to obtain a horse to turn the grist mill, another phase of restoration. When they do have a horse, Amdor said, they may haul water from the Columbia to the garden.

For now, the garden is one acre of peas, tomatoes, carrots, potatoes, corn, watermelon, beans and other food items directly traceable to those grown in the 1800s.

When harvested the vegetables are given away as samples in the canvas-covered trading post located within the fort. This year more than 500 pounds of pie cherries were given away, Amdor said.

In addition to the trade store, within the fort are a series of archaeological diggings from which the details of building reconstruction are determined, Amdor said.

Currently work is being done on the site of the old blacksmith's shop. In the opposite corner of the fort is where the actual trading store was once located. When diggings there are completed, the temporary trading post now in the middle of the fort will be removed and the "real structure" reconstructed.

Amdor said nearly $100,000 in archaeological work has been spent in five years and $250,000 in reconstruction, beginning with completion of the north wall in 1966.

Within five years, the National Park Service hopes to have restored 14 buildings within the five and one-half acre interior of the fort, including the blacksmith's, the chief factor's house and the social center.

In various instances, diggings around building sites will be left partially exposed to show the public how the details of reconstruction were determined, Amdor said.

Historical reference also is aided by the comparison of uncovered artifacts and their present day counterparts. Within the trading post are restored pots, shovels, files, pottery and historic replicas of wooden barrels, plus authentic Hudson Bay blankets, although only recently manufactured.

Kind Doctor Will Keep His House

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — An orthopedic surgeon, obliged to make a public appeal to former patients who owed him an estimated $150,000, will be able to keep his house now.

Dr. Leo J. McDermott, 66, came close to losing his Portland house because of more than $14,000 in unpaid back taxes.

Now the chief of rehabilitation at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Togus, Maine, McDermott said he paid $5,000 of his debt last week and will have the balance sometime this week.

McDermott said the hospital's credit union has approved a loan which will permit him to pay the balance of more than eight years' back property taxes.

In June, McDermott made a public appeal to his former patients in Portland to pay their past due bills. He never billed a patient during his 30 years of practice in Maine's largest city.

The surgeon estimated more than 1,000 Portland area residents owed him money.

In response to the appeal, he said, he has received more than $6,000.

McDermott now lives in a government house on the hospital grounds at Togus. The Portland house is occupied by a married daughter and her husband and an unmarried daughter.

John Lindsay Back In New York City

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Mayor John V. Lindsay is back in "the world's greatest city" today after an eight-month trip to Europe and the Caribbean where he wrote essays and acted in a motion picture.

Lindsay, who left at the beginning of the year after completing two terms as mayor, said he paid for part of the trip by taking a part in the Otto Preminger movie "Rosebud." Lindsay plays the role of a U.S. senator whose daughter is kidnaped by terrorists.

THE UNEXPLAINED

From The Darkness Two Women Hear Battle Trumpets Sound

One night in August 1951, two Englishwomen in France heard the sounds of a battle which was fought nine years before — to the day.

The two women — the wife of a British Member of Parliament and her sister-in-law — were on holidays in France with their children. They were staying in a small hotel about a mile east of Dieppe.

Suddenly, through the stillness of the summer night, the women heard an unearthly din. It sounded like the crackle of gunfire, the moan of aircraft, the whistling and exploding of shells, and the shouts and screams of wounded and dying men. Yes, unmistakably the sounds of a battle.

The two Englishwomen looked at the clock in their room. 4 a.m. As they lay in bed, listening, the roar of the battle grew louder and seemed to be moving closer.

Venturing out onto the balcony of their room, the two women peered into the darkness. Nothing was to be seen. And yet, from the surrounding darkness, they could hear the fury of battle rising to a crescendo.

The women heard shells burst overhead — but saw no glow. They heard planes divebombing — but saw no aircraft. Then they heard the sound of tanks rumbling up the road past the hotel — yet there was nothing visible but the empty road.

At 4:50 a.m. the din stopped abruptly. Then it resumed 15 minutes later and continued until 7 a.m. when it faded and the birds began to sing.

Shaken by theri eerie experience the two women questioned other guests in the hotel. Had they heard any tumult during the night? The answer was no.

It was then the women decided that in some bizarre, unimaginable way they had tuned in to the Allied raid on Dieppe on August 19, 1942 when 10,000 troops, most of them Canadian, made a massive probe into Nazi-occupied France.

The women wrote separate accounts of what they had heard, while the experience was still fresh in their memories. These reports were filed with the respected Society for Psychical Research in London.

The two witnesses shunned publicity and to this day their identities have not been revealed. But investigators for the Society for Psychical Research said that the women's accounts of what they heard matched closely the actual sequence of the Dieppe raid — even to its having started at 4 a.m. the ended three hours later.

One investigator assessed the women's characters and credibility as being the highest and concluded: "I think their experience must be rated as a genuine psychic phenomenon."

Pot Agent Is Found To Inhibit Cancer

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — An agent in marijuana has retarded the growth of cancer in mice and researchers at the Medical College of Virginia are hopeful that it may be helpful in treating human cancer patients.

The findings were announced over the weekend by the Medical College of Virginia. The experiments are described in the new issue of "Science," the journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The researchers will present their findings Wednesday at a meeting of the American Society of Pharmacology and Experimental Theraputics in Montreal.

The college said: "Experimentation conducted ... demonstrated that marijuana's active molecule, delta-9THC, slowed the growth of lung tumors, a mammary tumor, and a virus induced leukemia, and significantly prolonged the life of the animals" inflicted with the illnesses.

The college said in experiments cancerous mice which were treated with high doses of delta-9THC lived 36 per cent longer than untreated mice. Mice treated with a powerful drug now in use as a treatment for human cancer, however, lived 48 per cent longer than untreated mice.

The experiments were conducted by MCV pharmacologists Richard A. Carchman, Marvin A. Friedman, and Albert E. Munson and graduate student Jeffrey A. Levy.

The researchers stressed their studies are still in the early stages and said furthur investigation will be necessary before the marijuana molecule may be used in human beings.

The researchers said implications of the discovery are so far reaching that years of research may stem from it.

'Singular Man' Shows Practice

By GERALD GENESE

The Bolinas Company, which consists of four actors, a director, and a few technicians, rehearsed J. P. Donleavy's romantic black comedy, "A Singular Man," for a period of eight months, concentrated on character development for six months and for two months on the technical aspects of acting without props, lighting, sound and stage design. The result is very good.

"A Singular Man," will run one more weekend, Aug. 23, 24 at 8:30 p.m., at the Bolinas Community Center, Wharf Road, which is right in the center of town. Director Roy Buckman plans on bringing the show to other cities in Marin.

Donleavy, author of the novel, "The Ginger Man," has written a play about an exceptionally talented and successful businessman, George Smith (Robert Rosas), whose rule of thumb for success is, "Free the mind of emotional ingredients when looking for profits." As a result, George's real dilemma is to get these emotional ingredients back into his personal life, which is a disaster. George is a mid-20th Century, functioning schizoid.

"A SINGULAR MAN" — a play in two acts by J.P. Donleavy; directed by Roy Buckman; lights designed by Robert Rosas; set design by Roy Buckman. The cast: First Actor, Sean O'Hara; George Smith, Robert Rosas; Sally Tomson, Kathy Stevens; Ann Martin, Deborah Cummings.

Rosas gets off to a slow start but about halfway through the play he begins to sink his teeth into the role, and shows us the many aspects of this complicated man.

George does what many successful men do: spends and makes lots of money, manipulates people, enjoys and tortures himself at the same time, and has a number of disastrous extra-marital affairs.

George also does some very peculiar things. As the play begins he meets an old friend (Sean O'Hara) on Wall Street and his only responses to his friend's questions is a series of beeps. One beep for yes, and two beeps for no. He also communicates, on occasions, with his wife in this manner. A part of George's personality is becoming mechanical and automatonlike. The idea and its execution is very funny.

Aside from making money, George's favorite pastime is seducing his secretaries. Kathy Stevens as Sally Thompson, is George's first conquest. Miss Stevens is a beautiful and talented actress. Miss Stevens portrays her character as a direct, open, no nonsense, free spirit who knows what she wants, and says it.

She wants George, physically and emotionally. George wants Sally, but cannot bring himself to make the complete commitment to her. His milieu has forced him to separate his mind and feelings from his body.

After Sally quits her job, George immediately seduces his other secretary, Ann Martin (Deborah Cummings). In one of the funniest scenes in the play, Ann enters the office with a rifle. She has become pregnant, and is determined to have George make her an honest woman. How the scene is resolved is hilarious.

Miss Cummings is excellent as Ann, the zany, single girl in her midthirties who sees life slipping through her fingers because she is still tied to her mother's apron strings.

"A Singular Man," is a comedy, but ends on a bleak note. Not being able to penetrate George's defenses, Sally decides to marry another man, but the day before her marriage, she is killed in an automobile accident. Did she commit suicide?

Sean O'Hara who plays five characters is quite good with most of his roles, but has not yet grasped the handle on the Old Friend. It's a difficult scene, and I'm sure he will improve as time goes on. His waiter in the Beer and Bar Restaurant is excellent.

One of the most interesting aspects of this production is that no props are used. The actors simulate the props by gesture, drinking, for example, without glasses. Director Buckman, who has been influenced by Poland's Jerzy Grotowski, believes this exercise would aid the actors to get closer to themselves, and thus their roles. This was an admirable goal, but the end result was uneven. Too often the actions were not believable. With more performance time, the technique should work, and will be very interesting to watch.

Horacio Gutierrez Concert Is Something To Remember

By PATRICK HURTADO

Horacio Gutierrez, the young Cuban-American pianist, gave a large, apparently grateful audience something to remember yesterday afternoon at Marin Veterans' Memorial Building.

Superb musicianship and virtuosic technique are wedded in this young man to create a performer possessing great brilliance of delivery enhanced by deeply moving musical insight. One rarely finds such a combination in an artist so young.

His virtuosity was undeniable, yet one beautifully molded musical line after another was offered carefully and thoughtfully. No matter how many thickly written textures lurked in the music, there was always enough clarity and light to see through them. No affected playing, or mushy pedal work, here!

The program opened with Beethoven's Sonata in A Major, Opus 2, Number 2. Here, Gutierrez used a light, somewhat percussive touch that carried the music well, if somewhat dryly, throughout most of the piece. His pedal work was minimal, giving a clear texture. He drew quite a different voice from the piano on this opening work than throughout the balance of the program.

The magnificent Sonata in B minor by Liszt was next. The performance was aweinspiring and could leave no one in doubt of Gutierrez's musical thrust. One overwhelmingly climactic phrase followed another, leaving one breathless and musically filled to capacity. His dynamic range was as astoundings as his pacing was superb.

The harsh, often biting Prokofiev Sonata No. 6 in A Major, Opus 82 was last on the schedule. Here one could easily focus on Guitierrez' phenominal technique, marvellous sense of rhythm and musical assurance. He matched the composer's slashing fragments of brilliant color stroke for stroke.

Gutierrez never showed the least bit of affectation. At all times during the recital, he offered carefully thought out music that was both exhilarating and very, very gratifying.

Two contrasting encores were given: The lyrical "October" by Tchaikowsky and the hair-raising last movement of Prokofiev's Seventh Sonata. The audience gave him an instantaneous standing ovation which was well-deserved.

This was the final concert in the series offered by the Marin Music Chest.

The young recipients of the Marin Music Chest scholarships were introduced before this magnificent young pianist began his program.

Marin Grid Stars Run Over Sonoma, 14-7

Richter Scores 2 Touchdowns

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Blasting through massive holes opened by the interior line, Marin fullback Mark Richter and his backfield buddies ran Sonoma to death, 14-7, Saturday night in the first Marin-Sonoma All-Star Bowl.

A slightly less than capacity crowd at San Rafael High's 3,000 seat stadium attended. Proceeds are earmarked for various charities and community activities in Marin.

Despite being undersized and outweighed by the visitors from the North, Marin's best graduating seniors moved 'em out on offense and contained Sonoma's vaunted passing attack with ease.

"We knew we were going to be outweighed and that we'd have to get off the ball fast," Marin head coach Al Scott from Novato said afterward. "We also thought they'd be overagressive and come straight at us to try to intimidate us. So we ran a ton of traps and it worked."

Tackles Bruce Bollen of Terra Linda and Mike Tessin of Redwood, guards Ray Snell of Tamalpais and Doug Kern of Redwood and centers Warren Pino of Drake and Jim Schneider of Marin Catholic worked like a demolition crew to blow out the Sonoma line and spearhead a running attack that rolled up 213 yards.

Richter, from Redwood, accounted for 102 and both of Marin's touchdowns. "He's a back and a half," Scott boasted. "I only wish I had him on my team all year. A team with 11 players like him would be outlawed."

Richter opened the scoring with a seven-yard rush up the middle eo culminate a 13-play drive following the opening kickoff. The bruising fullback carried the ball six times for 46 yards in the 63-yard march.

UNSTOPPABLE — Marin fullback Mark Richter straight-armed Sonoma safety Ray Jones during a seven-yard touchdown run in the first quarter Saturday night at San Rafael High. Richter also scored Marin's second touchdown in a 14-7 win. (Photo by Ty Barbour)

Sonoma's only touchdown came in the second quarter; with less than two minutes gone, a bad snap on Marin's only punt attempt of the game gave the visitors the ball on the Marin 25. Quarterback Joel Faller of Cardinal Newman swept right end on a pretty keeper for the touchdown and Don Lucchessi of Rancho Cotate converted.

But the TD did nothing to change the game's momentum, and would be looked back upon as Sonoma's single brilliant moment.

The winning touchdown was cued by Drake's Corky Ingraham, who recovered a Sonoma fumble on the first play following the second-half kickoff. Richter, who spent the second quarter on the bench with stomach pains, recovered sufficiently to scramble 17 yards to score on the fourth play thereafter, and George Saunders of San Marin added his second extra point for 14-7.

Marin's defense limited Sonoma to five first downs and denied them a sustained drive until the dying minutes of the game. Even then the closest Sonoma could penetrate was the Marin 34.

Safety Dave Brazell of Novato keyed the lively Marin defensive secondary that was successful in keeping the ball out of the arms of Sonoma speedster Ray Jones of Rancho Cotate, Gil Proctor of Cardinal Newman and Gary Gomes of Montgomery. They caught just four passes among them.

Steve D'Ambra of San Rafael, Mark Lipe of Novato and Fred Adams of Tamalpais added 111 yards to Marin's running game; D'Ambra and Richter also starred at the corners on defense.

As Pro Football Strike Continues

Games Are Sparsely Attended

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

After a weekend of sparsely attended National Football League preseason games, the empty seats may be filled tonight in a re-match of the 1974 Super Bowl finalists, the champion Miami Dolphins and the Minnesota Vikings. (The game will be televised at 6 o'clock on Channel 7.)

The host Dolphins anticipate the first sellout of the exhibition season in the television debut of Monday night football. Both coaches plan to start a large contingent of veterans, but Miami is given the edge since 34 Dolphin veterans were already in camp when the striking players association called a 14-day "cooling off" period beginning last Wednesday. The Vikings only had six veterans in camp at the time.

Although striking NFL players officially traded their picket signs for football equipment and reported to camp last Wednesday, few saw action in the 11 games played over the weekend.

Most coaches preferred to get a last look at rookies, free agents and marginal veterans while allowing their first-stringers to round themselves into shape.

Football fans, apparently uninterested in watching the rookies, stayed away from the stadiums in large numbers over the weekend.

In other games yesterday, Denver dropped San Francisco 10-3, Buffalo trimmed Washington 16-15 and New England hobbled New Orleans 7-3.

In Saturday's action, the New York Giants beat the New York Jets 21-13, Baltimore crushed Cleveland 37-3, Cincinnati nipped Falcons 13-7 in overtime, Dallas downed Houston 19-13 in overtime, Green Bay muzzled Chicago 20-10, Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 33-30 in overtime and Los Angeles drubbed Kansas City 58-16.

COME BACK HERE — Ron Carpenter of Cincinnati grabbed Falcon quarterback Bob Lee and brought him down for a loss early in the second quarter yesterday in Atlanta. The Bengals won the National Football League exhibition game, 13-7. (UPI Telephoto)

Bills 16, Redskins 15

John Leypoldt booted a 52-yard game-winning field goal as the gun sounded to carry the Bills to victory over the Redskins.

Cardinals 48, Chargers 14

It took the Cardinals 17 ½ minutes to get their initial first down, but they went from there to rout the Chargers after being sparked by halfback Terry Metcalf's 76-yard touchdown run in the second quarter.

Patriots 7, Saints 3

Sam Cunningham capped a 60-yard third period drive with a one-foot dive to give the Patriots a win over the Saints.

Giants 21, Jets 13

Rookie running back Doug Kotar scored on a 70-yard pass play and raced 13 yards for a second touchdown to lead the Giants over the rival Jets.

Colts 37, Browns 3

Veteran quarterback Marty Domres ran for one touchdown and directed the Colts to a victory over the Browns as Baltimore dominated the game from the time they scored their first touchdown on their third play from scrimmage.

Bengals 13, Falcons 7 OT

Rookie quarterback Wayne Clark passed 60 yards to first-year wide receiver John McDaniel for a touchdown in overtime to give the Bengals a victory over the Falcons.

Cowboys 19, Houston 13 OT

Roger Staubach threw a 23-yard touchdown pass to tie the game with 20 seconds left in regulation time, and then scurried two yards with five minutes gone in overtime to give the Cowboys a come-from-behind win over the Oilers.

Packers 20, Bears 10

The Packers spotted the Bears a 10-point lead early in the first half then rallied on the passing of three-year veteran Jerry Tagge and the catching of rookie back Eric Torkelson to win.

Steelers 33, Eagles 30 OT

Roy Gerela kicked a 19-yard field goal to give the Steelers a triumph over the Eagles after seven minutes and 33 seconds of overtime.

Rams 58, Chiefs 16

Players Reduce Demands

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Leaders of the Players Association insisted yesterday they have reduced their "freedom issue" and economic demands to rock bottom in a new compromise bid to settle the marathon pro football dispute with the owners.

The National Football League Players Association made public at a yesterday news conference details of a 16-point, one-year contract package which has been submitted to the owners.

"We've compromised on every one of the freedom issues," Ed Garvey, executive director of the association, told newsmen. "This is the bottom limit we can recommend to our members."

Meanwhile, the seven player members of the union executive committee, who have been bargaining with the owners, were headed for their training camps. They were increasingly concerned that they might be jeopardizing their jobs by failing to report.

Most of the striking veterans reported last week when the union announced the 42-day-old strike was being lifted for a two-week "cooling off" period.

Bargaining talks under the supervision of chief federal mediator W. J. Usery Jr. were recessed late Saturday with an air of pessimism over prospects of a settlement. No further sessions are planned until later this week.

"The cooling off gesture by the players hasn't worked thus far," Garvey said yesterday, "even though the owners have been seriously hurt. The crowds at the preseason games are still down from last year. The moderate owners are going to have re-assess their position."

He announced the executive committee would meet a week from today and the player representatives from the 26 teams would convene Tuesday, Aug. 27, the day before the cooling off truce expires. The union reserves the right to call members out on strike again if the stalemate continues.

The major obstacle appears to hinge on a union proposal that a system be set up for outside arbitration to decide general player-club disputes. Commissioner Pete Rozelle would retain his full authority to rule on issues affecting "the integrity of the game."

The players disclosed they have jettisoned their demand for elimination of the "Rozelle rule," which allows the commissioner to set compensation when a team signs a player who has played out his option and becomes a free agent. The union noted, however, it would continue to challenge the Rozelle rule both in the courts and in Congress.

Italian Club To State Tourney

The Italian Athletic Club of Corte Madera beat previously undefeated Fortuna, 4-3 on Saturday, and to prove it was no fluke beat them again yesterday, 5-1 to win the Joe DiMaggio League regional tournament at Novato High School.

Pitchers Ed Andersen and Mark Ruggles turned in back-to-back complete game performances as the Marin representative earned a berth in the state tournament beginning Wednesday in San Jose.

Shortstop Gary Latorre, the tourney's most valuable player, figured in the winning rallies of both games. He had six hits in three games, including a pair of triples in a 13-0 win over McKinleyville Friday.

In Saturday's other games, Fortuna defeated Sebastapol, 2-1 in 11 innings after Sebastapol trimmed McKinleyville, 12-2.

Latorre's second hit of the game scored Andersen with the winning run in the top of the final inning Saturday. It was the first loss for Fortuna after 22 wins this year.

The Italian Club broke open the final game with a five-hit, four-run rally in the bottom of the third. Four of the hits were singles, and Latorre doubled. Ruggles spun a four-hitter.

An unsung hero of the tournament was pitcher Dave Steele of San Rafael, who played for Sebastapol. He pitched a four-hitter against Fortuna in a losing cause Friday, then came back on Saturday to work the last five innings of the extra-inning game against them. He gave up just one hit, but lost in the 11th when he walked in the winning run.

"He just ran out of gas," tournament director Art Thompson said.

Italian Club faces San Francisco in the state tourney opener Wednesday at 2:30 at the PAL Sports Center in San Jose.

AMERICA'S CUP

Mariner Given Further Changes

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Mariner, whose stern sections below the water line were rebuilt last month, has undergone further alterations to improve its performance during the final America's Cup trials.

An inch was lopped off the trailing edge of her rudder and a strip measuring seven inches at its base was added to the leading edge of the rudder to make Mariner easier to handle.

The alterations, completed during an off-day in competition yesterday, underwent their first test when Mariner faced Intrepid today as trials resumed off Newport.

Courageous faced Valiant in the other race of the day.

Courageous' crew looked at three mainsails during a two-hour session and then returned to the dock, where a number of minor modifications on the yacht were made.

Intrepid stayed at the dock yesterday and workmen were busy installing new spreader clips — metal plates used for bolting the spreaders onto the mast.

While the yachts were undergoing changes, the New York Yacht Club Race committee, acting as a protest committee, was changing the standings in the battle to determine who will represent the United States in the America's Cup races next month.

The committee disqualified Courageous for an alleged right-of-way violation before the start of her race with Mariner last Friday.

The committee also disqualified Mariner for another right-of-way violation which occurred before the start of her race with Intrepid the same day.

The decisions left Intrepid and Mariner with official won-lost records of 3-1 for the final trials. Courageous is 2-2 and Valiant is 0-4.

The French yacht France and the Australian yacht Southern Cross also sailed yesterday for crew training and sail evaluation. Those two yachts will begin their best-of-seven series Thursday to decide which of them will challenge for the America's Cup.

RANDY GRADISHAR

Denver Rookie A Tired Hero

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Rookie Randy Gradishar admitted he was tired and barely managed to stumble into the end zone with an 82-yard pass interception return.

The interception and touchdown by the rookie linebacker came with 3:52 left in yesterday's game and pushed the Denver Broncos to a 10-3 preseason victory over the San Francisco 49ers.

"I'm not really fast, but I had lots of blocking," said Gradishar, a No. 1 draft choice from Ohio State. "A guy tripped me at the end and I just stumbled in."

Gradishar said he had dropped back into his position for a zone defense, cut in behind wide receiver Steve McElravy and the Tom Owen pass fell into his hands.

The 49ers netted 275 yards to the Broncos 181 and had 16 first downs to Denver's 11, but three key interceptions of Owen passes sealed San Francisco's fate.

San Francisco Coach Dick Nolan said he was pleased with the 49ers running game. He noted that Manfred Moore gained 41 yards in nine carries and rookie Roy Snell gained 50 yards in eight tries.

San Francisco scored in the second quarter on a 19-yard field goal by Bruce Gossett. That was matched in the third quarter when Bill Schumaker kicked a 45-yarder through the posts to tie the score 3-3.

The 49ers were driving for a tie-breaking score when Gradishar made the game-winning interception and touchdown for the Broncos.

NO PLAY — Al Kaline of Detroit slid safely across the plate while A's catcher Gene Tenace and umpire Marty Springstead watched a play at second base yesterday in the first inning at Oakland. The Tigers went on to win Saturday, 4-3.

Younger Players Threat To Vets

OAKLAND (UPI) — The players' strike may already have taken its toll among veterans on the Oakland Raiders.

The strike gave an unusually large crop of younger players a chance to perform in three winning exhibition games and now there is a strong possibility that as many as six to eight youngsters will make the final squad.

For years, the Raiders have relied on a system that keeps bringing in young talent and discarding older and marginal players. For instance, over the past two seasons the Raiders have kept 20 rookies.

The brightest star thus far in a 3-0 exhibition season, including a 42-10 rout of the Detroit Lions Friday night, is running back Harold Hart.

"Hart's chances of making the team are real good," said Coach John Madden. "There have been times when I thought we hadn't gained anything on a play and somehow Hart got us five yards."

Other rookies who have fared well to date include such high draft picks as Henry Lawrence, Dave Casper and Mark van Eeghen. The latter ran more than 60 yards for a score on a fake punt play against Detroit.

Chances are the four aforementioned rookies might have made the team anyway, but the strike of veteran players gave them more opportunities than usual to show their stuff.

Other rookies with good performances thus far include Blenda Gay, Nike Dennery and Chris Arnold. Arnold, a defensive back, returned an intercepted pass 51 yards for a score against Detroit.

Never Any Harmony On A's—Even When Winning

OAKLAND (UPI) — There never is any harmony on the Oakland A's, even when they win.

Yesterday they jumped Joe Coleman and Jim Ray for 12 hits in a 13-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers, but back in the clubhouse winning pitcher Ken Holtzman was sulking.

For a change, Holtzman's teammates had given him a little support, but that wasn't enough to change what was bothering him.

In the fifth inning, Holtzman stopped a liner off the bat of Johnny Wockenfuss on the back of his right leg. He recovered in time to make the putout and seemingly was all right. But in the top of the sixth, after the A's had given Holtzman a 4-1 edge, Angel Mangual dropped a fly ball in center with two out and the Oakland lefthander was taken out immediately by Manager Alvin Dark.

"I couldn't believe he was coming out to replace me," said Holtzman. "The only thing he said to me was 'nice pitching.'"

A little later, Holtzman found out he won't be pitching again until next Sunday. That really upset him.

"I know he's (Dark) trying to line up the pitching so that Vida (Blue) and the Cat (Jim Hunter) can pitch against Kansas City on Sept. 9," Holtzman said. "I don't blame him for that. He should have his two best pitchers ready for the challenging team, but you can't foresake the rest of the staff for that kind of an accomodation."

Dark's explanation of the "affair Holtzman" was:

"After Kenny was hit," said Dark, "he sat on the bench a long time while we were scoring two runs. In that situation, the longer he sat the tighter his leg would become where he got hit. I made up my mind he would not pitch more than one more inning no matter what.

"Sometimes when a pitcher gets hit in the leg like that, subconsciously he starts to favor an arm or a shoulder and then he could hurt himself real bad. I didn't want that to happen."

As for holding Holtzman out a week until his next start, Dark said he wants to give Ken a breather.

"Next Sunday he will start against the Red Sox in Boston," said Dark. "He never has pitched well against Boston and I want to see if a long rest makes a difference. My thinking has something to do with the fact we might be facing Boston in the playoffs."

As for yesterday's game, it was only 4-3 when the A's put the game away with nine unearned runs in the eighth off a tired Joe Coleman. Errors by the usually reliable Aurelio Rodriguez and Ed Brinkman set up the big inning and Reggie Jackson and Gene Tenace made it possible with matching three-run homers. Saturday, it was Reggie Jackson's Day at the Oakland Coliseum, but the Tigers edged te A's, 4-3.

AFTER CARDS SWEEP

Sagging Giants To Visit Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The sagging San Francisco Giants, who now have lost three straight games, hope to reverse the trend tonight in the first of three games here against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Giants' lost yesterday 4-1 to the division-leading St. Louis Cardinals, who now have won four straight. The Cards topped S.F. Saturday night, 5-3.

The competition won't be any easier for the Giants tonight, as the Pirates trail St. Louis by only 2½ games. In fact, the Giants have won only one of six encounters with the Pirates this season.

The Giants have had only one winning road trip this season, back in May. They need to sweep three from the Pirates to come out ahead this time, 7-5, before returning home on Friday.

Ed Halicki (16) or Jim Barr (10-6) will start on the mound tonight for San Francisco against the Pirates' Jim Rooker, 8-9.

In winning yesterday, the Cards received five-hit pitching from left-hander John Curtis, 7-11, and an unexpected bonus from Curtis' bat.

His team held a 2-0 lead when the 26-year-old Curtis delivered a two-run single in the sixth inning that helped topple the Giants' Tom Bradley, 7-11.

"Bradley struck me out with fast balls the first two times up," noted Curtis, who had fanned 23 of 44 previous times at bat.

"I think he sort of semi-piped one," added Curtis, whose hit scored Bake McBride and Tim McCarver. "All I was looking for was the fast ball. You like to be able to help yourself out."

The Giants scored their only run in the eighth on a sacrifice fly by Tito Fuentes.

WILLIAM L. SCOTT

Racial Bias Alleged In D.C. Hiring

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department says it lacks the authority to investigate allegations that the offices of 19 congressmen and Sen. William L. Scott, R-Va., practiced racial and religious discrimination against job applicants.

In a copyrighted story published yesterday by The Fort Worth (Tex.) Star-Telegram, it was alleged that job orders sent from the lawmakers' offices to the Congressional Placement Office contained such demands as "no minorities," "white only," "no blacks" and "no Catholics."

Several of the lawmakers issued strong denials of the story.

Scott, a first-term senator who resides in Virginia's populous Washington suburbs, said his staff was all white, but denied discriminating against minorities.

"In our office we do not have any colored people. Our entire staff is white," Scott said. "But we'd be pleased to consider and have considered people of minority races. We want to get the best possible people. At no time have I suggested to any member of my staff or the personnel office that we didn't want to consider members of minority races."

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., whose office was also named in the story, said in Portland, Ore., that he was considering a lawsuit against the newspaper.

"It's absolutely irresponsible news reporting," Ullman said. "I have a totally open policy on hiring and my staff knows it."

Republican's Wife Blasts Rockefeller

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Bettie Duryea, wife of the speaker of the New York assembly, says Nelson Rockefeller, reportedly high on President Ford's list of possible vice presidential appointees, is not fit to be dogcatcher.

She made the remark in telegrams to Ford and Senate and House leaders. Her husband, Perry B. Duryea, a Republican, won't reveal how he feels about the former New York governor, but said his wife had the right to speak her mind.

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Today is Monday, August 19th, the 231st day of 1974 with 134 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

American elder statesman Bernard Baruch was born August 19th, 1870.

Also on this day in history:

In 1915, two Americans were killed when a German U-boat torpedoed the British liner "Arabic" in the Atlantic Ocean.

In 1955, the worst flood to hit the northeastern states killed 200 persons and destroyed or damaged 20 thousand homes.

In 1960, U-2 spy plane pilot Francis Gary Powers was convicted in a Moscow court and sentenced to 10 years in prison. He was released 18 months later and exchanged for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

In 1966, a 44-day U-S airline strike ended after having cost one and one-half billion dollars.

A thought for the day: American statesman Bernard Baruch said: "America has never forgotten. . . and will never forget. . . the nobler things that brought her into being and that light her path."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When This Hand Ends You'll Be Triumphant Or Crestfallen

You might get this very sort of hand the next time you sit down to play bridge. Stranger things have happened. If so, when the hand comes to an end, will you be triumphant or crestfallen?

Opening lead – ♡ Q

You win the first trick with the ace of hearts and notice that you will probably need the spade finesse to take nine tricks. First, however, you plan to run six club tricks to put the opponents under pressure.

You therefore lead a club to dummy's queen, and East discards the seven of spades. "No clubs?" you ask him. Whereupon both opponents smirk at you.

The vital question now is: Which club did you lead? If you led the four of clubs at the second trick, you will look down at the table and complain about bad breaks.

But suppose you were clever enough to have led the eight of clubs to dummy's queen. You finesse with the queen of spades, holding your breath, and find that it wins the trick. So far, so good.

Next you lead the ten of clubs. West must cover with the jack, and you win with dummy's king. Back with the ace of spades and now you lead the four of clubs. West plays low and you win in dummy with the seven of clubs. Finally, you can lead out the ace of clubs, and the rest is easy.

You are not so happy if your first club was the four to dummy's queen. West will later cover the ten of clubs with the jack but he will not cover the eight of clubs. You will have to win the third club trick in your own hand, therefore, and the rest of the suit will not come in.

You open with one spade, and partner bids two clubs. You then bid two notrump, and partner bids three clubs.

Opponents pass, and it is up to you again, holding:

♠ - A Q 6 5 2
♥ - A 9
♦ - K 5 4
♣ - 10 8 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Partner shows a good club suit but a bad hand, such as six clubs to K-Q-J and nothing else. Get out while the getting is good.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Good Investments For Retirement

and
DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. I plan to retire at 60, two years from now. I own: BankAmerica (OTC), Eastman Kodak (NYSE), International Business Machines (NYSE), Charles Pfizer (NYSE), Affiliated Fund and Price Growth Fund. What action should I take now or at retirement to realize the greatest return? I also have $20,000 in savings and $9,000 in E bonds. R.C.

A. Your two mutual funds are high-quality growth funds which should certainly be held until your retirement. Affiliated's portfolio is 60 per cent invested in oil and oil service companies, chemicals and steels — all of which were top earnings performers in the first half of 1974. At retirement you could exchange Affiliated for Lord Abbett Bond-Debenture Fund (yielding 9 per cent currently) in order to maximize your income. While Price Growth has been less successful in outperforming the averages recently, its long-term record remains excellent. Portfolio holdings should rebound at least as well as the market in any recovery move. At retirement exchange for Price New Income Fund now yielding an indicated rate of 8 per cent.

When your E bonds mature, this money could be used to buy marketable Treasury Bonds. The most recently offered bonds, maturing May 1999, carry an 8½ per cent coupon rate. As to your common stock portfolio BankAmerica recently boosted its dividend rate to $1.48 annually, for a current yield of 5 per cent. The 16.6 per cent increase in net operating earnings reported for the first half of 1974 was well in excess of the company's compound annual average rate of 10 per cent. Now trading at eight times estimated 1974 net, shares are rated a buy for long term. Despite a 3 per cent drop in Eastman's six-month earnings, full-year earnings should at least equal the $4.05 reported for 1973. Again, this issue is an attractive long-range buy. IBM is a strong buy recommendation at the current level, which is within touching distance of its four-year low price, despite record earnings estimated for the year. Pfizer shares are also rated as a buy for long-term appreciation.

Benefit Begun By Restaurant

Local McDonald's restaurants, hoping to top last year's donation of $7883 to the Muscular Dystrophy Association, have embarked on the second annual Cookiethon. During the nine-day drive ending Sunday, McDonald's is donating the total net proceeds from McDonaldland Cookie sales to support important research and patient care.

With the addition of two extra days to this year's fund drive, local McDonald's operators and managers are optimistic about the possibility of raising $10,000.

Stocks Fall As Cyprus Fears Rise

NEW YORK (UPI) — The slaying of the U.S. Ambassador to Cyprus sent stock prices tumbling today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was light.

Several hours before the market opened, a Greek Cypriot mob attacked the U.S. Embassy in Nicosia, killing U.S. Ambassador Roger Davies. The attack unsettled an already jittery market, which lost a total of 45.76 points last week.

The shooting of the Ambassador raised investors' fears that the tension on the island may spread. In recent days Greece has been torn by anti-American demonstrations, and the Greek government apparently is concerned the demonstrators will turn their violence to the new regime.

Among blue chip stocks, General Motors fell ⅜. The nation's biggest automaker said it would not roll back a planned 10 per cent increase on its 1975 models despite pressure from the Ford administration.

Also in the blue chip sector, Exxon lost 2 ⅛ and Eastman Kodak 1 ⅝. International Paper dropped 1 on news it was sweetening its bid for control of General Crude Oil Co.

On the American Exchange, stocks fell in light trading.
